Ford, Silent About NRA, Calls Council Of Advisers

Pressed by Roosevelt and Johnson, He Ends Vacation.

Thought Unafraid Of Boycott Threat

Vehement Opposition to Blue Eagle Rumored Voiced to Friends.

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press.)

Marquette, Mich., Aug. 31.—Pressed by the drive of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson and President Roosevelt to bring him under the NRA Blue Eagle, Henry Ford today forsook his vacation at the exclusive Huron Mountain Club near here and summoned the Ford executives to councils.

To all those able to see him personally Ford had the same response: "I have nothing to say. There is nothing to say."

But in privacy of intimate talks with friends he was reported to be vehement in his opposition to the NRA movement, to have announced that he planned to refuse to join the movement and to have stated "he feared no boycott."

Nothing to Say.

He left his camp quietly this morning to drive here. Walking into the lobby of a hotel, he stepped into a public long-distance telephone booth and placed a call for Edsel Ford at Bar Harbor, Me.

Afterward a United Press correspondent introduced himself and queried:

"Mr. Ford, will you grant a ten-minute interview——"

"There is nothing to say," Ford broke in, adding emphasis with a head gesture.

Eludes Questioner.

Yesterday Ford was confronted by a reporter who drove over a short cut to intercept him when he would come out of a building where he had gone to place a long-distance telephone call. Down the road came the Ford auto, but without Mr. Ford. Suddenly from tall grass near the reporter's car he sprang up.

"Nothing to say," he called over his shoulder as he half ran to the car, jumped in and was whisked away.

Out at his spacious cabin in the grounds of the Huron Club he finds solitude. Here he rests, this year taking occasional short walks around the grounds.

Daily, drivers bring from Detroit the latest of the 1934 Ford experimental autos for his critical examination. He is rumored to be planning to market a car for $350.

He scorns the privacy of the club on many occasions, and residents frequently see him walking briskly about the streets. Often he chats with those he knows well.

3,000 Men Return to Jobs.

Detroit, Aug. 31 (AP).—The return of between 3,000 and 4,000 men to their jobs in the Ford Motor Co. factories was announced today in a communication sent by Ford officials to Ford welfare officials.

Employes will return, the announcement said, on the basis of a 40-hour week. The daily rate was fixed several months ago at $4.

The last report of the number employed by the Ford factories in River Rouge gave the total as 42,000 on August 20.

Ban on Ford Products.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 31 (AP).—Emmett Hunt, State purchasing agent, said today that he would not buy any Ford products "until Henry Ford gets under the NRA."

While declaring that eventually bids on any purchases would be considered from NRA dealers only, Mr. Hunt said "we've had the Ford situation brought to our attention very forcibly since he's the only one holding back."

Schall Will Defend Ford.

(Associated Press.)

Offering his services to Henry Ford, Senator Schall (Republican), Minnesota, said in a formal statement last night he would defend the manufacturer.

Schall said, "If Mr. Ford pays as high wages and works his employes shorter hours than decreed by the NRA there is no reason why he should sign its code if it is his desire not to do so.

"If this administration resorts to mob law or boycott to force him to do so I shall defend him with all my strength and ability and suggest those persons who prescribe such measures against him be treated as ordinary hoodlums or racketeers."

Detroit Hoists NRA Flag.

Detroit, Aug. 31 (AP).—Announcement that 29,133 Detroit firms employing 250,210 workers have signed recovery codes or agreements tonight lent substance to Detroit's NRA celebration when an NRA banner was raised over the City Hall.

A parade of 10,000 men and women described as the "march of the employed," marched down the main street.

Toy Brings Death to Child

WALTER MITCHELL BEALL,
17-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Beall, died yesterday at Emergency Hospital as the result of a fall from his tricycle.

Boy's Happy Play On Cherished Toy Turns Into Death

A cherished toy brought death yesterday to Walter Beall, 17 months old.

Two weeks ago, Walter was riding his tricycle. He shouted gleefully to companions. Walter was having a merry time.

But something suddenly happened. The tricycle overturned. Walter fell. The handlebar pierced his mouth. His mother, Mrs. Alma Beall, took him to Emergency Hospital.

The injury treated, Walter smiled. Apparently the wound was not serious. Several days ago infection developed. The disease spread. Yesterday it took Walter's life.

Today the tricycle stands unmolested. Its master is gone. The funeral is Saturday, with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Walter's father, Walter E. Beall, a former major league pitcher, played with the Nationals for a few months in 1929. The Bealls live at 1350 G street southeast.

Viscount Grey Nearing Death

Little Hope Held Out for British Statesman and Pacifist.

London, Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Viscount Grey, of Fallodon, critically ill, was feared sinking tonight and little hope was held for his recovery. He is 71.

He had a noteworthy career in the government prior to retirement 10 years ago, and was foreign secretary when England declared war in 1914. He was a peace advocate and pacifist leader.

Kidnap Attempt Fails; Dallas Lawyer Jailed

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 31 (U.P.).—V. H. Small, 27, former Dallas (Tex.) attorney, was arrested here last night on a charge of robbery and kidnaping after an alleged bungled attempt to abduct R. E. Riley, an oil company employe.

Riley told authorities he escaped from an automobile, overpowered Small and held him until police arrived.

Mother, 3 Children Burned to Death

Lafollette, Tenn., Aug. 31 (AP).—The charred bodies of Mrs. Pearl Johnson and her three children were found today in their bedroom, after flames swept their home.

Lying beside the 27-year-old mother were the bodies of Louise, 10; Paul, 5, and Lois, a year and a half old.

The husband and father, Lloyd Johnson, a filling station operator, said he escaped from the burning home through a window.

15 Women, Children Lose Lives in Flood

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Six women and nine children were swept to their deaths by flood waters of the San Alejo River near the village of Paso Del Macho, according to reports. The women were washing clothing along the river banks.

4 Men Killed, 10 Injured As Oil Tanker Explodes

Buenos Aires, Aug. 31 (AP).—A report to the ministry of marine today said four men were killed and ten injured by an explosion in the hold of the government oil tanker Santa Cruz, anchored at Comodoro Rivadavia, port of the Patagonian oil field.

Gas Price Rise Of Cent Likely Under Oil Code

Production Control Plan Hoped for Tomorrow by U. S. Board.

(Associated Press.)

With their objective a fixed price that will assure at least $1 a barrel for crude petroleum, the oil industry board of directors yesterday began its search for a solution to price and production control.

The planning and coordinating committee, meeting with Secretary Ickes, oil administrator, moved to have a plan ready for tomorow, when the NRA trade code takes effect.

Before them were the topics of how far the Government should go in fixing prices, and the allocation of production to meet the National demand so that uncertainty resulting from unchecked flow of crude to market could be ended.

A base price of between 5 and 6 cents a gallon for gasoline at wholesale at the refinery, against which the cost of a barrel of crude oil would be pegged under the code's price section, was said reliably to be in prospect under present administration plans.

The present price of gasoline at refinery, that would form the base, runs around 4½ cents, indicating that setting the base proposed might cause retail gasoline prices to be advanced to a cent or a cent and a half to help meet increased costs of supplies to distributors.

Under the code, a barrel of crude oil of a set quality (36-36.9 midcontinent gravity) shall sell at 18.5 times the price of a gallon of gasoline of fixed quality (60-64 octane rating), with President Roosevelt authorized to fix the base price of the gasoline for a test period.

Davis Will Combat Arms Propaganda

President's Envoy Hears Powerful Forces Are Now at Work.

S. S. Washington, at Sea, Aug. 31 (AP).—Norman H. Davis, American Ambassador-at-large, and his staff have determined to start a fight in earnest against reputed powerful and well-organized forces furthering armament propaganda, a member of the party said today.

Mr. Davis sailed yesterday from New York to return to Europe and a resumption of the World Disarmament Congress at Geneva in September.

The ambassador and his party were guests this afternoon of Capt. Fried at sea.

Cudahy Due to Arrive At Poland Post Today

Gdynia, Poland, Aug. 31 (AP).—John Cudahy, new American Ambassador to Poland, arrived here today en route to Warsaw, where he will be received officially tomorrow.

On debarking from the Kosciuszko he was greeted by Charge d'Affaires Crosby and a group of children who sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" and gave him a bouquet.

Welles to Get Highest Cuban Order of Merit

Havana, Aug. 31 (AP).—Sumner Welles, U. S. Ambassador to Cuba, will be decorated with the great cross of the national order of merit of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, the highest distinction the Cuban government can confer, President de Cespedes announced today.

The decoration is named for the first revolutionary president of Cuba, father of the present chief executive.

Yacht Cruise Here Started By President

Will Come Down Coast in Vincent Astor's Nourmahal.

Gen. Johnson Tells Him Coal Code Nearly Ready to Sign.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 31.—President Roosevelt left Poughkeepsie today aboard Vincent Astor's yacht Nourmahal for a leisurely return to Washington. He plans to arrive late Monday night and return to his White House desk Tuesday morning.

The cruise down the Hudson, south along the Atlantic coast line and up Chesapeake Bay will mark the last phase of the President's summer vacation, save for a brief excursion to Hyde Park late in September.

After a telephone conversation with Gen. Hugh S. Johnson this morning, the President expressed elation over the apparent progress in the coal code negotiations. He told newspapermen that he had every expectation this troublesome code would be at the top of the pile of business awaiting his attention next week. Gen. Johnson assured him the pact would be ready for his signature Tuesday.

Intimate Friends Aboard.

The President and his fellow voyagers motored to Poughkeepsie to board the Nourmahal, as there is no wharf at Hyde Park. From the mast of the 265-foot yacht the President's flag flew for the first time. The yachting party was made up entirely of intimate friends of the President. Beside Mr. Astor there were Chief Justice Frederic Kernochan, of the New York Special Sessions; Dr. Leslie Heiter, of Mobile, Ala.; George St. George, of Tuxedo, N. Y.; Lyttle Hull, W. R. Stewart and Kermit Roosevelt, son of the late Theodore Roosevelt.

The yacht was convoyed down the Hudson by the naval destroyer Manley, which maintained constant wireless communication with Washington. At New York City, the Manley was to be joined by the destroyer Twig. White House Secretary Stephen T. Early and Capt. Walter Vernou, the President's naval aid, were aboard the Manley.

Mother Bids Bon Voyage.

At the wharf to see the party off were Mrs. James Roosevelt, the President's mother; Mrs. Anna Dall, his daughter, and his two grandchildren, "Sistie" and "Buzzie" Dall.

Prof. Raymond Moley also was at the wharf to tell the President that his new magazine would begin publication early in October. He said it will be called "Today."

Medal Awaits Hitter of Long

Contributions Pouring in to Honor "Kingfish's" Eye-Blacker.

New York, Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Work was started today on the designing of a gold medal, to be paid for by popular subscription and to be presented to the unidentified person who, early Sunday morning, blackened the eye of Senator Huey P. Long at a fashionable Long Island club.

Owen P. White, associate editor of a national magazine, announced that a project he started as a joke, asking that money be sent to raise a fund for the "unknown hero," had been taken seriously by several hundred persons. Contributions, he said, were rolling in and the fund, up to tonight, amounted to several hundred dollars.

The principal task, according to White, will be that of finding and identifying Long's assailant.

Break With General Johnson Over Labor Problems Bared As Cates, Chief Aid, Resigns

15,000 Strike, 2 Die, 18 Hurt At Hose Mills

Guns Mark Philadelphia Walkout; Many Quit Throughout U. S.

Hosiery and silk workers in many parts of the country last night were walking out in response to a general strike call.

At Philadelphia, the Associated Press reported, guns that killed two strike demonstrators became the signal for a city-wide walkout of hosiery workers. Leaders claimed 15,000 were out. Strikers were leaving looms in Paterson, N. J.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Stroudsburg, Pa., and other places.

40,000 Expected to Quit.

Labor leaders expect 40,000 workers in the North to be out by Labor Day. Picket lines, temporarily broken in Philadelphia, were being stretched around the Nation's silk and hosiery plants with intention of stopping every loom.

Eighteen were in Philadelphia hospitals following the riot at the Cambria Hosiery Mill, where two were killed, after a truck carrying workers into the plant was upset. State police guarded Red Hill mills, and 50 Reading workers walked out.

At Paterson unions claimed 90 per cent of the 7,000 silk workers left their looms, and predicted not a plant would operate today. "Family shops" were picketed. Efforts of the National Labor Advisory Board to end the trouble were rejected.

Two thousand Milwaukee workers were ordered to join the strike. The walkout was the first Milwaukee labor trouble since the NRA program opened.

At Stroudsburg 500 employes quit at the broad silk mills. With the exception of Philadelphia, no violent disorders were reported.

12,000 Drop Strike.

One strike of 12,000 workers, called by the Full-Fashioned Hosiery Manufacturers and the American Federation of Full-Fashioned Hosiery Workers, was reported called off last night through efforts of the National Labor Board.

It was added, however, that if no compromise could be worked out in Philadelphia, the Labor Board, under Senator Wagner, would go there.

Mrs. Dickson Gets Second Divorce

Las Vegas, Nev., Aug. 31 (AP).—Mrs. Ruth Dickson, Washington, today was divorced from Cecil B. Dickson, whom she married at Rockville, Md., July 17, 1931, after receiving a divorce here from Lester J. Maitland, United States Army flier, in April, 1930.

Mrs. Dickson is the stepdaughter of Dr. William A. White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital. Her marriage to Maitland here in 1922 was an outstanding society event. Her second husband once was a Washington Associated Press staff member.

Parents to Appeal Spy Charge Sentence of Son

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—The parents of Corpl. Ralph Osman, who was convicted in the Canal Zone of violating the espionage act, said they would seek financial aid in appealing the punishment of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Osman, of Brooklyn, said they were unable to raise the funds for the fine, but would seek aid for for a review.

NRA Chief and Assistant Who Quit

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of the NRA, yesterday announced the resignation of Dudley Cates, assistant administrator for industry. Johnson, shown above at the left, declared "differences of opinion" were responsible for the deputy's resignation. Cates is shown on the right.

Detroit Bank 'Double-Cross' Charge Denied

Banker Refutes Couzens' Assertion He Halted New Institutions.

Detroit, Aug. 31 (AP).—Wilson W. Mills, former head of the Nation's largest closed bank, went before the one-man grand jury investigating bank closings here today to issue categorical denial of charges by United States Senator James Couzens (Republican), Michigan, that he had "double-crossed" local bankers, and had prevented Henry Ford from establishing two new banks here.

Mills, who appeared before the jury investigating closing of the First National Bank-Detroit, of which he was chairman, and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, said "practically all of Senator Couzens' testimony was hearsay."

He contradicted Couzens' charges that although he had been instructed to request a $20,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan to bring the two Ford banks into being, he had told Charles A. Miller, former R. F. C. president, that he hoped such a loan would not be granted.

Mills denied he was promised the presidency of a large bank which other witnesses testified was to have been established here by New York interests after the Michigan banking holiday, February 14.

Senator Couzens said he believed Mills was "taken up on a high hill" by George P. Davison, chairman of the board of the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co., and promised such a position.

Tropical Gale Nears Florida

Weather Bureau Prepares for "Quick Action;" Bahamas Ready.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 31 (AP).—Approach of a swirling tropical storm from the Bahama Islands caused Government meteorologists to prepare for "quick action" tonight in case conditions should require hoisting hurricane warnings for extreme southern Florida.

Late today, the weather bureau said, "Present indications are shifting gales may be expected very late tonight or Friday morning over extreme southern Florida south of latitude of Miami." Storm warnings flew from Jacksonville to Key West.

The disturbance continued to move in a west-northwestward course across the Bahamas, attended by gales over a restricted area.

Richard W. Gray, Miami meteorologist, was advised that Rum Cay, 375 miles east-southeast of Miami, encountered a 60-mile wind from the east at 2 p. m.

Storm Warning Sounded.

(Associated Press.)

The Weather Bureau last night issued the following storm warning:

Advisory, 9 p. m.—Storm warnings down West Palm Beach to Jacksonville. Tropical disturbance of considerable intensity central about 240 miles southeast of Miami moving between west-northwest and west by north, will cause northeast gales Friday forenoon on the Florida keys south of Miami and strong northeast winds in the region of Miami. Caution is advised among the Florida keys and in the Florida straits during the next 24 hours.

Distress Signal Heard From Japanese Steamer

San Francisco, Aug. 31 (AP).—Distress signals from a Japanese coastwise steamer, the Diaboshi Maru, were reported by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce Marine Department early today but no further word was received.

Sleep Malady Toll Now 53

Health Body Encouraged by Decrease in Cases Now Prevalent.

St. Louis, Aug. 31 (AP).—The "sleeping sickness" epidemic started afresh today by adding six victims to the death list.

Of the 53 deaths attributed to the disease, 34 were in St. Louis County and 19 in the City of St. Louis.

Health officers found encouragement in the lessening of the number of cases reported today. Forty-one cases were reported yesterday, only 24 today.

The death of a child of encephalitis was reported at Litchfield, Ill.

Among the patients in St. Louis was Oscar Bradley, New York musician and musical director of the Municipal Opera here. He was stricken while leading the orchestra Sunday. He has been in a semi-coma since.

Second Pittsburgh Death.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 31 (AP).—Sleeping sickness claimed its second victim within a week today with the death of Margie Johnston, 12, of suburban Aliquippa.

Dog, With Leg Broken, Saves Family in Fire

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP).—Limping to his master's bed, an 11-week-old setter puppy today gave the alarm which saved four persons from a fire which was sweeping their home.

The dog, its leg broken in a fall downstairs, crawled to the bedside of John Haushammer and awakened him by barking and tugging at the bedclothes. Haushammer noticed smoke in the room and aided his wife and her aged parents to the street. The dog, overcome by the smoke, was saved by firemen.

4 Persons Killed In Truck Collision

Ernest, Pa., Huckster and 3 Boys, Hitchhiking Ride, Victims.

Ernest, Pa., Aug. 31 (AP).—A gasoline truck crashed into a huckster's truck today, killing four persons, including three boys "hitching."

The dead: David Galentine, 47, huckster, of Home Station; Fred Barbi, Constantino Mari and Charles Moody, all about 8 years of age.

Horace Miller, 24, of Home Station, driver of the huckster's truck, was injured slightly.

Seven Climbers Killed In Italian Mountains

Trento, Italy, Aug. 31 (AP).—Seven mountain climbers were killed yesterday and Tuesday in the Italian Dolomites, according to reports here.

Five were Germans, one of them a woman, one was a Czech and the other an Italian priest.

Five Prisoners Escape; Dig Tunnel in Wall

Dixon, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP)—Digging through a foot of masonry with pieces of metal torn from an unused sink, five persons escaped today from the Lee County Jail. Five other prisoners in the jail refused to join them.

Full Reorganization of NRA Drive Direction Held Impending.

Assistant Warns Of National Crisis

Sees Danger if Issue of Unionism Comes to Decision Now.

Thorough reorganization of the National Industrial Recovery Administration was forecast last night by announcement of the resignation of Dudley S. Cates as assistant recovery administrator for industry.

His resignation means that Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, definitely has broken with important industrialists over the question of recognition of labor and labor unions.

Cates was formerly vice president of Marsh & McLennan, a Chicago insurance firm, and prior to that engaged in banking in San Francisco. During the war he was secretary of the capital issues committee in Washington.

Friends of Mr. Cates said he resigned because of labor policies adopted by Gen. Johnson. Friends of Gen. Johnson said the differences extended further.

Johnson Policy Remains.

Whatever the results of the resignation, Gen. Johnson said he would not change any policy nor attempt to find a new interpretation of the labor provisions to pacify industrialists and financiers who have been displeased by the administration's interpretation and application of the law.

Gen. Johnson issued an announcement of Mr. Cates' resignation in which he paid Mr. Cates high compliment, but avoided revealing the dispute. That was disclosed by a memorandum from Mr. Cates to Gen. Johnson.

To force decision on the question of open shop and unionization at this time would precipitate a national crisis, Mr. Cates said in his memorandum, written when Gen. Johnson was battling with labor representatives over the meaning of the collective bargaining provision.

Johnson's Statement.

In his statement Gen. Johnson said:

"Dudley Cates has resigned. He came here at my urgent request without compensation and at great personal expense, loss and sacrifice. He has been my good friend and intimate for many years and through many difficulties and he has always been, and he is now, honest and loyal. He has one of the keenest minds of my acquaintance and I expected him to be of the greatest value in this work.

"Unfortunately, differences of opinion on policy and interpretation of the law arose early in this administration. We both have done everything we could to reconcile this difference. Over a month ago he expressed a wish to leave and has remained only at my solicitation and in the hope that we could find a way to use his great talents

Missing Airplane Reported Found

Mexican Mail Ship's Three Passengers and Pilot Brought Ashore.

Mexico City, Aug. 31 (AP).—The air mail and passenger plane piloted by Mack R. Ayres, missing in the Bay of California since Tuesday, was found yesterday by Charles L. Bucher, pilot for the Central American Airways, said a report reaching the company this afternoon.

Bucher reported that the plane was located off the mouth of the Culiatan River, near Altatà, in the State of Sinaloa.

The pilot and the three passengers were safe and were brought ashore.

Nine Saved From Lake; Deserted Burning Boat

Chicago, Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Five women, two men, and two Boy Scouts were rescued from Lake Michigan tonight after the speedboat in which they were riding caught fire a mile off shore and they were forced to jump into the water.

Coast guards effected the rescue.

Salt Trail May Lure Deer, Trapped Six Days, to Safety

Indian Frightens Animal, Almost Causing Death Instead of Rescue.

Watkins Glen, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP).—Efforts to entice a seven-point buck deer across a rustic bridge from its prison ledge in a State park gorge were renewed tonight after a Mohawk Indian chief, versed in animal lore, failed in a rescue attempt.

Hemlock boughs and moss were spread over the bridge as a camouflage in the hope the frightened buck would leave the ledge, where it has been trapped six days. A trail of salt then was sprinkled along the moss.

Chief So-Lat-Dowanee was lowered by a rope from the edge of a 200-foot precipice to the ledge, 50 feet below. He carried a lariat and planned to lasso the buck.

The excited animal bounded along its narrow confines when it saw the Indian.

Park officials, noticing the animal's alarm, told Chief So-Lat-Dowanee to give up his attempt.

Herbert Blanche, park superintendent, said the Finger Lakes State Park Commission has no intention of closing the park to visitors.

John Gibbs, beauty conservation park commissioner, said he believes crowds should be kept out, or at least from the section where the bridge is, since there appeared "little hope of quieting the deer and rescuing him while tourists are watching."

Lindberghs Visit King of Denmark

Populace in Grandfather's Home Town Excited by Nearness.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were received by King Christian today.

The fliers later motored to Sweden to luncheon with Crown Prince Gustav Adolf and the Crown Princess at their summer castle at Sofiero.

The populace of Smersbo, where Lindbergh's grandfather lived, was excited when it learned the fliers were lunching at Sofiero.

Holders of Gold Get Extension To File Return

Treasury Regulations Give Until Sept. 18 to Fill Out Certificates.

(Associated Press.)

Regulations issued last night by the Treasury extended from September 12 to September 18 the time in which gold holders may file certificates showing their holdings, as required by President Roosevelt's executive order Tuesday.

The regulations specified that the printed forms to be filled out "shall constitute a public record, but shall be open to public inspection only upon order of the President."

Regulations under the President's order freeing newly mined gold will be issued later.

The forms will be ready to distribute early next week. The regulations specify that the form be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the tax district in which the gold holder resides.

The forms may be obtained from the Secretary of the Treasury, the Federal Reserve Banks or any collector of internal revenue.

"Returns shall contain true and complete information relative to all gold coin, gold bullion and gold certificates owned by, and all gold coin, gold bullion and gold certificates in the possession of the persons making and filing the return or on whose behalf the return is made and filed, including all information called for in such form of return," the regulations said.

"Returns shall be executed and filed in triplicate with the Collector of Internal Revenue. A return shall be deemed to have been filed which is received by the proper Collector of Internal Revenue and which was mailed properly addressed and carries a postmark dated prior to midnight of September 18, 1933."

Johnson and Chief Aid Split on Labor

in some position which would not raise controverted questions of policy.

"This has not proved feasible and Mr. Cates has taken the honorable, straightforward and characteristic path. It is the first time in a long executive career that I have ever lost an assistant or any coworker under my direction, but this is unavoidable and, in the circumstances, the only honorable and courageous solution of the problem."

Cates' Memorandum.

The Cates memorandum to Gen. Johnson follows:

"Note on labor policy.

"N. I. R. A. is intended to establish foundations for mutually satisfactory relations between employers and employes, in the public interest through 'collective bargaining.'

"But the only existing mechanism for collective bargaining (with few exceptions) are the trades unions, comprised in the American Federation of Labor and the so-called company unions, which exist in a variety of forms. Under Section 7 of the act, the company union appears to be doomed.

"Any effort to harmonize existing attitudes of open shop employers on the one hand and federation leaders on the other on the conventional doctrine of unionization is futile. To force the issue would precipitate a national crisis.

"Abuses arising from the misuse of power and privilege on both sides are prevalent throughout the industry. In this situation, it is unthinkable for the Government to support either side, although a definite stand is called for to prevent widespread disorder and to effectuate that part of the policy of the act which reads: 'To induce and to maintain united action of labor and management under adequate Government sanctions and supervision.'

"With Government committed under NIRA to the policy of requiring payment of living wages by industry as a condition of continued existence, the field of negotiation between groups of employers and groups of employes is substantially narrowed. The conventional types of trades union and employers' association, both essentially provocative, are inconsistent with the spirit of the act.

"The underlying purpose of the NIRA is to create a balanced economy in the United States, which must necessarily consist of a proper balance in each trade or industry between the economic rights of capital properly invested, the social rights of labor productively employed, and the rights of the consuming public to protection against monopoly prices. The industry, therefore, should be the unit in establishing the field of collective bargaining, or 'united action of labor and management under adequate Government sanction and supervision,' the sanction being the approval of a code of fair competition, embodying labor agreements for the whole industry.

"This means a vertical union in each industry, free of domination or control either by employers or outside labor leaders. Such unions would consist of organization by classes or class within the industry to establish and to maintain fair differentials agreed to among the employes themselves, with local branches in each unit of the industry conforming to the standards established for the industry as a whole. Such local branches should properly have representation of their own selection on boards of directors or management committees of each establishment.

"Objections to this plan and obstacles to its adoption will be put forward by the reactionaries on both sides of the present labor question."

Pay Roll Reduction Looms.

Of special interest in Washington was a statement by Gen. Johnson that from now on the number of persons on the pay rolls of the NRA would be reduced. The general has a general and rather detailed reorganization in mind, his friends said.

Work went forward yesterday on the codes for both the bituminous coal operators and the retailers.

President Roosevelt left Poughkeepsie, N. Y., yesterday on the Vincent Astor yacht Nourmahal for a cruise at sea before returning to the White House. Prof. Raymond Moley, resigned Assistant Secretary of State (left), bid him farewell as the yacht sailed. With the President was Mr. Astor (right). "Sistie" and "Buzzie" Dall, grandchildren of the President, went down to the boat to see "Granddaddy" off.

Long's Conduct In Fist Battle Is Seen as Silly

Senator Should Admit He Was Bested in Tilt, Says Pegler.

By Westbrook Pegler.

New York, Aug. 31 (Spl.).—It is now being said Huey Long never lost a footrace and never won a fight, and I am beginning to think that after the boys have softened him up a little more there will be one bloke that I might be able to lick. This is a pretty hard thing to say about any man who fancies himself for a fist fighter, because I learned long ago that I couldn't fight.

I have spent many an evening glaring at more or less expert fist fighters in the ring and, knowing that these boys had something on me there, I found it a comfort to reflect that they can not play the typewriter as well as I can.

You may say that one can not inflict as much hurt playing a typewriter as a good puncher can with a furious volley of lefts and rights to the head and body, but I don't know about that. After the person, or, as he insists, the persons, unknown, got through hanging a shiner on Mr. Long's left eye, the typewriters went to work on him and it is quite possible that when the typewriters have finished with the episode he will have been more damaged in the newspapers than he was hurt in the club, where, apparently, he overspoke himself and found that his parliamentary immunity was a broken arm.

I have often been told that Mr. Long is very smart, whatever else may be said of him, but he has conducted himself foolishly in this case. If he did have an argument with a man and the man hit him, no harm could have come of his admitting to the convention of veterans, in Milwaukee, that he had taken a punching-around. Everybody has been punched around more or less at some stage of his career.

He could have made a better and more honest impression on the veterans and the citizens in general if he had said, "Well, I never could fight my way out of a cloud of smoke, and when I got into this argument one word led to another and he hauled off and popped me one."

I guess I must still have a little of the brute-man in me, for my ego still desires to say that there is some one I can lick. And I am coming to the point, or Senator Long is coming to the point where he is likely to be it.

Gen. Johnson's Mother Guest at Victory Feast

Oklahoma City, Aug. 31 (AP).—Mrs. S. L. Johnson, mother of Gen, Hugh S. Johnson, NRA chieftain, will be guest of honor here tomorrow at a "victory" dinner following the NRA consumers' agreement drive.

Mrs. Johnson said she would bring with her the original "Blue Eagle" flag, presented first to Gen. Johnson and given by him to her. Her home is in Okmulgee.

Flood Control Status Asked.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 31 (AP).—Mayor John S. Herron tonight telegraphed Washington authorities requesting immediate information of the status of the $51,000,000 flood control program for the upper Ohio River and its tributaries.

Operators and Miners Study Wage Problem

(Associated Press.)

Appalachian bituminous coal operators and heads of the United Mine Workers of America yesterday studied technical problems surrounding drafting of labor contracts.

Correlation of the base rate of $4.60 a day to the complicated wage scale, and adaption of that scale to operations having different mining conditions occupied a committee of four operators and four miners through most of the day. The Recovery Administration was understood virtually to have completed the "master" code for the entire industry.

Long's Ouster Aim of Women

Leadership of "Kingfish" in State Challenged by New Group.

New Orleans, Aug. 31 (AP).—Senator Huey P. Long tonight learned of a new challenge of his political leadership in Louisiana.

The challenge came from New Orleans women, organized several months ago as "the Women's Committee of Louisiana." They disclosed plans for a Nation-wide organization to seek the ouster of Long and his colleague, Senator John H. Overton.

"Our campaign is based on charges of unfitness for office," said Mrs. Hilda Phelps Hammond, head of the committee. "We are going to interest women everywhere in the proposition that the Senate can not close its eyes when charges of dishonesty, corruption and immorality have been filed against one of its members. This is a national, not a State matter."

Long has characterized the group as "ousted politicians hiding behind the skirts of women."

Long characterized as "a lie" reports he pushed a train conductor into the laps of two nuns as he made for the dining car aboard his train from Milwaukee.

Production of Oil Held Vital Problem

Texas Company Official Hopes Industry Now Can Pull Together.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—C. B. Ames, chairman of the Texas Co., commenting today on current developments in the oil industry, expressed hope that the industry "can now forget its differences and pull together." "We have a good code," Ames asserted. "The members of the planning and coordination committee are good men.

"The fundamental problem is to bring the production of crude oil into balance with consumptive demand."

"The Texas Co., now as always, is prepared to cordially cooperate with the administration."

Illinois City Buries 'Depression' for NRA

West Frankfort, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP). The NRA campaign in West Frankfort was opened today with a "funeral"—the burial of "depression."

All business houses were closed for an hour while elaborate ceremonies were held. "Depression" was then buried in a vacant lot.

Speeders Set For Air Record

Three Ships in Chicago Meet Real Contenders on Opening Day.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Pilots of some of the fastest airplanes in America qualified today for the international air races, opening tomorrow at Curtiss-Wright-Reynolds Air Field.

Speeds required for qualification in various divisions ranged from 150 miles an hour to 225 miles for the $10,000 Phillips Trophy race Monday.

Three ships were said to have sufficient speed to break the 294.48 miles an hour record for land planes set by Jimmie Doolittle a year ago.

They are the Gee Bee racer used by Doolittle to set the record, a Wedell-Williams special entered by James R. Wedell, of Patterson, La., and Col. Roscoe Turner's plane with which he made 280.247 miles an hour in the National Air Races last month.

Mrs. Mollison at Chicago.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Amy Johnson Mollison, English flier, stepped from an amphibian plane that brought her from Cleveland today and dashed off to inspect three new U. S. Army observation planes she sighted across the airport.

She was particularly interested in gyroscopic equipment for blind flying.

NRA Plan Praised In Ford Shop Here

Business Men in Northeast Meet in Sales Agency to Discuss Program.

Praise of the NRA resounded throughout a Ford organization last night. But Henry Ford wasn't there and the company was a branch Ford dealer at 920 Bladensburg road northeast.

The occasion was a meeting of the Northeast Business Men's Association, held in the Northeast Motor Co. A. L. Raffa, Federal coordinator for the NRA, was principal speaker.

He declared that the Government is not attempting to guarantee a mythical prosperity under the banner of the Blue Eagle, but, on the contrary, recognizes the alternative of this economical adventure, the fate of which rests in the public's hands.

Mr. Raffa characterized the NRA as a card game. He said employes, employers and the public as a whole were the players, with the administration dealing.

Price Fixing Urged By Meat Packers

Board Proposed to Draft Policies Acceptable to Wallace.

(Associated Press.)

Price-fixing arose as a possibility in the live-stock industry yesterday under a proposed marketing agreement submitted by meat packers to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Secretary Wallace ordered a public hearing on the proposal here on September 8.

The proposal called for the Institute of Meat Packers to establish a processors committee of four members acceptable to Wallace, to draft policies subject to his approval and in cooperation with committees representing producers of hogs, cattle and sheep.

Wage Code Adopted By Window Trimmers

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Limiting window trimmers to 40 windows a week, a code adopted by the National Display Installation Association, would increase employment 50 per cent and give 2,500 window trimmers work, Nathan Silverblatt, executive secretary, announced today.

The code, he said, provides for a minimum wage of 85 cents an hour for skilled window trimmers, and a maximum working week of 35 hours.

Storm Benefits Tomato Prices.

Dover, Del., Aug. 31 (Spl.).—Last week's storm has boosted tomato prices at Selbyville. First-grade selects brought 48 cents per five-eighths basket, while inferior grades brought 35 cents.

State Tobacco Markets Closed By Ehringhaus

Selling to Continue Until Monday as Farmers Protest Prices.

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Sales on the great tobacco markets of eastern North Carolina will proceed as usual tomorrow, but will be suspended effective Monday morning, Presdient Ernest Webb of the Eastern Carolina Warehousemen's Association announced tonight.

Mr. Webb obtained from Gov. Ehringhaus a suspension of the governor's proclamation until Monday if it were suitable to Dr. J. Y. Joyner, tobacco growers' leader, but Mr. Webb was unable to locate Dr. Joyner.

South Carolina to Act.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 31 (U.P.). Gov. Ibra C. Blackwood said tonight he probably would act tomorrow for a tobacco marketing holiday in South Carolina next week.

Such action was asked of Mr. Blackwood by Gov. J. C. B. Ehringhaus of North Carolina, who issued a proclamation tonight calling for voluntary closing of North Carolina tobacco markets until better prices could be obtained.

Mr. Blackwood was confined to his home tonight with complications of laryngitis and bronchitis and was said to be too ill to talk to newspapermen.

Markets' Closing Ordered.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 31 (AP).—Gov. Ehringhaus tonight met demands of eastern North Carolina tobacco growers that he close every warehouse in the State until better prices are paid by proclaiming a voluntary marketing holiday for an indefinite period.

The proclamation was issued under the declaration of rights in the State constitution, which gives the governor power to suspend the laws or to call out the militia for the purpose, but no mention was made of the possibility of enforcing the holiday by calling out troops.

It followed closely upon a price protest mass meeting attended by 2,000 farmers here today, when speakers urged force to boost tobacco prices and sprinkled their discourses with mention of revolution.

Gerard Offers Odd Debt Plan

Suggests France Pay U. S. in Special Notes; to Be Resold to Tourists.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—A unique approach to the French war debt question was outlined today by James W. Gerard on his return from a European visit.

"France has no desire to pay the war debt," said the former Ambassador to Germany, "and she recognizes that a very vital source of income is the American tourist trade."

A good way to reconcile these two factors, Mr. Gerard declared, would be for France to issue a special bank note which she would pay to the United States in war debt installments as they come due.

"These bank notes," he continued "would carry the current value of the franc as quoted in the international exchanges. The United States Government would accept them as payment on the debt and in turn would sell them to American tourists at a discount on the premise that they would be spent in France.

"In this way, we would get our money, the tourist would have the pleasure and France would not be out anything, as at no time would this currency affect the export of gold."

Emergency Laws To Get Court Test

Highest Bench Asked to Pass on Act Impairing Contract Rights.

(Associated Press.)

A challenge of the validity of emergency legislation which has the effect of impairing contract rights yesterday reached the Supreme Court.

The Home Building & Loan Association, of Minneapolis, asked the court to decide whether emergency legislation adopted by the Minnesota Legislature granting moratoriums on mortgages on property which had the effect of suspending or changing existing contracts could be enforced.

The act was sustained as valid by the Minnesota Supreme Court against the attack of the loan association, which insisted it deprived it of contract rights in violation of the Federal Constitution.

Bicycle Jobbers Adopt Minimum Wage Code

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—A minimum wage of $15 a week north of the Mason & Dixon line and $14 a week south of it was provided in a code adopted today by the bicycle jobbers of the Cycle Trades of America.

Jesse Edwards, Philadelphia, was elected president; John W. Henry, Buffalo, vice president, and George Port, of New York, secretary-treasurer.

Ickes Allocates 70 Millions To Rush Work

Richmond Area to Benefit From Money Giving Jobs to 40,000.

Reacting to pressure for speedier distribution of emergency funds, the Public Works Administration yesterday allocated $70,000,000 for a rivers and harbors improvement program. It will provide a year's work for 40,000 men.

Secretary of Interior Ickes said $70,000,000 to $80,000,000 more could be spent for Army aviation and mechanization were it not that the Roosevelt regime desires to await outcome of the Geneva arms conference. He favors use of public works funds for this purpose because, he said, it would be difficult to obtain money from Congress.

Allocations for two days total more than $120,000,000, and lower the original $3,300,000,000 public works appropriation by $1,397,896,138.

Kanawha River Work.

The biggest project is the construction of locks and dams for the Kanawha River, West Virginia. It will cost $6,015,000.

Another project in this area which will be pushed is a 25-foot channel for the James River, which will permit deep-draft ships to reach Richmond. The Kanawha River projects will replace 13 dams.

More Speed Urged.

The program will benefit 19 Atlantic harbor projects, 12 on the Gulf of Mexico, 11 on the Pacific Coast, 17 in the Great Lakes, 3 in Hawaii, 1 in Puerto Rico, 1 ocean inlet, 7 intercoastal waterways, 6 Great Lakes connecting channels and 13 river projects.

Disbursement of funds is not fast enough to please those who instigated the public works program, and Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, who championed the $3,300,000,000 measure through Congress, plans to confer soon with Secretary of Interior Ickes to press for faster expenditures.

Paraguay Claims Victories.

2 Cross Ocean, Dim Columbus In 25-Foot Boat, Reach Fair

Norwegian Brothers End Trip via Lakes; Began Cruise March 26.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—A voyage to the Wold's Fair that began two months before its opening, May 27, was over today and two Norwegian brothers, Hans and Harold Hamran, were trying out their land legs after crossing the Atlantic in a 25-foot homemade boat, the White Wing.

"We started March 26, from Christiansen, Norway," said Hans as they turned into the Chicago Harbor, pushed along by a stiff breeze, "and here we are—to see the fair."

One look at their boat convinces anyone the voyage Columbus made 400 years ago was no adventure at all.

In the first place they made their craft of boards less than an inch thick. The boat is only 3½ feet deep and 9 feet on the beam.

Upon reaching America they followed the long course of the Great Lakes to Chicago.

Wealthy Socialite Fined For Assaulting Woman

Boston, Aug. 31 (AP).—Edward Stotesbury Hutchinson, 23, son of a wealthy Philadelphia family, was fined $50 in Municipal Court today upon conviction of assaulting Mrs. Beatrice Bacon, 38, a resident of Boston's West End. He entered an appeal and was held in $100 bail.

Air Mail Slash Trips Up Plans For Pilots' Code

4 Routes Suspended and Operators Say Forces Must Be Reduced.

While airline and NRA officials talked over a proposed code for the aviation industry yesterday at the Mayflower Hotel, designed to provide for the employment of a maximum number of pilots working on a 35-hour week, Postmaster General Farley announced the suspension of four routes of the air mail service and the discontinuance of certain trips on three others.

On learning of the Government cut the operators stated that any progress that they might make under the proposed code had in effect been nullified by the Government's action. Dismissals, they said, are a foregone conclusion.

The suspended services are between Los Angeles and San Diego, Pueblo and Amarillo, Albuquerque and El Paso and New York and Atlantic City. The service discontinuations on certain routes are between Daytona Beach to St. Petersburg, St. Louis to Kansas City, and Kansas City and Wichita.

In addition airline operators have been advised they must expect a cut in the scale of pay on routes still in operation.

At yesterday's code hearings former Representative F. H. LaGuardia protested against the placing of air mail pilots under any sort of a code. He sought elimination of all hours and wage provisions to allow pilots to work out their own pay problems with the operators.

Amelia Earhart appeared at the hearings and commented on certain provisions of the code. The proposed code was presented by Lester D. Seymour, president of the American Airways, on behalf of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America. Leighton W. Rogers, former chief of the aeronautics trade division of the department, and now executive vice president of the aeronautical chamber, also spoke for the operators.

No decision was reached concerning the code.

John A. Adams Quits U. S. Secret Service

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP). John A. Adams, Secret Service chief in the Syracuse district of 16 counties and one-time bodyguard for Presidents Wilson, Roosevelt and Taft, resigned on pension today, after completing his report for the month.

He was born in Bath, Steuben County, and was admitted to the bar in 1897, but gave up the practice of law to enter Government service.

Wife, 2 Men Held In Mate's Injury

Trio Tells Police New York Man, Skull Fractured, Fell From Auto.

Steubenville, Ohio, Aug. 31 (AP).—Two Pittsburgh men and Mrs. Belle Stoner, 22, of New York City, were held for investigation by police here today after a serious injury was suffered by her husband, Harry, 27. His skull was fractured.

Mrs. Stoner, and the other men, Baxter Harrell, 23, and John Daley, 28, told authorities their automobile skidded off the William Penn highway east of here today while they were en route from Columbus to Pittsburgh, and that they went on for several miles before they discovered Stoner was missing.

Returning to the point where the machine skidded into a tree they found Stoner at the bottom of an embankment.

2 Killed, 4 Hurt In Crossing Crash

Calumet City, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP). Two men were killed and three women and a man seriously injured in an automobile collision at a street crossing today.

The dead: C. P. Eadus, 63, Valparaiso, Ind. and Ernest P. Pearson, 38, Maywood, Ill.

The injured, who were all reported as in a critical condition, were taken to a hospital in Hammond, Ind.

Hawks on Seattle Lap Of Tri-City Air Dash

Los Angeles, Aug. 31 (AP).—Frank Hawks, transcontinental flier, attempting a tri-city air dash from Chicago to Los Angeles to Seattle and return, landed here shortly after 1 p. m. today and left at 1:55 p. m. for Seattle.

Hawks left Chicago last night and for some time today concern was expressed because of reports that his plane had developed engine trouble over the mountains.

Arlington Man 1 of 3 To Die at Sing Sing

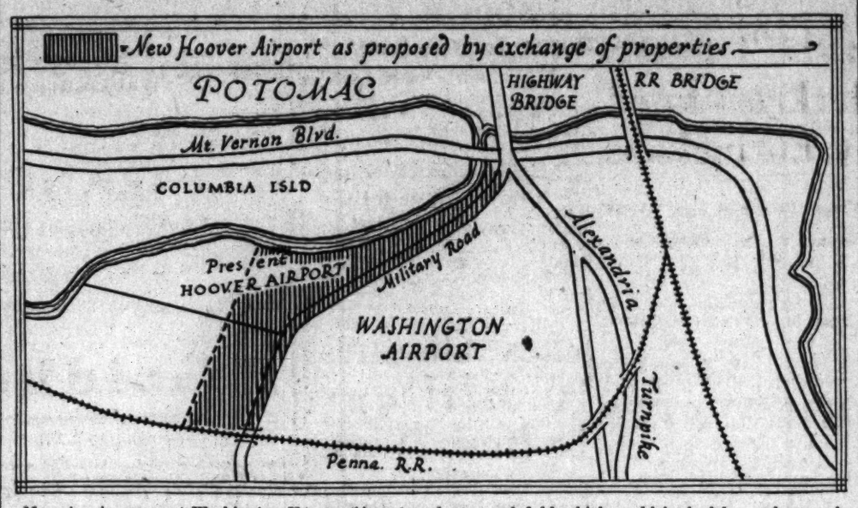
Ossining, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP). Three Negroes were put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison tonight in the second triple execution within two weeks.

First to enter the death chamber was John McKinney, 42, formerly of Arlington, Va., who was convicted of beating a man to death with a brick on Long Island.

Florida Firm Wins Pacific Ship Contract

San Francisco, Aug. 31 (AP).—Bids for a new 405-foot freighter for the Gulf-Pacific Mail Line were opened today by Swayne & Hoyt. Gulf Industries, Inc., of Pensacola, Fla., was low bidder at $900,000.

The vessel will be 405 feet long, [illegible] beam and 38 feet deep, with [illegible]dweight tonnage of 7,500.



Map showing present Washington-Hoover Airport and proposed field which could be had by exchange of part of the Arlington experimental farm for land now owned by airport.

Trade of Land Would Enlarge Capital Airport

Acreage From Southeast Part of Arlington Farm Might Be Secured.

A suggestion that the western part of Hoover Airport be traded for equal acreage from the southeast corner of the Arlington Experiment Farm was stated yesterday by an official of the Department of Agriculture to be the least objectionable of all projects submitted to the department for enlarging the field.

The suggested property exchange, following removal of Military road, would square off the Washington Airport and increase its size 50 per cent. At least 150 yards would be added to the runways in all directions.

Agriculture Department officials admit the need of developing the Capital's airport, but feel the value of the work at the Arlington Farm makes it essential for them to fight for continuation of experimental activities.

Reluctant to Give Up.

They agree the farm will be taken over for Arlington Cemetery, making it necessary for them to seek land elsewhere, but they are reluctant to surrender any of their present acreage until new lands have been provided. The 45-acre tract immediately north of Hoover Field is the station's best soil. On it have been started experiments which have resulted in breeding disease-resistant types of plants.

Hoover Field contains the same type of soil, and the farm would be inconvenienced only by preparation of the new land for planting.

Hoover Field is a long, narrow arm, at right angles from the north end of Washington Field. Even joined by removal of Military road it does not provide for lengthening runways in the most desirable directions. If it could be turned around and placed against Washington Field in a north-south direction it would be a valuable addition, which would be added to by filling in.

Then if Military road could be eliminated, this probably would be the quickest means of giving the Capital a bigger, safer landing field.

Miss Earhart Urges Change.

The Post continues to receive stimulation from outstanding persons in its efforts to better Washington's airport. Amelia Earhart Putnam has added her opinion.

"It's about time something was done to Washington airports," she said. "I don't believe there is a large city in the Nation where modern airport facilities are in greater need. I wouldn't think of flying my own plane here.

"In no city that I have visited where the air traffic is anything like it is here, is the airport located as close to the center of town as Washington's fields. The location is ideal, but the landing fields should be made safe.

"I never have been able to understand why Washington should not have the best in airport facilities. I hope your efforts succeed."

Road Closing Opposed.

Closing Military road, which separates Washington and Hoover air fields, was opposed yesterday by the Arlington County board.

The board instructed County Manager Roy S. Braden to request airport officials to stop planes from taking off close to the road, holding it a menace to auto traffic.

South American Actress Completes Film in U. S.

Hollywood, Aug. 31 (AP).—Having completed a featured role in "Walls of Gold," Rosita Moreno, accompanied by her mother, left tonight for New York, where she will sail September 9 for South America.

The Latin actress and dancer will head a revue at the Maipu theater, Buenos Aires, by Humberto Cairo, "the Ziegfeld of the Argentine."

Firemen Groups To Place Wreaths

Tomb of Unknown Soldier and Washington to Be Visited.

Volunteer firemen and District Fire Department members are urged to participate in the wreath-placing services tomorrow at Mount Vernon and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, by Sergt. A. J. Bargagni.

Headed by Fire Chief George S. Watson, Maj. Ernest Brown, Sergt. Bargagni and others, a delegation will place a wreath on George Washington's tomb, as a gesture to the first volunteer firemen. Washington was a member of the old Friendship Company, Alexandria.

The fire fighters then will go to the tomb of the Unknown.

All firemen with automobiles are asked to participate.

Dance Code

Dime "Hostesses" Cared for by Teachers' Arrangement.

Dime-a-dance girls—known as "hostesses"—will be taken care of under a code drafted by dancing teachers associations' representatives.

The girls must teach boys to dance—on their feet. Then, under the code, they become dance instructors and entitled to 50 cents an hour for 30 hours a week.

Some of the Nation's 20,000 dancing teachers have been getting as low as 15 cents and working 70 hours a week, according to B. A. Chalif, New York.

About 250 Washington dance instructors have agreed to the code, Max Rhoade, their representative, said.

U. S. Experts To Help Cuba Out of Chaos

Berle and Laylin to Study Economic Conditions on Island.

(Associated Press.)

To help chart a course to lead new Cuba away from debt and depression, the American Government yesterday named two experts to go to Havana as advisers to the embassy.

They are Adolf A. Berle, jr., legal adviser to the Farm Adjustment Administration on the proposed sugar stabilization agreement, and John Laylin, special assistant to Dean Acheson, Undersecretary of the Treasury.

Secretary Hull said their job will be to make a thorough appraisal and analysis of the essential phases of financial and economical conditions in Cuba to guide this Government as developments calling for cooperation arise.

The two big economic problems facing the new Cuban government are its heavy indebtedness abroad and the plight of the market for Cuban sugar.

Official circles already have indicated that some of the Cuban debt owed to this country must be scaled down. The administration is working to allocate the sugar market in a manner to assist the Cuban industry to regain its feet.

Officials emphasized that the experts were going as advisers to the American Embassy and not to the new Cuban government itself.

Laylin leaves for Havana today and Berle tomorrow.

Registering Voters Listed in NRA Also

Manhattan, Kans., Aug. 31 (AP).—The NRA scored impressively in an "election" here.

More than 3,200 Manhattan consumers voluntarily went to their polling places Wednesday to vote and register. The local NRA committee utilized such a plan rather than conduct a house-to-house canvas.

A force of 60 clerks worked at the five polling places.

Cuban Troops To Halt Orgy, Uphold Laws

Protection of Interests by Soldiers Ordered; Labor Quieted.

Havana, Aug. 31 (AP).—The Cuban army, which has been restive since its coup d'etat toppled President Gerardo Machado from power, was called sharply to order today by Col. Horacio Ferrer, the new secretary of war.

"The natural orgy that followed Machado's overthrow is over," Col. Ferrer told 100 army officers at Castillo de la Fuerza. "The troops henceforth will observe discipline.

"There will be no more violence. The army will protect all interests against any attempts. The law will be observed."

Similar remarks were made by Gen. Armado Montes, summoned from retirement to become acting chief of staff in the absence of ill Col. Julio Sanguily.

Orders have been signed for former President Machado and six other retired officers to report for service immediately. The purpose is to make possible an investigation of charges filed against them.

Labor agitation had quieted in the face of the administration's repeated promises that it would be favorable toward organized labor, although many strikes continued.

President de Cespedes signed a decree establishing an advisory commission to assist in the government.

Employment Rises Tenth for Month

Percentage Gain Largest in 13 Years, Industrial Board Finds.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—An increase of 10.2 per cent in employment in July over June was reported by the National Industrial Conference Board in its monthly survey of wages, employment and hours of work.

This is the largest monthly percentage gain in employment in the 13 years covered by the board's studies. The July advance was the fourth successive monthly improvement to gain over February amounting to 19 per cent. Employment gained in July in all except one of the 25 leading industries.

As a result of longer working hours, says the board, average weekly earnings increased from $18.49 in June to $19.15 in July, an advance of 3.6 per cent.

Mulhall Is Accused By Woman in Row

Los Angeles, Aug. 31 (AP).—Jack Mulhall, motion picture actor, was pictured as a rough-and-tumble intruder today by Mrs. Morris Fine, wife of a Santa Monica fashion designer, in appearing against him and his friend, Charles E. Frederick, on an assault and battery charge.

Mrs. Fine told the court Mulhall gained entrance to her apartment the night of August 5, appeared at her bedroom door with the salutation "Helllo, sweetheart!" and later swung her about the hall by her hair and threw her downstairs because she seized him for striking her husband.

Gayety Theater Midnight Show To Benefit Firemen's Parade

Program on Sunday Will Include Acts From Other Playhouses.

With tickets selling fast for the gala midnight show at the Gayety Theater Sunday midnight, a packed house is practically assured the firemen for the benefit of the National Firemen's Labord Day parade.

In addition to the whole Gayety show, which is being brought here brand new by Manager Jimmy Lake, the program will include acts from all of the local Washington theaters. They have graciously consented to help the fire fighters.

An almost three-hour program of entertainment is promised the patrons. The show will begin promptly at one minute past midnight Sunday. Jimmy Lake will act as master of ceremonies.

With the talent already lined up, one of the greatest shows, and certainly the greatest midnight show, is in the offing. In less than an hour last night, more than 60 seats were reserved by telephone at the Gayety. That gives you an idea how the demand is for tickets.

No firemen will sell tickets on the streets and all reservations should be made through the Gayety or Jimmy Lake personally. By tonight the biggest part of the house is expected to be sold out, and by Saturday all seats will be gone, according to indications now.

Musicians and stage hands at the Gayety are donating their services for the extra show and Lake is giving the theater, both of which will help in swelling the parade fund.

Every type of entertainment will be included on the bill, singing, dancing, solo work, choruses and so on. Under the direction of Lake, the program will move along in swift fashion.

Greencastle Firemen To Bring Old Pumper

Greencastle, Pa., Aug. 31 (Spl.). The Rescue Hose Company, of this town, again will join in the Labor Day parade in Washington Monday.

The 35 firemen planning to attend will take the old pumper built in 1741 to Washington on a truck to again compete for the prize of the oldest pumper in line of march.

Inflation Held Of Little Value To Farmers

Wallace Says Their Real Problem Is One of Balance.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Wallace said yesterday in an address discussing inflation that it "does not increase the foreign demand for our surplus farm products and does nothing toward adjusting the supply of our farm products to the home market."

"In fact," the Secretary of Agriculture said, "there is some danger that the increase in speculative farm commodity prices may make the adjustment of supply and demand in the long run more difficult rather than less so, by stimulating production and by making farmers less willing to adjust production."

He said he felt "it is altogether proper for me as Secretary of Agriculture to consider the effects of inflation on agriculture."

Among these, he said, were:

"Inflation undoubtedly acts to lighten each farmer's debt and tax burdens, but only to the extent that it advances the prices of the product he sells. It also advances the prices of what he buys.

"Inflation which changes the value of the dollar in foreign currencies tends temporarily to increase the prices of export or speculative commodities. The inflation since April has been of this type. Prices of milk, hogs, beef cattle, poultry and other nonspeculative domestic products have shown no great increase."

Wallace said the farmer's problem both in the United States and in relation to foreign nations was one of balance.

Trip to World's Fair Halted to Await Stork

Atkinson, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP).—The World's Fair can wait.

About 100 Indians en route from Oklahoma to the Century of Progress pitched camp today awaiting the arrival of the stork to one of the wives.

6 Injured, 31 Arrested In St. Louis Rioting

St. Louis, Aug. 31 (AP).—Picketing of some 70 shops and factories, which has accompanied the strike of about 6,000 clothing and millinery workers here, attracted thousands of spectators in the downtown district here today and ended in the arrest of 31 persons, injuries to 6 and egg, bottle and brick throwing.

Witnesses said two received injuries when police wielded clubs.

Report Proposed On Franking Cost

Postoffice Clerks' Group Urges Itemized List for Taxpayers.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Amendment of the Government accounting system to show taxpayers how much each senator, representative and Federal bureau costs each year through the franking privilege was urged by resolution adopted today at the concluding session of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks.

John J. Barrett, New York, was elected president. A committee was named to work for amalgamation with the National Federation of Postoffice Clerks, which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Other officers elected were James T. O'Malley, St. Louis, first vice president; Harry McNamara, Los Angeles, Calif., second vice president; James S. Irwin, Atlanta, Ga., third vice president; Patrick J. O'Neill, Philadelphia, secretary.

Killing Confessor To Be Sentenced

Californian, Who Said He Slew Boy, Faces Five Years in Prison.

San Diego, Calif., Aug. 31 (AP). Philip Charles Edwards, 19, was convicted by a jury today of obstructing justice by a false confession to the murder of Dalbert Aposhian, 7. He will be sentenced tomorrow to a $5,000 fine, five years in the county jail, or both.

Edwards was arrested in Los Angeles and told police he killed the Aposhian boy, whose mutilated body was found in San Diego Bay July 24. He repudiated the confession when police found discrepancies.

Uraguay Names Soviet Envoy.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Aug. 31 (AP).—Gen. Eduardo Da Costa today was appointed Uraguayan Minister to Soviet Russia.

Poorest Man!

Apparent Death of Son Changes Once Famed Blacksmith's Mind.

Bancroft, Nebr., Aug. 31 (AP). Edward J. Meyers, Bancroft blacksmith, famed as America's "richest man" through his letter outlining his philosophy of life, is ready to renounce the title.

Meyers has lost a son. The clothing of the son, Lloyd L. Meyers, of Columbus, Nebr., was found on a river bank. A search was futile. It is thought that Lloyd was drowned while swimming.

Meyers, broken-hearted, told friends, "I feel like the world's poorest man now."

Auto Code Held Wedge for Foes Of Union Labor

Green Tells NRA Board "Merit" Clause Perils Working of Plan.

(Associated Press.)

A new attack was made yesterday by NRA's labor advisory board upon the automobile code's clause calling for hiring and firing on a merit basis after it had been found that 29 additional industries were seeking to adopt the same language.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor and acting chairman of the board, declared "this clause will rise to plague the NRA in the working of any code where its insertion is permitted.

"Efficiency and merit are fine words and the board's opposition is misrepresented into implying that we would protect the inefficient. This is the revival of an ancient slander on organized labor. Also it signals something more important for the NRA.

"We foresee this clause excerpted from the code and posted up in factories by recalcitrant employers, as it is countersigned by the administrator and the President, and pointed to as the justification for hiring and firing, promoting and demoting, as the employer pleases.

"Among the industries now so keen for this clause are the very ones that in the past have decimated their labor forces to root out union men, all in the name of individual merit."

Shoe Code Submitted.

(Associated Press.)

A code of competition for the boot and shoe industry, containing the controversial merit clause inserted in the automobile agreement, was submitted to national recovery officials yesterday and ordered to public hearing September 12.

The frequently rewritten shoe code was expected to draw opposition from labor organizations and from one wing of manufacturers, but administrators, reported to be dissatisfied with some of its provisions, accepted it as a basis for public hearing in an attempt to hasten promulgation of a definite program.

Draft of Tire Code Is Finally Revised

New York, Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Having agreed tentatively on a 36-hour maximum work-week for the automobile tire industry, representatives of the major rubber companies were at work today on a final revision of their code. The agreement was reached at a meeting in a midtown hotel yesterday.

The tentative code provides that each employe may work an additional 104 hours each year to meet emergencies or peak demands.

White collar workers and deliverymen were limited to a maximum of 40 hours of work per week, and factory workers were not permitted to work more than eight hours a day.

Service StationMen Protest NRA Code

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 31 (AP).—Independent service station operators of northern Indiana and southern Michigan today sought an amendment of the NRA petroleum code which they said would be necessary to give them an "even break" with the large distributing companies.

The petroleum code is effective Saturday. The independents contend the price of gasoline will be increased about 2½ cents.

Judge's Car Injures Johnstown Woman

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 31 (AP).—An automobile which police said was driven by Superior Court Judge William J. Pickens, of Indianapolis, struck and seriously injured a 63-year-old woman late today.

The 75-year-old judge was coming to Johnstown after a vacation in Canada, to visit a daughter.

Claire Windsor Weeps as Love Notes Are Read

Broker Whose Wife Seeks $100,000 Nervously Quits Courtroom.

Los Angeles, Aug. 31 (AP).—Tears streamed down the cheeks of blonde Claire Windsor, motion picture actress, as she heard attorneys read into today's court record the love letters she exchanged with Alfred C. Read, Oakland stock broker, whose former wife, Marian, is suing Miss Windsor for $100,000, charging alienation of affections.

A photograph of Miss Windsor was introduced and the actress, her voice vibrant with emotion, said she wrote the inscription on it reading:

"Darling Al: You should never leave all this love I have for you in the world—2PI R—Lover, Claire."

Asked what she meant by "2PI R," she said it was written at Read's dictation and that he said it meant "world full."

As the reading of letters began Read stalked from the courtroom to a hallway, then paced back and forth, nervously smoking cigarettes.

Meeting the actress on a transcontinental train, Read invited her to his apartment to play bridge, Miss Windsor testified, told her he was unmarried, but later said he was, and that he planned to obtain a divorce. Read's first letter, thereafter, written on the train, said in part:

"Please excuse the writing, but this train does wobble. Sweetheart, I never knew before just how many tears I had in me. I have had your picture out almost continually. If there was only a way to get off this train and get back to you for just one more kiss, I think I probably would do it.

"I hope, sweetheart, that while I am away from the dearest thing in my life you will think about me and know that whatever happens I will always love you. I am growing more confident all the time that as far as I am concerned, things will be able to be worked out. • • •

Fuse Is Lighted!

WHAT sounds like the most powerful group in the 1933-34 Government bowling circuit is the Dynamite League, Bureau of Customs.

This unit in the old Southern Railway Building has elected officers and appointed committees to get off to an early start—all full of confidence—and challenges to out-bowl any teams west of the Atlantic and east of the Pacific.

William N. Crymes is president. Other officers include W. B. Long, vice president; Everett Kuebler, secretary-treasurer, and Thomas Moffatt, official scorer.

Dynamite teams and their captains are:

Little Potatoes, W. V. Linder.
Duds, Thomas Moffett.
Hiandrys, J. L. Acuff.
Hill Billies, L. T. Boswell.
Lame Dux, Peter Chipouras.
Wrecking Crew, S. C. Shelton.
Tornadoes, C. L. Brown.
Blow Hards, C. D. Clark.

E. E. Glasscock, former secretary-treasurer, and W. B. Long are named on the committee on alleys.

The committee on handicaps includes Thomas Moffatt, George F. Beyer and G. A. Walker. S. C. Shelton is the committee on schedule.

The next meeting is slated for Tuesday night, when applications for two or more teams will be considered.

Frank J. Maloney Retires.

Owing to disability, Chief Pay Clerk Frank J. Maloney, U. S. M. C., retired yesterday. Members of the Paymaster's Department honored him with a brief ceremony at room 3231, headquarters, when he was the recipient of gifts and eulogies.

Mr. Maloney, a native of Rochester, N. Y., entered the service in 1908. He served with the Fourth Brigade, U. S. M. C., in France. His disability was incident to his work.

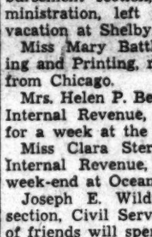
Dismissals Protested.

PROTESTS on dismissals were lodged with Secretary of War Dern yesterday by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, and John Arthur Shaw, president of the American Federation of Government Employes.



JOHN A. SHAW

The conference, lasting an hour, went into details of the contemplated discharge of 45 persons from the Adjutant General's Office. Mr. Morrison and Mr. Shaw called the Cabinet member's attention to the fact that these dismissals would be against the principle of the NRA, which is opposed to further dismissals.

It was also pointed out that the A. G. O. is undermanned and has never been able to get the war records up to date. The two labor leaders next stressed the fact that during the next year, if handled on a long-term basis, there will be sufficient resignations and retirements to take care of the present deficiency in funds. Also an important factor against personnel reduction because of shortage in appropriations is the upward trend in Government revenues. The lack in funds at present will be taken care of within the next six months, figures presented to the department head showed.

Secretary Dern did not commit himself definitely on any of the subjects. However, he said he was opposed to any discharges unless absolutely necessary.

Sea Outlaws Save 5 Girls From Death

Silent, Mysterious Crew Tows in Craft Being Swept From Coast.

Hull, Mass., Aug. 31 (AP).—The code of the sea must be heeded even by a maritime outlaw, and to that fact five girls probably owed their lives today. The girls put out in an outboard motorboat yesterday. When several miles off shore the motor stopped.

Darkness came as an ebbing tide carried them swiftly out to sea. The girls, in tears, clung to each other in the bottom of the boat. Suddenly they heard the roar of powerful motors and a long, shadowy hull hove to alongside. The lone and uncommunicative crew of the craft passed a line to the disabled boat and towed it ashore. Without waiting for thanks the rescuer roared away.

The rescued girls are Florence T. Breslin, Ellen Goodwin and Mary Lyons, of Boston; Rita, of Somerville, and Helen Chmielinski, of Brookline.

Philadelphia Payrolls Jump.

Philadelphia, Aug. 31 (AP).—Harry K. Sorenson, manager of the Department of Commerce's Philadelphia office, said today that a survey of 100 concerns selected at random, indicated an average increase in payrolls of 12 to 15 per cent as a result of the NRA drive.

Arrest of Heedless Cyclists Ordered

St. Petersburg, Fla., Aug. 31 (AP). Arrest of bicycle riders for traffic violations was ordered today by Police Chief R. H. Noel as the result of a mushroom growth of cycling in the city.

Both motorists and pedestrians have complained that the bicycle riders pay little attention to traffic signals or rights of way and frequently use sidewalks for speedways.

Councilman M. D. Wever has asked for a regulation requiring the riders to "wear more clothes."

Drys' Conclave Has War Plans

National Chiefs Draw Up 6-Point Program to Fight Repeal Wave.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—The Anti-saloon League today tossed a sponge into the prohibition repeal battle ring, but it was a call to arms, not a symbol of defeat.

The leaguers intend to apply it vigorously to absorb and dam the tide of wet sentiment that has already washed over 24 States. They explained how they would do it in a six-point program formulated by a two-day conference.

Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, said the protocol would be submitted to national directors and all State units as an expression of country-wide policy. He emphasized that it was the first expression since submission of the twenty-first amendment by any large dry group of the exact method it would employ to fight repeal.

Others attending the conference were E. H. Cherrington and Dr. Howard Hyde Russell, both of the league's national offices at Westerville, Ohio; David L. McBride, Michigan; P. A. Tate, Missouri; A. C. Graham, Kentucky; L. E. York, Indiana; S. P. McNaught, Ohio; Warren G. Jones, Wisconsin; T. W. Gales, North Dakota, and G. B. Safford, Illinois.

Chinese Outlaws Take And Plunder Big City

Shanghai, Aug. 31 (AP).—A large gang of bandits in the last two days captured and looted Hanshan, an important city in east central China, and several smaller places, said Chinese reports today from Wuhu, a Yangtze River port south of Hanshan.

These messages asserted the outlaws kidnaped 200 Hanshan residents for ransom and had carried off 500,000 Mexican dollars worth of loot. They also opened jails and freed prisoners, who joined in the looting.

Lamson Visited Divorcee, Trial Witness Says

Neighbor at Sacramento Tells of 5 or 6 Calls on Mrs. Kelley.

San Jose, Calif., Aug. 31 (AP).—David A. Lamson visited Mrs. Sara M. Kelley, Sacramento divorcee, five or six times at her apartment there during March and April, Eldridge Ray, of Sacramento, testified today at the wife murder trial of the 31-year-old representative of the Stanford University Press.

Ray was the last of a series of Sacramento residents called in an attempt to establish that the defendant was interested in Mrs. Kelley. The State alleges Lamson beat pretty Allene Thrope Lamson to death last Memorial Day in their campus bungalow.

Describes Lamson's Visits.

The witness testified he lived on the floor Mrs. Kelley did and that Lamson visited her generally early in the evening. On one occasion, he said, Lamson and Mrs. Kelley came to his home when friends were calling at a celebration in honor of the arrival in the Ray family of a child.

Answering a question of Defense Attorney Maurice Rankin, Ray declared Lamson always left Mrs. Kelley's apartment early in the evening and he knew of no occasion when the defendant remained overnight.

Two Poems by Woman.

Two poems, written by Mrs. Kelley, each containing endearing terms, were read.

Lamson smiled. Outside the courtroom he said Mrs. Kelley, with whom he declared he had business relations only, had given him the two pieces of verse to criticize. He said he had glanced at them and put them in a pigeon hole of his desk, forgotten.

John Fitzgerald, assistant district attorney, said the State probably would complete its case late tomorrow.

Blue Eagle Fails To Protect Still

Morgantown, N. C., Aug. 31 (AP). Moonshiners of Burke County have found the Blue Eagle gives them no protection.

Deputy Sheriff G. S. Hildebran, capturing a 70-gallon copper still and 400 gallons of beer near here yesterday, spied on a nearby tree the familiar symbol of the NRA with its legend: "We do our part."

When he made his report, he turned in the Blue Eagle. Underneath he had scrawled: "I done my part."

THE COMPOSITION OF ESSOLENE IS PROTECTED BY U. S. PATENT PENDING

Essolene can guarantee smoother performance because it has a distinctive and superior composition, so unique among motor fuels that this composition is protected by U. S. Patent Pending.

The world's leading petroleum research laboratories, with unlimited facilities at their command, are responsible for this new achievement which guarantees smoother performance.

To distinguish it from other motor fuels it is only necessary to put your foot on the accelerator after filling your tank with Essolene.

Try it today. Essolene is colored orange to prevent substitution.

ANNOUNCES

A BETTER WAY OF BUYING MOTOR OIL

Sealed in cans... Like the finest food!

PROTECTED AGAINST DIRT... SUBSTITUTION... ADULTERATION

WHEN you buy oil in refinery-sealed cans, you know exactly what you're getting. You know that the oil goes into your engine just as pure and clean as it leaves the refinery.

Leading refiners have been quick to adopt this new way of marketing motor oil because it protects the quality of their product. Reputable service stations like it because it protects their good name. And motorists prefer to buy their oil this way because it is cleaner, quicker, absolutely safe, and usually costs no more.

If you are against bootleg oil, if you want to be sure of getting full value for your money, ask your filling station for oil in refinery-sealed cans.

THESE ADVANTAGES SAVE YOU TIME AND MONEY

PREVENTS SUBSTITUTION—you see exactly what you're getting. The brand name and also the S. A. E. grade number are on every can, which is opened right before your eyes.

PREVENTS ADULTERATION—when oil is poured from a refinery-sealed can directly into your car, you know that it hasn't been diluted with crankcase drainings or a cheap, inferior oil.

PREVENTS SHORT MEASURE—Refinery-sealed cans contain the full measure of oil when they leave the refinery (1 qt. or 5 qts.), and they must deliver that full measure to you because they are tamper-proof.

CLEANER—No chance for any dust, leaves or other foreign matter to contaminate the oil in refinery-sealed cans.

SAVES TIME—Cans are opened in an instant by a patented cutting funnel. The oil flows quickly through this funnel into your engine while the attendant takes care of your other needs.

COSTS NO MORE—Most filling stations charge no more for the absolute protection of refinery-sealed cans than you have been paying for the same oil served in the old-fashioned way.

Reducing Working Hours.

Although it is estimated that about 2,000,000 persons have been re-employed since last March, President Green of the American Federation of Labor is not satisfied with the progress made. He asserts that jobs for the 11,000,000 persons estimated to be still idle can only be found by making further reductions in the hours worked per man per week. Mr. Green apparently holds firmly to the belief that under existing conditions there is a fixed limit to the amount of work open to labor. If his premise is accepted, it follows, as he says, "as a matter of mathematics," that the unemployed can only be reabsorbed into industry by assigning fewer working hours to each person employed. Since there is no reason to suppose that the reductions in the hours called for by the labor sections of the various industrial codes now in preparation will be sufficiently great to provide work for all the idle millions, Mr. Green concludes that the remedy lies in cutting working time more and more.

The appealing simplicity of this make-work plan loses sight of the fact that employers have to be considered as well as employees. Up to a certain point, working hours per day and per week can be cut, often with resultant gains in employment and without undue hardship to employing industries. It is, however, unreasonable to suppose that because an employer is able to operate on a 40-hour weekly basis, he can do so successfully on a 35-hour basis, or a 30-hour basis, continuing to cover costs and necessary profits.

Every industry and all units within each industry are in fact susceptible in varying degrees to the effects of reductions in working hours, involving increases in labor costs and overhead charges. What they can stand in the way of additional charges is not a matter which can be settled by a general work-sharing formula. It has to be determined with reference to the peculiar conditions prevailing within particular industries. Indeed, the modifications which have been introduced into the labor-saving sections of industrial codes constitute an official recognition of the fact that there are well-defined limits to the extent to which jobs can be created by shortening the working day and week.

The recovery program can not be expected to provide instantaneous employment for 12,000,000 or 13,000,000 men. It merely attempts to supply an initial stimulus to progressive and gradual business expansion through re-employment of a certain proportion of the idle at fair rates of wages, and with the view of expanding general purchasing power.

A Baffling Malady.

The continued spread of encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, in the St. Louis area perplexes medical scientists both as to the source of the disease and its remedy. The mysterious malady first appeared in the western world in the early years of the World War, and one theory is that it may have been brought from the interior of China when large numbers of Orientals were sent to Europe to work behind the lines.

The experts say that the disease now present in this country should not be confused with the African sleeping sickness, which is known to be communicated by insects, and whose characteristics and treatment are well understood. Encephalitis is not always accompanied by drowsiness or sleep, although the entire brain is attacked. Beyond that of close human contacts, the method by which it is transmitted is not yet known.

The disease has caused nearly 50 deaths in St. Louis, or a ratio of fatalities of about one in six of those who are attacked. The dangerous character of encephalitis, however, is not alone in the high death rate of victims, but in the many cases where patients are left with impaired mentality.

The appearance of the epidemic in the Middle West is not the first in this country. New York City was visited with many more cases in 1923 than have appeared in St. Louis and there have been some cases in the metropolis every year since. The encouraging feature of New York's record is that every year after encephalitis first appeared, fewer cases have been reported. In 1923 there were 923 cases causing 349 deaths, while in the following year there were only 465 cases and 247 deaths. So far this year 44 cases have been reported in New York, with 27 deaths.

The St. Louis invasion is being studied by the Nation's leading scientists. Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming of the Public Health Service has made a personal survey of the situation and has detailed specialists and laboratory experts to assist in the studies being conducted to determine the cause, nature and best methods of combating the disease.

Federalized Police.

Trained legal minds from all parts of the country, now gathered at the American Bar Association session at Grand Rapids, are considering the problem of crime suppression. The question was thrust upon the association by Pat Malloy, Assistant Attorney General. In advocating the Federalization of all peace officers in the United States, Mr. Malloy said his proposal had the approval of Attorney General Cummings. Mr. Malloy said:

> We are facing a crisis in dealing with the problems of the racketeer and kidnaper. We should Federalize the police forces of America. What does that mean? It means every United States attorney and marshal and his assistants, every State and county prosecuting attorney, every sheriff and his officers and every State police officer in the country would hold a commission from the Federal Government and be a unit under one directing head to take up the trail and make swift and sure the capture.

The militia of every State would stand behind this civilian force, added Mr. Malloy, and behind that would stand the Army.

The idea of unifying all the crime-detecting agencies of the country is persuasive, at first sight, but the obstacles in the way of its adoption are practical and formidable. The vast majority of crimes are minor and local, and the States are fully capable of dealing with the perpetrators. The proposal to shift the police powers of the States to Federal control might be met by the argument that the country is just now extricating itself from an experiment in that direction. Doubtless many of the lawyers now discussing crime prevention will suggest that if the States are no longer capable of enforcing their criminal laws it is hopeless to expect the Federal Government to undertake the job. It does not appear that local peace officers are derelict in co-operating with Federal authorities in running down offenders against Federal law, always excepting prohibition cases. The confusion of authority and the expense that would result from Federalization of State officers doubtless will be stressed.

For Safer Roads.

A slight reduction in the number of automobile fatalities in the United States gives evidence that some progress is being made in the regulation of highway traffic, aided somewhat by educational campaigns for more careful driving and stricter licensing rules for drivers in some States. When the reduced number of motor vehicles in operation during the last year is taken into consideration, however, there is little improvement in the record of deaths caused by motor vehicles and the heavy losses through personal injury and property damage.

With a return to more normal times it is inevitable that the use of automobiles will again increase. Expansion of the number of trucks and other large motor cars on the highways does not brighten the prospect for greatly improved traffic conditions in the immediate future. It would seem that the time must come when there will be greater segregation of various kinds of traffic, with separate highways for long-distance and local vehicles, and the entire elimination of grade crossings.

With present plans for the spending of many millions upon road work there are numerous sections of the country where consideration might well be given to making existing highways of greater practical use to motorists and safer for pedestrians, rather than expending all the funds to build new roads. Highway crossovers and underpassages on roads and streets where travel is heavy are often more useful in speeding up traffic than additional and less convenient arteries.

The ideal condition is one which would entirely separate foot and vehicle traffic. The use of the same thoroughfares by both pedestrians and fast-moving vehicles will always be attended by accidents and loss of life. When a busy American city street with its conglomerate intermingling of persons on foot and crowded motor cars is contemplated, the wonder is not that nearly 30,000 persons are killed every year by automobiles, but that fatalities are not even more numerous.

French Worries.

France is disturbed about a number of problems which run the whole gamut of national concern, from politics and finance to the economic situation and international alarms. Facing a continued budget deficit which it is estimated will amount to 10,000,000,000 francs next year, the question of government financing becomes a greater problem since bonds issued at par a year ago are quoted at a discount of more than 15 per cent. Borrowings of recent years have again increased the public debt, exclusive of American and British war debts, to the postwar peak of more than 300,000,000,000 francs.

Apparently suggestions that countries with unbalanced budgets would be forced to abandon the gold standard have not affected the French official determination to remain on gold, a position which the people are said strongly to support. Further tax increases are difficult, for, while production is about back to pre-war levels, budget expenditures are more than 150 per cent above those of 1913. In view of the unsettled conditions in Central Europe the government opposes reductions in the military budget. A national lottery will be operated in France this month, but its returns will barely suffice to maintain war pensions, so that announcement of the new financial policy of the Daladier government is awaited with interest.

Curiously, the present insistent protests of French farmers are being made against the minimum price fixed for wheat, not because it is too low, but because it is so high that market stagnation has resulted. In prohibiting purchases below the equivalent of $1.70 a bushel the market has been paralyzed, and farmers are unable to dispose of their crops. In connection with the economic situation the present visit of former Premier Herriot in Moscow is being watched, not alone in France, but in other European countries, as presaging closer commercial relations between France and Russia.

In the realm of French politics Parisian observers profess to see the greatest danger to the present government in the growing revolt of young socialists against the policy of the old leaders who have consistently refused representation in a cabinet they did not control. Opposing this rule, the younger element proposes acceptance of such posts as they can secure, in the belief that their cause could be aided from the inside. The traditional socialist opposition to great military expenditures is likely to be swept aside by the returning wave of nationalistic sentiment, aroused by the militaristic actions of the Hitlerites during recent weeks. If the great gathering of Nazis at Nurnberg furnishes the setting for still further pronouncements like those affecting Austria and the Saar, as has been predicted, French apprehensions may be still further aroused, and the resumption of the sessions of the disarmament conference may be quite useless.

New York's Trade Schools.

Trade classes in the New York City school system are growing more rapidly than any other branch. The Board of Education reports that 100 additional teachers will be required next year, bringing the total vocational school staff up to 340. At the opening of the industrial high schools last March there was a registration of 7,840 students, but during the year 6,620 additional students sought admission after all available accommodations had been exhausted.

Special vocational classes were established in the various continuation school buildings where classrooms could be secured, and trade classes were provided to the extent of thirty hours a week. The Vocational Survey Commission is making an extensive study of the probable needs in this direction, and will make a report to the school board as to the probable rate at which the trade classes will have to be expanded in the near future.

In view of economic conditions many youths are endeavoring to fit themselves for positions in preparation for increasing industrial activity. New York City, in its present state of finances, finds that adding to this branch is an expensive form of training. The survey under way is expected to provide valuable indications as to the training classes which will be most in demand, and which will most quickly provide remunerative work.

It is now definitely recognized by the school board that many young people are not adapted to academic pursuits. Although in no way inferior mentally, they are better suited for training along vocational lines, and efforts will be made to care for all who wish to take these practical courses.

Where Steel Is Made.

From the Minneapolis Journal.

Since the days before the republic began and the manufacture of iron was carried on in a crude way in the Massachusetts and Virginia colonies, there has been a slow movement of the industry westward. It is believed that the new steel code, temporarily at least, will check this tendency. The industry's annual ingot capacity is 70,000,000 tons, but in times of normal production often does not exceed 75 per cent in operation. A purpose in the code throughout its consideration and modification was prevention of unnecessary competitive expansion. The immediate outlook favors more scrapping of obsolete plants and some minor reduction of production possibility.

Minnesota being the great ore producing center, the retention by Pittsburgh of leadership would seem inconsistent, were there not other important considerations. To the prestige of existing establishment, there are added proximity to markets, cost of assembling raw materials, labor, transportation and disposal of by-products. Every ton of iron ore needs about 2 tons of other material for its processing. Pittsburgh, less advantageously situated as to ore supply, and even as to rail transshipment of ore from Lake Erie ports, has retained a collective advantage. Yet Pittsburgh no longer enjoys the old prestige. Against its 26.11 per cent of the country's steel output in 1930, Chicago showed 21.36, the Valley plants not included in the Pittsburgh district 11.52, Philadelphia 11.33 and Cleveland 9.90. Thereafter came Wheeling, Buffalo, the Southern, the Ohio River, the Western, the St. Louis and the Eastern districts.

Expectation is that the Eastern district, now making only 1.36 per cent, and unfavorably affected by decline in exports, will show further decrease, and that Southern production is likely to come up, because of the proximity of Birmingham to both coal and ore, although the ore is inferior in quality to that of the Mesabi Range. But the Southern district, important as it seems individually, produced only 3.15 per cent of the country's total output in 1930. Chicago and Cleveland should grow because of all-water transportation for ore and short rail hauls for coal. The opening of the canal from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi may help St. Louis. But the outlook for the years immediately ahead is for a static condition relative to capacity importance of production centers.

A Real Cap for the Oil Waste.

The Once Over.

By H. I. Phillips.

AN IMAGINARY INTERVIEW WITH DR. MOLEY.

Q. Professor, you have retired from the Washington scene because of a long-felt urge to become an editor?

A. That's my story, and I'm stuck with it.

Q. Why do you wish to be an editor?

A. As a writer I found too many people editing my stuff.

Q. You feel that as an editor you will have more power?

A. Yes, indeed; in fact, I expect to be the Hull works.

Q. Do you feel that there is room in America for another national magazine?

A. There would be if the doctors would clean off their waiting-room tables once in a while.

• • • •

Q. You say your magazine is to be for the man in the street?

A. Yes.

Q. What street?

A. Any street. The people are clamoring for such an organ. Can't you hear it?

Q. Oh, I hear the clamor, but I can't interpret it. They may be clamoring for more "funnies." Do you plan to run any fiction?

A. Naturally. Any attempt to interpret what is going on in Washington politics is bound to be fiction.

Q. When did you first feel the urge to quit the political scene and become an editor?

A. I felt it creeping over me shortly after the Economic Conference.

Q. Is it true that the new magazine will have a yachting department?

A. Not if I can help it.

Q. Don't you regard boating as beneficial?

A. It certainly didn't do me any good.

• • • •

Q. Professor, the public was under the impression you were going to conduct a drive to wipe out kidnaping. There were stories to that effect in the press, were there not?

A. Yes. That's just another proof that the public loves fiction.

Q. What will become of the kidnaping drive now?

A. It'll have to be dropped until somebody else disagrees with Secretary Hull.

Q. Have you a name for your new magazine?

A. No.

Q. Why not call it Niagara?

A. Why Niagara?

Q. Because it's a name always associated with mighty falls.

A. That'll be all. Don't slam the door going out.

HUEY DESCRIBES THE FIGHT.

"Suddenly somebody struck me and I heard the glass crash."

"What glass?"

"The glass panes, when the gangsters leaped in through the windows. Just before that I had heard the sound of the grindstones."

"What grindstones?"

"The ones where the thugs were sharpening their knives. They had me down now and I was wriggling out of it when I heard the cage open."

"The cage? What cage, Senator?"

"The cage that held the man-eating lions. The beasts were on me before I knew it. I could have fought my way out, except for the tusks."

"What tusks?"

"The elephant tusks," said the Senator. "Then the horses trampled me."

"What horses?"

"Custer's."

The Flowers Bloom by Day; Night Is for the Blooming Idiot

By Robert Quillen.

WHEN the world was young, the night was filled with terrors. Beasts stalked abroad; every shadow held a menace; evil things crept underfoot.

And poor, trembling man clutched his silly weapons and cowered in his retreat. In the morning he would be brave again, but darkness overcame him.

Because darkness changed the nature of primitive man, it changes the nature of moderns, also.

"Men love darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil." And man's habit of doing evil under cover of darkness through 10,000 generations has given the race a tendency to think of evil things when night falls.

No man is the same man at night and in the morning. It is not only because fatigue has poisoned his mind and made his wits dull at the close of the day. Some of the difference must be attributed to our inheritance.

The cave man Ug made love at night, and at night a young man lays his heart at his lady's feet. In the morning he may be the happier for it, but he will have a moment of doubt—a moment when he will wonder if he did the right thing.

"The morning after" need not be preceded by a carouse. The soberest of men awake in the sunlight and wonder at their folly of the night before.

The indignant letter written last night seems childish this morning; the great plans made last night seem absurd in the light of day.

Burning the midnight oil may enable you to absorb other men's ideas, but your own midnight ideas are not to be trusted.

Here, then, is a rule: Whatever great thing you have to do, whether you wish to make a proposal of marriage or make a change in your life work; if you wish to quit your job or fire a valuable employe; if you plan a divorce or decide to sever friendly relations with a neighbor—refuse to trust any decision arrived at after nightfall.

"Joy cometh in the morning." So does sanity and sound judgment.

Your life will be richer and saner if you plan it in the sunlight of morning.

Comment of the Press

Barge Line Competition.

Houston Post.

The Federal Government, through the instrumentality of the NRA, is seeking to eliminate unfair competition in private business and industry, and its efforts are to be commended. Cut-throat competition is responsible, in considerable degree, for the low level to which profits and wages have been brought in the last few years.

But why does not the Federal Government practice what it preaches about unfair competition? The Federal Government owns and operates a barge line on the Mississippi River which is an unfair competitor of the railroads. Little is heard about ending that situation.

The barge line carries freight cheaper than the railroads do. The Government compels the railroads to make a joint rail-water rate lower than the rail rate, and forces the railroads to cooperate in supplying tonnage to the barge lines. But this barge line is operated on Government capital and with Government owned equipment, and being exempt from the various charges such as interest on capital, taxes and so forth, to which the railroads are subject, it can manage to carry freight cheaper than the rail lines and show a profit on its operations.

Missouri Studies Liquor.

Kansas City Times.

How shall Missouri regulate the sale of wines and liquors after repeal? Almost every publicly uttered opinion is that the State must not permit the saloon; that it must keep the liquor business out of politics and limit or eliminate the incentive of profit in the sale. The commission is expected to study existing control systems and numerous proposals already made for this State. The character of the commission should give its recommendations much weight with the Legislature.

Eggs, $385,000,000.

Minneapolis Journal.

The hen may not be much to look at, but the eggs she lays are astoundingly numerous. Some professor, working on the relief plan, may have opened a census report accidentally at the egg statistics, and discovered that eggs sold off the farm in 1929 totaled 1,955,459,439 dozen. If the Brain Trust has not yet applied the principles of the compensated dollar or the commodity dollar to the standardized measurements, and if twelve still make a dozen, that would be 23,465,513,268 eggs. It is difficult to believe that figures so staggering have been overlooked by the men of pencil and plan.

Now, consideration is to be given to the facts that poultry production has an annual value of $647,000,000, of which chickens account for 262,000,000, egg sales for $385,000,000. The strutting turkeys roll up $47,000,000, the waddling ducks, $12,000,000 and the noisy geese, $6,000,000.

Along the Potomac

With

Carlisle Bargeron

EVERY young man just embarking upon a career in the Government, or for that matter, anywhere, should be able to get a good lesson from Dr. James M. Doran, Former Prohibition commissioner and now Commissioner of Industrial Alcohol—a lesson in adaptability.

Bargeron.

Indeed, if every one had the adaptability of the doctor, technocracy would not have created the problem for us that it has, the job of the New Deal in getting men back to work would not be as stupendous, and, in general, the great majority of us would be able to go longer in life without gray hairs.

The doctor has seen his world, the world of alcohol, so to speak, change right before his eyes almost overnight. Prohibition, the thing that had reared him, had given him a definite career, became a thing of the past, and I think I am justified in using the past tense in saying this.

• • • •

BUT did the doc throw up his hands and rush into the streets exclaiming that he had been displaced by machinery or something just as bad and that the present form of Government simply had to be changed. The good doc did not. He embraced the change with the enthusiasm of one who had been advocating repeal for ten years. Indeed, I defy you to find any difference today between his attitude and that of Mr. Alfred E. Smith; yet we know that a year ago, say, they were certainly on opposite sides of the fence.

Contrast his attitude, too, with that of Maj. Dalrymple, who came in with the New Deal as prohibition enforcement officer and, while everybody realized that the prohibition enforcement business at that time was a declining instead of a growing one, the assumption was that the major would nevertheless find a good berth somewhere.

But the major just could not adapt himself. He drank sweet milk at New Deal beer parties and although admitting that prohibition was gone, he left no doubt as to his conviction that it was a most regretful thing.

Well, the major has gone and the good doc is still here and doing just as good here as the New Deal could possibly want. The king is dead, long live the king! That's the doc's motto.

• • • •

HE has changed his environment, his interests and his friends. For all one can tell the doc has been against prohibition ever since it came in.

Now, for example, we have been reading in the papers for two or three weeks what a liquor shortage there will be when prohibition is repealed, definitely, December 5, what a situation would be created, how the existing stocks in our liquor warehouses will either have been exhausted by then or in no time thereafter, and how in the wildly advancing prices that would follow, the bootlegger and racketeer would continue to flourish.

Well, the good doc has applied the same skill to preventing that situation as he used to apply in the enforcement of the alcohol permits. And as a result, in the opinion of the doc, no such situation will obtain.

• • • •

HE has authorized all of the old-established distilleries to step up production to their maximum capacity. There had been some talk that the administration, after a numerical majority of States had ratified repeal, would do this. It has already been done with the result that there will have been 15,000,000 gallons of whisky manufactured by the time repeal comes.

There has been a lot of misunderstanding about the aging of legitimate whisky, the doc points out. Even in the old days it was only the bottled and bond stuff that had to be aged for four years. Under new heating processes, which the distilleries have acquired, this will now take only about three years.

But aside from this there will be plenty of stocks from which rectified whisky may be produced; good blended whisky which constituted most of the consumption before prohibition.

And about the prohibitive tax of which one has so frequently heard, the Internal Revenue Department has already ruled that until Congress acts it will be just $1.10 a gallon.

As Aesop would have said of the good doc 2,000 years ago: "He knows his onions."

THE OLDEST PROFESSION.

Barbering is the oldest of the professions and the youngest of the arts, says Calvin J. Ryan in the Modern Thinker. It has seen many vicissitudes. It was indirectly controlled by church and state long before it fell into the hands of the more whimsical decree of fashion, or conflicted in any way with the laws of sanitation.

It was an ancient craft before union shops were thought of, and in some Oriental countries the barber still plies his trade by the roadside, or wherever it is convenient for his patrons to sit.

Barbers were our first surgeons, first dentists and the first to make a practical application of the science of oralogy. Combined with these duties, the barber was also a specialist in phlebotomy (the operation of bloodletting), and when under Henry VIII the Company of Barbers was incorporated with the Company of Surgeons, the barbers were still permitted to draw teeth and to let blood, while the surgeons were forbidden to do any "barbery."

Friday, September 15—Scouts admitted to Ball Park, in uniform only. Ten cents Government tax.

CAMP WILSON is to remain open until September 15. Camp Wilson is still going strong with its mystic circle being formed around its triweekly campfires. Within the circle many campfire stunts are pulled off by the Scouts, many of them original and highly entertaining. Picked story tellers thrill the Scouts.

Blacksmithing and building brick walls are two pastimes requiring brain and brawn that have become very popular. The Scouts go to a blacksmith shop close by the camp property, the proprietor of which takes a great interest in boys and teaches them the various uses of a forge.

The wall builders wheel brick from a nearby brick ruin, mix the mortar, learn troweling which is a real art, break joints, build corners, &c.

A final "big day" get-together of Scouts and parents is being planned by the camp director, "Big Bill" Murray, and his staff. There will be numerous contests and an old-fashioned picnic.

Two more courts of honor and review will be held on the 2d and 9th of this month.

Camp will close a very successful season on the 15th of September.

Roosevelt.

As Camp Roosevelt closed its fifteenth season, not only financially successful, but a success in many other ways as well. In the aquatic department it was found that interest in water activities had risen a great deal. Many water tests were passed by the Scouts this summer. Advancements in water tests were as follows: Senior Red Cross life saving, 10; junior Red Cross life saving, 83; life-saving merit badge, 85; swimming merit badge, 103; first-class test, 76; Scout life guard, 28; weather merit badge, 5. The boating department also reports a successful year, as it carried out its program to make boats available to as many as possible and still keep boating safe.

The quartermaster department, that all-important branch of camp that attended to the buying, was headed by Harry M. Cutler as quartermaster and Curtis Cooper as registrar. They report that there were 1,104 Scout weeks and 510 different boys at camp this year. There were 220 staff weeks and about 30 on the staff. Seven thousand eight hundred ninety-four quarts of fresh milk were consumed and 4,507 loaves of bread were used. The camp used 1,900 pounds of sugar, 240 quarts of ice cream, 14,500 pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables and 4,675 pounds of fresh meat and chicken.

No serious casualties were reported by the medical department for 1933. The three doctors carried out a rigid tick inspection to avoid the dreaded fever.

New Units to Be Organized.

Interest is being expressed on the part of many church leaders looking forward to the organization of new scout troops and cub packs during the fall of 1933. Many scout troops also are planning to create sea scout divisions within their troops. A large number of churches already have cub packs for boys from 9 to 12 years of age and scout troops for boys from 12 years and up, but to date the All Souls' Episcopal Church, Cathedral avenue and Woodley road, is the only institution which has a cub pack and a scout troop, as well as a sea scout unit.

Any institution or any church leader who is interested in further information about any phase of the scouting program is invited to make inquiry at scout headquarters.

The last free swim of the season will be given at the McKinley Pool, Second and T streets northeast, Wednesday from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. Scouts should either wear the scout uniform or present registration cards for admission. Bring swim suit and towel.

First Aid Corps Formed.

Eight Scouts form the new first aid corps recently formed in Troop 79, conducted by the Albright Memorial Church.

The corps, made up only of Scouts who have been awarded their First Aid Merit Badge, will seek to further the knowledge of first aid in the troop. Each member of the corps has a special field to cover in the way of emergencies. The organization was formed by Frank McInturff, and is advised by E. L. Maschmeyer, Scoutmaster and Senior Red Cross First Aider; and J. E. Deitch, Assistant Scoutmaster and Red Cross First Aider. The members of this corps may be recognized by their white arm band with the troop number and a red cross within a blue circle.

Handicraft within the troop is making advancements. Work of beautifying the troop room is in progress. Martin Roudabush was recently named as handicraft director in the troop.

With all the other activities, advancement is making great strides, with Scouts from the troop going to the Court of Honor at Camp Wilson each Saturday.

The Washington Sea Scouts will have an exhibition of their various activities at the National City Fair, which opens at Benning, D. C., today. Among the exhibits will be the world's smallest full-rigged ship, Constitution, jr., built by Capt. Callan, of the Washington Sea Scouts, who is an authority on square-rigged ships. The ship was moved to the fair grounds with the cooperation of the Washington Navy Yard.

There will be a recruiting station with the exhibit, where First Class Boy Scouts who are 15 years of age may join the Sea Scout Division.

Scout Executive Linn C. Drake, accompanied by his young daughter, Miss Beth Drake, will leave Washington tomorrow for an over-Labor Day trip to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

Mrs. E. S. Corning, of the headquarters staff, returned to the office Monday after an eventful week at Chesapeake Beach, which included all the thrills of the never-to-be forgotten storm of last Wednesday week.

Walter MacPeek, educational director, will return to the office on Tuesday from a vacation which included a trip to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago.

Robert Myers, sea scout director, left last week for Camp Miquon, Brant Beach, N. J., to participate in the regional sea scout 10-day cruise.

Scouts in Forestry Projects.

"We believe that scout troops in the neighborhood of Washington, as well as all over the country will be interested in the seven-fold series of projects on forestry which are being promoted by the national nut tree planting project," Walter MacPeek, educational director of the District of Columbia Council Boy Scouts of America, said today.

A series of awards are being planned for individual scouts, as well as for patrols and troops for service in (1) gathering seeds; (2) distribution of seeds; (3) planting seeds; (4) establishing of nurseries; (5) tree planting; (6) searching for new and finer varieties of nut seeds; (7) grafting.

It is planned that some sort of a symbol shall be given in the name of Dan Beard to those who perform unusual service in the projects sponsored by the national nut tree planting committee.

Awards will be given individuals and troops gathering the largest amounts of nut seeds or a set quantity of seeds. The seeds will be held for local distribution. This project will be judged: (1) By the quantity of seeds gathered; (2) by the kind of program put on by the troops when the seeds are assembled.

A program of exchange of seeds from historic grounds between councils and troops will be sponsored by the committee and awards will be made. Units possessing seeds and desiring to exchange them for seeds from other shrines will write to the committee giving the quantity and source of the seeds they have. The committee will put them in contact with those who will exchange. Awards will be given to those carrying to completion the steps in the program, namely, gathering, exchange and planting. Eligibility: Scout leaders must send to the committee: (1) Names of persons who have participated in the program who merit awards.

Details of Awards.

Awards will be made to those planting the largest number or a specified number of nut seeds. To obtain the award the local Scout leader shall write to the committee giving the names of those participating and the number of seeds or trees planted. Awards will be made to troops sponsoring effective programs.

Awards will be made to persons establishing local historical groves where nut trees from historic grounds will be eligible for admission. The committee will cooperate in obtaining trees for the groves. They will furnish at least one tree for each grove and will supply the names of persons or troops near famous shrines who may be able to furnish trees. Although trees of national fame will be featured in the grove, the committee believes that the chief value of such a grove will be in the studying of local traditions and history and the obtaining of trees of local interest.

Awards will be made for the finest varieties of nut seeds discovered. They will be judged locally by foresters, county agents or nurserymen.

Radio Waves and Ripples

Three young ladies of radioland. Upper left, Virginia Baker, or "Ginger" or Bill and Ginger; upper right, Jean Fay, with Mark Fisher's band tonight, and lower left, Leah Ray, with the inimitable Phil Harris, also riding the waves tonight.

ETHEL BARRYMORE, Morton Downey, Bing Crosby, Willie and Eugene Howard, Jacques Renard, Ruth Etting and Raymond Paige have been signed for a series of six broadcasts over a coast-to-coast C. B. S. network starting Saturday, September 23, from 9:15 to 9:30 p. m., under the sponsorship of a big automobile company. The quarter-hour broadcasts will be maintained at the same hour for five nights, with an individual star for each program (here this should ease your fears about La Ethel and Crosby crooning, or acting something together). Bing begins the programs, Miss Barrymore comes second, Downey third, the Howards fourth and then Miss Etting. Somewhere along the lines, the bands blast in.

TONIGHT'S WHITECAPS.

7:00—Dragonette and the Cavaliers, WRC . . . 7:00—Ethel Shutta and others, WMAL . . . 8:00—So This Is Harris, WMAL . . . 9:30—Boswells, WJSV . . . 10:30—Guy Lombardo, WJSV . . . 11:30—Vincent Lopez, WMAL.

●

You've heard and heard and heard of those of the radio who have gone to the screen. Little Leah Ray, of the deep South, Suh, has reversed the order. After work in "A Bedtime Story," with Chevalier, she turned to the air in California. Now she's a big and beautiful part of "So This is Harris," WMAL tonight. And that puts us in mind of the film star here not so long ago, playing on the same bill with a radio act, and getting half the hand she thought she should have. She sneered at the stage hands one matinee that the only difference between radio songstresses and beauty parlor operators was—one puts on the wave, and the other's put on the wave.

Arthur Godfrey, the WMAL Breakfast Club man (among his other accomplishments), had a birthday yesterday. Coincident with it came his 6700th member to his recording cult.

A mention of his anniversary over the air brought forth a chocolate cake, cigarettes and telegrams, and the last we heard of it he was still getting mysterious-looking packages. Watch out, Arthur; bombs come like that, too.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson spoke into a microphone in Washington last night to 200,000 people in Detroit, and yet it wasn't a radio address. He used a mike hooked up with the telephone company that was very strongly hitched on to wires that went westward to the band and car town. There it was amplified to the satisfaction of the multitudes and the glorification of NRA.

●

That WJSV NRA eagle screamed last night. First time, 8:30, as announcement was made that the station has subscribed to the code. Inasmuch as the conductor of this column has no radio in the office, what with a fire alarm, a police call affair, a baseball loud speaker and several excellent young men constructed along the same lines, holding forth at various times during the hour, Ted Church sent us from Virginia, via telephone that triumphant scream itself. Ted didn't do the screaming. He coaxed Percy Patrick Posey, and Bod Trout did the announcing. Ted was a sort of sponsor for it. It sounded quite eaglish (as it must have to radio listeners a little later).

Waves.

K. H. Berkley and Frank M. Russell, N. B. C., Washington, in New York for a day or so.

Aunt Sue and Polly, heretofore on WRC, Wednesdays, 5:15 to 5:30, beginning Tuesday will go on five days a week, Monday through Friday, same hour.

WHO DEPARTMENT.

Who's the local radio artiste that got a whole lot accomplished with the boy friend, after she exhibited an important appearing document and told him it was from a big chain, contract et al?

Who's the lady (vetti nowarth west) who suggested it would be O. K., with her if she did have to pay a station to broadcast her daughter's voice?

Who hit Huey? Of course.

Who's the film man who 'lows Kate Smith gave him the I-don't - believe - I-remember-you business at Atlantic City, and he's one of the boys who knew her when and all that?

Bill and Ginger, C. B. S. harmony team, teamed up for long time, same sponsor beginning September 13. Program originates in Philadelphia and hits here WJSV.

Jean Fay, hailing from Louisville, but singing to you tonight with Mark Fisher, WRC, is not a colonel ahd thinks it's a distinction. (Thinks, my dear, it's positive.)

Little Johnny, of Borrah Minnevich's Rascals, calls Washington the home town.

Morton Downey is ultrareligious.

A steamship company offered Singin' Sam a de luxe suite on a free ocean voyage, during which time he could broadcast from the ship (giving the line a plug). He turned it down, preferring to go away back to his farm in Indiana.

Lee Morse, that deep-throated lady from the molasses country, will be featured in broadcasts from WBBM, in Chicago, beginning tonight. We wonder if she's still battling her piano player.

Tip—Listen for that Italian number, "Sorento," tonight. It's big.

And what's become of another one of the South's gifts to recording, Gene Austin? Seen last year, he was barnstorming rural sections with a revue, which he hauled around in trucks, playing one-night stands and making it pay.

Jane Froman, Charles Carlile and Fred Berren's Orchestra get together Monday on a beer program, "The King's Henchmen," CBS.

Girl, 19, Killed, Escort Is Shot On Rural Lane

Body Found in Cotton Field Near Dallas After Two Confess Crime.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 31 (AP).—The mistreated body of Miss Katherine Prince, 19, was found in a cotton patch, near Dallas, today by officers led to the scene by two Negroes who confessed kidnaping and killing the girl and shooting her escort, Mace Carver, 27.

Hundreds quickly gathered at the Municipal Building when it was learned the slayers had been captured. The crowd melted away later without attempting violence.

Miss Prince's face was battered, her body bore marks of brutal treatment and she had been attacked before she was shot in the head.

Carver, an ice station employe, with whom Miss Prince sat in an automobile on a sideroad, was in serious condition in a hospital with a bullet wound through the neck and another in his hand. He resisted when the Negroes ordered him to leave the girl with them.

The Negroes said they were Thurman and Bluit Burkley, brothers. Thurman Burkley told how they came upon the couple. He said Miss Prince was compelled to sit on Carver's lap while they drove several miles. Carver then was forced out of the car and shot when he hesitated.

The Negroes then drove on with Miss Prince. When they stopped, Thurman said, his brother asked him to turn the car around. That done, he said Bluit told him he had killed the girl.

Old Gramophones Given a New Job

Back in some corner of the attic or cellar of most homes is a passe gramophone, stowed there when the radio came in.

Usually this discarded gramophone is not bad to look at as a piece of furniture. It may be either cabinet or console style and have good lines and be well made.

If you want to make it a useful piece of furniture the answer is to "take its innards out." Once the machinery is removed from the inside and replaced by shelves, you have an attractive cabinet that can be used in any number of ways.

If you are a very energetic person and have a good sense of color, you can sandpaper the old finish down and apply lacquer or enamels in whatever colors tone best with the color scheme of your home. You may achieve a Chinese, Indian or modernistic effect. But if the original wood of the cabinet is a fine one such as mahogany or walnut, it might be best just to leave it in the original.

Miss Walker, John Bassett Wed Simply

Noon Service Devoid of All Pomp; Couple Leave on Canadian Trip.

The marriage of Miss Frances Estelle Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Lawrence Walker, to Mr. John Earl Bassett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bassett, took place at noon yesterday in the home of the bride's parents, at 3023 Newark street.

The Rev. George L. Farnham, of the Cleveland Park Congregational Church, officiated in the presence of the immediate families and relatives. The arrangements for the wedding were charming in their simplicity, with a profusion of gladioli, roses and palms, making an artistic setting for the wedding.

The bride wore a gown of eggshell lace designed on graceful lines with an Eton jacket of chiffon and lace. She wore a satin turban to match her gown and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. William A. Poppe, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a pink chiffon gown, with a turban to match, and carried an arm bouquet of white roses. Mr. Irving Bassett, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man.

Following the ceremony Mr. Bassett and his bride left for a wedding trip to Chicago and Canada, the bride wearing a two-piece wine-colored crepe gown with slippers and hat to match. She wore white gloves and a shoulder bouquet of white roses. They will be at home upon their return at 3220 Connecticut avenue.

Mrs. Bassett holds the District of Columbia tennis championship in doubles for 1933 with Mrs. Charles P. Stone.

He is a graduate of the George Washington University Law School and is a member of the District of Columbia Bar Association.

Alice Darby Is Married to W. C. M'Keever

Newlyweds Start New England Tour; Will Reside in Battery Park.

The wedding of Miss Alice Antoinette Darby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edwin Darby, Boyds, Md., took place yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Poolesville Methodist Episcopal Church South.

The Rev. W. W. McIntyre, Washington, officiated. The church was decorated with ferns and cut flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown of white mousseline de soie over ivory taffeta. A veil of tulle was caught into a cap of real lace. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses, lilies of the valley and white sweet peas.

Miss H. Virginia Thomas, Frederick, Md., was the maid of honor. Her frock was of pansy petal blue crepe with salmon colored accessories. She carried a bouquet of blended roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Currie Nourse, Dawsonville, Md., and Miss Edith McCulloch, Colesville, Md. Their frocks were of pansy petal blue crepe with lavender accessories and they carried bouquets of blended roses.

Mr. John Hanson Mitchell, jr., acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. J. Riggs Darby, brother of the bride Mr. Edwin Noyes and Mr. William Darby.

Mr. Robert Ballard sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning."

Mrs. Darby, mother of the bride, wore a gown of pearl gray triple sheer crepe and lace, with accessories of eel gray. Mrs. McKeever, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of black and white chiffon with black accessories.

Mr. McKeever and his bride left after the ceremony by motor for New England. Mrs. McKeever's traveling costume was of brown crepe with brown accessories. Upon their return they will make their home at 9 Wilson Lane, Battery Park, Md.

Miss Ruth Bitting Engaged to Ensign

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Newkirk Bitting announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ruth Newkirk Bitting, to Ensign William Baumert Braun, son of Mrs. Edward Braun, Newark, N. J. The wedding will take place in the early autumn on the West Coast in the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Ensign and Mrs. Francis T. Williamson. The latter was formerly Miss Eleanor Northway Bitting.

Miss Bitting is a graduate of McKinley High School and is studying journalism. Ensign Braun was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1931.

Old Trunks Hide "Latest" Fashions

Now that the spirit of the 90's has returned in leg-o'-mutton sleeves, wide-shouldered frocks and a return of some of that gay "fuss and feathers" spirit, it may be that a little rummaging among the family relics will be more than repaid.

Of course, most old clothes are discarded or given away, but the exceptions are always lovely things, such as a favorite evening dress or wrap, embroideries or laces, ostrich plumes or perhaps bird of paradise feathers, all very expensive, perhaps evoking the happiest of memories, and certainly of no use to the needy.

The styles of the coming winter are going to be more formal, more graceful in some ways than they have been for years. Perhaps if you rummage through some of grandmother's packed away belongings (if she'll let you), you may be rewarded by finding some exquisite pearl embroidery, a priceless egret plume, or a bit of delicate Valenciennes that will give distinction to your winter wardrobe. If you are very lucky, you may find one of those very full and beribboned little shoulder capes affected by the belles of 1900, which would be the perfect complement to a smart 1933 dinner or theater frock.

Front Royal Girl To Wed Minister

Front Royal, Va., Aug. 31 (Spl.).—Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Simpson Clayton, Ashland, Va., to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alma Clayton, to the Rev. T. Eugene West, at the Baptist Church of Ashland, September 15, at 8:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. West is pastor of the Front Royal Baptist Church and formerly was pastor of the Baptist Church of Ashland. After a wedding trip of about two weeks, the Rev. and Mrs. West will occupy the church parsonage here.

Explorer to Wed Partner's Sister

London, Aug. 31 (AP).—Announcement was made today of the engagement of James Maurice Scott, Arctic explorer, and Miss Pemela Mary Watkins, sister of H. G. Watkins, who lost his life on an Arctic expedition in which Scott participated.

Scott was dog team driver for the British Arctic Air Route expedition of 1930-31, which was led by Watkins.

Matilda Day, Ralph Straus Are Married in New York

Ceremony Engages Interest Here; Honeymoon Abroad.

A wedding of wide interest was that of Miss Matilda Bradford Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Huntington Day, of New York, who became the bride of Mr. Ralph I. Straus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy S. Straus, at All Saints' Chapel, Kidder-on-Cayuga Lake, N. Y., yesterday. The ceremony was performed by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Dr. J. Ross Stevenson, and was followed by a reception at Lawara Farm, Interlaken, N. Y., the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. B. Elliott.

Miss Katherine H. Day was her sister's maid of honor and the other bridal attendants were Miss Nan Hall and Mrs. James M. Thompson, New York; Miss Jane Halle, Cleveland, and Miss Jane Righter, Helena, Ark.

The best man was Mr. John C. Williams 2d, and the ushers were Mr. Theodore D. Day, Mr. Huntington T. Day, Mr. Donald B. Straus and Mr. Percy S. Straus, jr., Mr. Richard Weil, Mr. Howard Clark, Mr. Edward K. Straus and Mr. Lawrence Morris, all of New York.

After a wedding trip abroad, Mr. and Mrs. Straus will live at 115 East Eighty-sixth street, New York.

Miss Day is a direct descendant of Gov. Bradford of Massachusetts. Her grandmother was a member of the Leverich family, of Long Island. On her paternal side she comes of the English family of Day, of Buckinghamshire.

Mr. Straus is a nephew of the United States Ambassador to France, Mr. Jesse Isidor Straus, and a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isador Straus.

Mr. Straus is a graduate of Harvard University, class of 1925, and of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He is a member of the Harvard Club, New York.

Bird Baths Featured at M St. Shop

Now Comes a Combination Egg, Cooking and Baking Timer.

By Ruth Anne Davis.

The birds will soon be traveling South. They'll be passing overhead in gray swarms talking among themselves, saying, "Who lives there? We know! We know!"

Hang out a welcome sing. No. Paint "Hello and good by!" across your roof? No! Well, at least show your spirit of hospitality by putting up a bird bath in your garden. Think what fun you'll have watching the winged travelers stop over for a splatter or two and think what fun they'll have enjoying a real bath. A shop on M street is selling some of the most attractive you ever saw, made of marble dust, from $6 up.

There are "old-timers," odd-timers, but now there's a unique egg-timer, plus cooking and baking timer. It looks something like a rounded oblong placard with one of the three-minute sand glasses fastened on the bottom to help you keep tab on the egg. At the top is the face of clock with adjustable hands. You put those at the hour, even to the minute, you want to remove your roast or whatever it is, and they remain your constant reminder. Here's something new that will give you a lot of service and only cost you 15 cents.

Whether it pays to look, or you pay for looking, is the question. In this instance it might be both. Maybe for a long time you've wanted to buy him one of those leather toilet cases but couldn't afford the price? Wait'll you hear about these. They're both black leather. One, containing comb, brush, tweezers and nail file, is 98 cents. Another, somewhat larger, containing comb, brush, tooth brush case, razor box and soap box, is $1.49.

Lavendar—there's something about the sound of the name and there's something about the scent of the essence that makes the hardest of us feel sentimental shivers. A downtown store has quaint, woven straw covered bottles of old lavendar water priced well within reach. There are all sizes, ranging from 75 cents to $3.50.

She looked at her nails and felt decidedly discouraged. They were nicely shaped and well groomed, but they were the wrong color, with a dull finish. She had tried polish after polish, shade after shade, but none of them seemed to be the one she wanted. She had a horror of glaring red nails, or even the purplish pink ones. She didn't want that faded looking, supposedly natural, color. She wanted something, colorful enough, but not too much so, something that would blend in well with the tone of her skin.

Call her picayunish if you like, or hard to please, but it paid. She finally has found exactly what she wanted. An F street store has only had it in a short while, so you might go by and inquire about it.

As long as there's so much match-making going on this season, you might as well do your part. When you fix over your bedroom, or daughter's, or the guest bedroom, don't buy the bed table and lamp until you've seen the ones that match, which a downtown furniture store is showing. They come in ivory, green or orchid, with the same vinelike design on both table and lamp.

Advice to the Lovelorn.

A compact labeled is a compact kept. When you leave yours in somebody's car, or at somebody's house, you are likely never to see it again. Whereas, if you have done the smart thing, smart from the point of style and wisdom, you will have had your initials monogrammed on it in delightful little silver letters. In this way when the finder sees it he will say: "Oh, yes, this belongs to So and So!" And he'll call you up. Bring your gift of gab to the fore, and who knows, another date might come of the phone call. Next time you can leave it again. Monogrammed compacts, 65 cents.

It's a rumor no more; it's the truth. You can buy typewriter ribbons priced regularly for $1 at this store for 75 cents. Isn't this good news in face of all the "Prices going up!" ads we read?

Table runners used to have an individuality all their own, but now they're regular copy cats. Not content with being simply what they were, and pretending to naught else, they're spreading themselves in rug fashion. You should see those at a downtown store. They're made of rug material, have Persian rug designs, but they're still table runners. And the fact is they're quite attractive. Priced all the way from 15 cents to 79 cents.

Don't listen any longer to complaints about those uncomfortable dinette chairs. Go down town right now and buy some of those oil-cloth cushions with the attachable back pads. Only 45 cents.

Call Ruth Anne Davis, of the Woman's Department of The Washington Post, National 4205, Extension 105, for further information. Or write, inclosing a stamped, addressed envelope.

Velvet With Fur Shows Trend Toward Elegance

Velvet, trimmed with fur! Could anything more clearly emphasize the decided trend toward elegance manifest in fashions for fall? The suit for formal afternoon wear is worn with a blouse of gold-shot tissue and a huge muff of monkey fur. Ermine tails define the crossed lines of the two scarf ends that are tossed back to cover the shoulders and form a square collar at the back of the flattering gown.

Tree Inspires Expert, Bark Crepe Results

Fabric That Found Origin in America Meets Favor Abroad.

Paris, (U.P.).—Before designing this season's fabrics, Pierre Besson, of Chatillon, Mouly, Roussel, went out and took a walk to investigate the tree bark.

Just what had this to do with fabrics? A great deal, because he went back to his shop and produced a crepe material that looks so much like tree bark that Schiaparelli has named it that in her collection, and when you get into a frock made of it you expect to sprout in any direction.

The fabric house mentioned above was the first one over here to produce the lastex wools that have been going so strong. Incidentally, this idea came from America, and even the French admit it's good.

Among other elastic fabrics to be found this winter are a number of jerseys, baptized zouka, zoulix and zouangor, all of which look something like tweeds, or hand-knitted things.

As for colors, the deep reddish browns, prunes (off purple tones) and fine moss and old English ivy greens.

The old-fashioned heavy failles and taffetas and brocaded silks and satins are lusciously trimmed with bows and ruchings of velvet, ribbon and even organdie (Chanel) and make us feel as rich as Croesus.

What Today Means

"Virgo."

If September 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 12:10 p. m., from 5 to 6:15 p. m. and from 8 to 8:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:45 to 10:15 a. m. and from 3 to 4:15 p. m.

It is possible that you will have a great disappointment on this day. Something that you have been anticipating for a long time may fail to make an appearance or else make itself felt in an unlooked for and unpleasant manner. Those suffering from serious nervous disorders will probably feel more than usually depressed on this day; those recuperating from operations will get along splendidly.

The child born on this September 1 will more than likely be a thoroughly reliable little person. His earliest years will give no index of what may be expected of him after reaching his majority. He will probably be unresponsive and listless at school, will not get good marks and will be a rather dull person. In his late teens you will find him perking up and from then on rapid progress will be noticed.

If September 1 is the date of your birth, you are more than likely a person who likes to be up to the minute in everything. If you are a woman, you are probably very fussy about your clothes. You like to keep up with the styles, and if you are so fixed, you enjoy setting them in so far as possible. You are quite the social person, your name more than likely stands for something socially in your community and you like to have people feel impressed by your importance. You are inclined to be haughty, sometimes domineering. If you are a man, you probably dress immaculately. You have good taste in clothes, even though at times you give the impression of playing the dandy. Both sexes like to entertain, most generally in their own homes. Their gatherings, usually very formal, tend to have a rather somber atmosphere.

Born on September 1, you are very probably a systematic person in all that you do. In business, things must be done just so; you probably fuss a good deal over details, often to the neglect of more important thinks. Your employes or subordinates respect you, but fear you at the same time. You are inclined to "ride" them. You are an honest person, you do not employ devious means to gain your point and people usually know where they stand with you. Love will play a minor part in your life.

The Family Marketer

Public Is Eagerly Awaiting Return of Oysters to Markets.

It's finally here, a month with an "r," but where, oh where, are the oysters? They're sleeping soundly in their watery beds and refuse to be awakened. When they're pried loose and brought into the market to sell for 50 cents a quart they'll find the public awaiting them.

And will we make it hot for them! We'll fry them, and stew them, and even scallop them after the following fashion:

Four cups fine soft bread crumbs, 1-4 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, dash of paprika, 1-2 cup melted butter, 1 pint oysters, drained, 1-3 cup oyster liquor, 1-2 cup top milk.

Combine bread crumbs, salt, pepper and paprika. Add butter, tossing lightly to mix well. Sprinkle 1-3 of crumbs in bottom of greased baking dish. Arrange half of oysters on crumbs. Sprinkle second third of crumbs over oysters. Add remaining oysters. Combine oyster liquor and milk and pour over oysters. Top with remaining crumbs and sprinkle lightly with paprika. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees fahrenheit) 30 minutes. Serves eight.

Other Sea Food Here.

But we should worry! There's a wide variety of other fish to choose from.

There are trout and trout, large sea trout, small river trout, selling for 15 cents and 20 cents a pound, respectively. There are croakers, 10 cents a pound; butterfish, 15 cents a pound, and Norfolk spots, 15 cents. Any of these have a yen for the frying pan.

And as for baking, or broiling the sea trout, of course, the bluefish, 20 cents a pound; Eastern salmon, 25 cents a pound, or coast halibut, 22 cents a pound, and Boston mackerel, 15 cents a pound. You'll notice a slightly higher range of prices in the case of most fish, due to the late weather conditions.

Crab Flakes Down.

In compensation, however, crab flakes are down again. You can buy them today for 35 cents and 50 cents.

With your fish dinner, why not serve cabbage prepared with cheese and bread crumbs? You need four cups cooked cabbage, cut in small pieces, 2-3 cup grated American cheese, 2 cups hot white sauce, ½ cup buttered bread crumbs.

Prepare by putting cabbage in greased casserole. Add cheese to white sauce and stir until melted. Pour over the cabbage. Sprinkle with bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes, or until brown. Serves six.

For your other vegetable have Irish potatoes. And, incidentally, did you know that in this regard we're still paying for the drought down South last spring? This year you pay 25 cents for six pounds of potatoes, whereas a year ago you bought ten pounds for the same amount. They probably will maintain their present price until November, when the fall crop is due to arrive.

Now's the Time.

For the next two weeks it might be an excellent idea to serve corn this, that and the other way. Dig out the recipe books and prepare it ever way you can think of, for at the end of the stated length of time you're going to see a jump in prices. Right now it's as low as it's going to be, according to market reports. You can buy two ears for 5 cents or six for 15 cents.

Another vegetable which is not only cheap now, but in first-class quality, is the interesting looking yellow squash. It's 5 cents a pound, and a pound is a good start. Try some of these golden crook-necked morsels sauteed.

Do it this way: Slice vegetable. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dip in flour if desired. Place in hot skillet in small amount of melted fat, only enough to keep from sticking. Cook until tender, turning often to brown evenly. Serve garnished with parsley.

Pork is usually unpopular during the summer, but due to the cool spell you might be interested to hear that it's fairly cheap today. You can buy a roast for 18 cents a pound, or chops for 22 cents.

Burlap, Boxes, Rocks and Trees Make Vacation Home for Girls

The eternal feminine!

Is it to find, furnish and maintain a home?

The achievement of three little Washington school girls at play offers rich material for speculation.

Working since June with burlap and boxes, tin cans and rocks, flowers and trees, Louise Lentz, Edith Cohen and Dorothy Sorrell have brought into being a five-room tree house on a vacant lot near their apartment home at 4700 Connecticut avenue.

Have you seen the joy and pride of a new bride in her home? Have you noticed her gentleness in even touching those precious articles which make a house a home? These children showed the same enthusiasm as they pointed out what was to them its crowning glories.

The bungalow is a locust grove. Its tree trunks form both the outer and inner dividing walls. The ceiling and the roof are the foliage overhead. The floors in some rooms are of hard packed earth; in others of grass.

The approach is up a slight incline by means of steps cut into the clay. The lawn is bordered with flowers and there are several beds of flags with an occasional spruce tree.

The living room boasts an indoor fish pond, bordered with ferns. The house has a library with neat wooden shelves for magazines and books. There is a water system in the kitchen, comprised of two large tin cans.

The house is as private as can be and is almost hidden in its own leafy walls. The owners spend the greater part of their days in the bungalow, even bringing their lunches.

Louise, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Bernard Lentz, and Dorothy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sorrell, are students at the Alice Deal Junior High School. Edith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Cohen, Lyon Park, and is a student at Gordon Junior High.

"Best Dressed" Woman Here Defies Choice

Many Stand Out in Swirl of Contention; Simplicity Predominates.

Who is Washington's best dressed woman?

What a terrific amount of argument this little question can engender!

Out of the swirl of contention, one gathers the idea that beautiful Mme. Nano, of the Roumanian Legation, makes the average mannequin look like a frump, that Mrs. Fred Britten's exquisite taste drives the Parisian haute couture to topnotch efforts each season in order to suit her; that Lady Lindsay, wife of the British Ambassador, has the knack of dressing with exact suitability to the occasion, never with a touch too much for the daytime nor the slightest lack of the ultimate in elegance, for the evening.

There Are Others, Too.

In the heated tea-cup debate ensuing on this subject, too, one hears voices stoutly mentioning that petite elegante, Mrs. Ormond Lawson-Johnson, the former Mrs. Lyman Kendall, or Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, wife of the United States Minister to Canada, who always looks as though she had stepped from one of the smarter fashion magazines. Invariably a voice raises itself to say: "Well, no one ever wore clothes like the Baroness de Cartier."

But, after all, these last three ladies shouldn't count in the present debate, since Mrs. Robbins left Washington a few months ago, while the supersmart Mrs. Lawson-Johnson left a couple of years ago to make her home in London. Even a bit farther back dates the departure of the Baroness de Cartier, who, as wife of the Belgian Ambassador, enlivened a White House dinner by refusing to be squired to the table by the German Ambassador.

Just a Beginning.

This is just a beginning. Determined voices promptly put forward the indubitable claims of Mrs. Peter Q. Nyce and Mrs. Hugo Rennert, both very luv-lee ladies of residential society, to the title of the Capital's best dressed woman. Their costumes always represent the last word in fashion together with that "choosiness" and elimination of any detail not exactly suited to the ensemble, that spells real smartness.

So the choice of "best dressed woman," so far as the Capital is concerned, is more than difficult to make. In fact, it is practically impossible.

But among the very best dressed women is certainly Mme. Nano. This beautiful Roumanian has a gift for selecting the clothes that best accent her Titian-haired good looks. She has the Parisienne's favoritism for black or black with white for evening. She knows that a gown is a setting for its wearer, not something to be worn for itself with the wearer playing the part of a mere clothes-horse.

Her Gowns Are Original.

You never fail to notice Mme. Nano's gowns for their original and advanced cut and draping. Seldom does she affect any ornament and, if she does, it accents rather than distracts from the costume line. At that, you notice Mme. Nano before you analyze her gown. Which is certainly the last word in couture.

Mrs. Fred Britten, wife of the most fiery "Big Navy" man in Congress, is another type of charmingly well-dressed woman. A vivacious dark-eyed person, she goes strongly for Parisian originals. Her taste is discriminating, appreciative of subtleties of cut, cleverness in decorative treatment. Her dark hair and high coloring make it possible for her to wear clear, bright colors and touches of diamante and the like as an accentuation of her personality.

Lady Lindsay Likes Simplicity.

The impeccable taste of Lady Lindsay, wife of the British Ambassador, ranks her high in any consideration of the Capital's best dressed woman.

Lady Lindsay's daytime costumes always lean strongly to the side of simplicity, not to say the sports genre. Even in her afternoon costumes she is careful to preserve the utmost elimination of detail. The effect is one of tailored formality, very restful and attractive as well as smart. For evening—well, that is another story, in the British Kipling's words.

After all, Lady Lindsay is the wife of the British Ambassador and her evening ensembles properly express the last word in restrained elegance. They lean to pastel color, shimmering fabrics such as satin and velvet, and a very subtle handling of any gleaming decorative treatment implied in beaded or gemmed embroideries or insets of metallic fabric. They demonstrate that stateliness and smartness may blend in the most enviable of grande dame evening gown impressions.

Sonnet.

By Katherine W. Smith.

Sometimes upon my hands I wear my love
Like gloves that fit me well, and dare to touch
Your eyelids with my fingers, hope that such
A simple thing will soothe. Or, when above
Your lips my own might hover, brush your face
And frail, cool kisses fall upon your hair
So softly, it is then that I would wear
My love upon my lips. If I should place
Within my eyes this love, then you would see
Their luster dimmed with tears of tenderness,
While mingling with your own in mute caress.
We need no words. But if, with ecstasy,
I find within my heart this love, although
The stifling kills it, you shall never know.

What's in Fashion?

College Men Vote for More Masculine Clothes

Directed by Amos Parrish.

Information as to where fashions of the type illustrated and their variations are available in Washington will be given by the Fashion Department, Washington Post, on request.

Go right down the line of a college man's wardrobe this fall. You'll find the day of the collegiate smoothy is over—and the day for he-man styles is on the come. In fact, just about everything he owns from his hat to his shoes will reflect this determination to dress more masculinely.

His head-gear almost certainly will be a snap-brim. Probably with a raw edge. Occasionally with a silk-bound or welt edge. The kind of hat that's sturdy enough to take wind-and-water punishment—that gets slapped on and thrown off plenty—and can take it.

Homburgs Snap Down.

Among Princeton and Yale men there'll be more wearing of the snap-brim Homburg—the same top piece as the old-type Homburg with curled, silk-bound brim, but this time with its front snapped down.

The average college man you'll meet this year will still conform to the two-button, single-breasted notch-lapel suit tradition. But his shoulders will be bigger and roomier—less padded than formerly. Not so numerous but more seen than ever will be the double-breasted wearers because they find in that model a loungy, comfortable coat with a club look.

Fabrics Outdoorish, Patternful.

While a good proportion will take their fall suits in unfinished worsteds, these collegians are taking to the outdoorish, he-man cheviots and shetlands—some of them even going in for Harris tweeds. You'll find, too, that, like the typically well-dressed business man, collegians are getting away from plain, patternless clothes and moving closer to neat-looking checks, stripes, herringbones and plaids. Always the modified variety. And wearable—all of them.

Shirts, Ties, Socks in Trend.

The same thing goes for college shirts. Most of them are still plain white—but more than ever are patterned—in fine stripes usually. Next to white, blues are the ranking college shirt shade—usually in broadcloth and porous oxford cloth.

If you're on either the giving or receiving end of a college man's tie, it'll be a small, all-over pattern—with a trend toward larger, bolder figures and stripes. A lot of college ties will be knitted (knitted ones have an unmistakably masculine manner).

By far the greater number of university men will have their socks clocked or striped. Or in argyle plaid. Especially in wool, which lends itself so well to patterning. And—for the same simple reason that they're patternful and comfortable and outdoors-looking—the wing-tip and the semibrogue straight-tipped shoe will be a good college model.

College Outfit Leaflet.

You'll notice that this year's college men, for all their reputation for gaudiness, will not sacrifice neatness and wearableness in following this trend toward masculinity in men's wear. But it would be a good idea for any college man to send for the leaflet we've prepared—"What's a Good Wardrobe for a College Man?" All you need do is send the coupon.

Amos Parrish,

Club Leader Lauds Women

Dr. Coale Approves Their Place in Business.

The increasing importance of women in the business world was expressed in a talk last night over WMAL by Dr. Edith SeVille Coale, president of the Washington Zonta Club. Dr. Coale spoke on the community forum hour, operated under the auspices of the Community Chest and Station WMAL. She was introduced by Elwood Street, director of the Community Chest.

Mr. Street paid high tribute to Dr. Coale's ability, citing her wide variety of affiliations, including fellowships of the American Medical Association of Vienna and the American Medical Association and membership in other national and local medical societies.

Dr. Coale stated that Zonta International is now an organization of 113 clubs with world-wide affiliations.

Stressing women's place in affairs of today, she cited the examples of Amelia Earhart, Frances Perkins, Ruth Bryan Owen, Eleanor Roosevelt and Lillian Johns Cross, who grabbed Zangara's arm at Miami in time to deflect the assassin's bullet and spare President Roosevelt for his work today.

The speaker stressed the interest of the club in civic affairs concerning Washington, stating it contributes to the Community Chest.

Oyster Fritters.

1½ cups oysters
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Chop the oysters. Make a batter of the eggs, milk, flour, baking powder and salt. Stir the oysters into the batter and drop by spoonfuls into deep hot fat (360-370 degrees F.).

Teachers Told How to Be Good

Cincinnati, Aug. 31 (AP).—Rules for being a good teacher, as promulgated by Dr. C. R. Campbell, president of the Hamilton County Board of Education, before a county teachers' institute:

"Read detective stories.
"Own movie cameras.
"Own radios.
"Read 12 goods books a year.
"Keep a close mouth.
"Attend community dances.
"Use the rod in front of other pupils, but only rarely."

The idea, he said, is to get a youthful viewpoint and stick to it.

Gives Birth to Four!

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Selika, a lioness at the World's Fair, gave birth to four cubs, the first two of which were named Century and Progress.

Plain Work Is Held Best Beauty Help

Idle Boredom Lines Face; Active Life Will Bring Shapely Body.

An important first-aid to beauty is work!

No woman whose mind is not actively occupied can be beautiful. More feminine faces are traced with lines around the mouth and eyes because of a peevish lack of occupation than from all the overwork with which this woman's world is laden.

The busy woman, whose mental faculties are occupied, will have an alertness which, combined with care and caution as to her better points, can not fail to make an attractive woman of her.

Then, clear eyes, shiny hair, white teeth and unblemished skin are not unattainable gifts. They, like work, are within the reach of every woman. They are a natural heritage of a healthy race and if women can only decide they want them and will forsake those things that militate against them, their acquisition is simply a matter of time, plus Spartan fortitude.

Shapely Body Possible.

A scrawny figure can be built into a shapely body, with right food and proper exercise. Thin, spindle legs can be trained into perfect limbs.

Fight against natural indolence; sacrifice late parties, that is, too many of them; pass by inviting pastries, after-dinner coffee, the second cocktail. Brush you hair diligently; cleanse the skin religiously; brush the teeth vigorously. Visit the doctor and dentist regularly.

Sleep Eight Hours.

Eight hours of sleep each night is probably the first, most essential plank in a beauty-building program. Another iron-clad rule is to eat sparingly always, but of nutritious foods. Quantities of liquids must be consumed, preferably between meals.

Milk is a magic beauty potion. Large amounts of it must be taken daily by every woman who wants vitality and sparkle. Milk is to be drunk in addition to other foods and other liquids. It is a marvelous corrective for the woman who is underweight, when taken in addition to the regular diet. For the woman who is overweight, it is a perfect substitute for rich, fattening foods. With milk as a basic article of diet, she can safely venture on a diet from which every fattening food has been deleted.

Bottle Search Has Its Humor

Castaways of Childhood Days Draw Fancy Prices.

One of the cleverest women we know said the other day:

"Just to think that so many of us are running around now and collecting old vinegar bottles, old whisky bottles, old pickle bottles and what we call early American pressed glass that our ancestors regarded as very cheap and trashy stuff. The other day a dealer had the nerve to ask me $5 for a glass 'setting hen,' which I well remember was of the sort that cost fully 10 cents when I was a child.

"The point I am trying to make is that some of the things now being collected are essentially cheap and inferior and, despite the prices paid for them, will never be anything else.

"I wonder if, 40 or 50 years from now, people will be collecting 1930 glass, for instance. If they are, just think of the really beautiful and inexpensive glass we now take for granted, that will begin to take its place as collectors' pieces.

"So many people now ride all over the countryside to the various little antique shops and take home as a prize some old bottle that your Aunt Melinda wouldn't have permitted to stand in a corner of her cellar. Our great-great-great-grandchildren may, with far better reason, unearth one of the lovely crystal perfume bottles that we toss away when they are emptied.

"I've often wondered if it wouldn't be a good idea to put away the containers of those $5 to $25 bottles of perfume that we now use, in some corner of the attic and let them lie there pending the time when they'll become really beautiful antiques."

An idea, isn't it?"

Dr. Van Royen, Envoy to U. S., Dies at Hague

Dutch Minister Survived by Widow and Two Sons; Married American.

Death ended the 36-year-old diplomatic career of Dr. J. H. van Royen, Minister to the United States from The Netherlands since March, 1927, at his summer home at The Hague yesterday.

With Mme. van Royen, the minister left Washington several weeks ago for a holiday at his villa. They had planned to return to Washington in October.

Dr. van Royen was 62 years old. He began his diplomatic career in 1897. After serving as an attache in Berlin he was sent to Washington as legation secretary. Before succeeding Dr. A. C. de Graff as minister here, Dr. van Royen held similar posts at Tokyo, Madrid and Rome.

It was while in Washington as legation secretary that Dr. van Royen married Albertina T. Winthrop, daughter of the late Robert Winthrop, of Boston, and sister of Beekman Winthrop, Assistant Secretary of the Navy during the Taft administration.

Surviving Dr. van Royen are his widow and two sons, Robert Dudlen, a law student in The Netherlands, and Jan Herman, jr., who is in the Dutch diplomatic service and who recently was attached to the legation here.

Dr. van Royen was a member of the Metropolitan Club, the Chevy Chase and Racquet Clubs here, the St. James in London and the Plaats Royal de la Haye at The Hague.

Rev. H. P. White Rites Set Today

Fort Myer Guard to Fire Salute at Grave for War Chaplain.

The Rev. Henry P. White, S. J., assistant pastor of Holy Trinity Church, who died Tuesday, will be buried today in the cemetery at Georgetown University.

Dr. Coleman Nevils, university president, will officiate at the service at 8 o'clock in Dahlgren Chapel and a military guard from Fort Myer will fire a salute at the grave. The priest was World War chaplain of the 127th Infantry.

Honorary pallbearers will be members of the St. Vincent de Paul Society of Holy Trinity Church—J. Hadley Doyle, George E. Potter, John G. Bowen, Joseph Westlein, William A. Welch, John P. Jenkins, Leo A. Codd, Arthur T. Farquhar and John T. Gartland.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, a daughter and three grandchildren. They are Col. Martson Drake, of Plandome, L. I.; James H. Drake, of Manhassett, L. I.; Mrs. Marian D. Parsons, of Bayside, and James R., Sally R. and Jacqueline Drake.

Col. Richard Coiner Succumbs in Panama

Col. Richard T. Coiner, U. S. A., Engineers, died in the Gorgas Hospital, Canal Zone, Wednesday, it was announced yesterday at the War Department.

Col. Coiner was a native of Mount Pleasant, Iowa. He was born December 21, 1882, being graduated from the Military Academy in 1908. He served as district engineer in various parts of the country. In 1927-28 he was on duty in the office of the Chief of Engineers here and had been in the Canal Zone since. He is survived by his widow. At the request of Mrs. Coiner, burial will be at West Point.

Private at War College Expires at Walter Reed

Private Irvin Masincup, U. S. A., 25, stationed at the Army War College, died Wednesday at Walter Reed Hospital of heart trouble, following an operation for appendicitis.

He was born in Roanoke, and is survived by his wife, father and mother; three sisters, Catherine, Thelma and Gertrude, and one one brother, Fred, all living in Roanoke. Funeral services will be at the Tabler funeral home, 928 M street, 11 a. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Arlingotn National Cemetery.

Mrs. Redman's Rites Will Be Held Today

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today for Mrs. Lura K. Redman, 75, who died of heart disease yesterday at her home, 1405 Girard street northwest. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Redman was the wife of Nicholas T. Redman, merchandise broker.

Mrs. Redman was born in King George County, Va. Her first husband was George W. Henderson.

Besides Mr. Redman, two sons, Irving J. and Everett H. Henderson, survive.

Lieut. Col. Erlenkotter Will Be Interred Today

Funeral services for Lieut. Col. Herman Erlenkotter, Field Artillery, U. S. A., will be held in Arlington National Cemetery this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Chaplain Frank L. Miller will officiate. Army officers will act as honorary pallbearers.

Col. Erlenkotter is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eleanor Erlenkotter, and three sons. The eldest son, Robert, is a cadet at the United States Military Academy.

Where Strike Riot Killed Two in Philadelphia

When more than 2,000 strike pickets mobbed this truck and dumped it over near the Cambria Hosiery Mills in Philadelphia, a riot broke out and lasted an hour. The strikers battled 200 police and two pickets were killed. Eighteen persons were injured.

Democrat Club Conclave Firm For Party Plans

Farley Tells Young Wing Repeal to Greatly Aid Recovery Drive.

Kansas City, Aug. 31 (AP).—The solid backing of President Roosevelt in his recovery program was voiced at the opening session of the first convention of the Young Democratc Club of America here today.

"Jim" Farley, generalissimo of the Rooseveltian forces at the Chicago convention, predicted early repeal of prohibition, and asserted it "will mean much to the accomplishment of the recovery program." The Postmaster General brought personal greetings from the President.

"He is deeply sensitive of your loyalty and your friendship," Farley said.

Dedicates Postoffice.

Farley's address was his second of the day. Previously he had dedicated Kansas City's new postoffice.

"The youth of America today are the soldiers in the trenches, the crusaders in the air and the navigators on newly discovered seas," Farley told the delegates. "They compose the army behind the experienced leadership that has formulated the plans. Their vast numbers are sufficient to win the victory by themselves. Joined with their elders, nothing can stop the momentum created by the resultant unity of cooperation."

When Gov. Guy B. Park of Missouri, making the welcoming address, lauded President Roosevelt as the "champion of the forgotten man," the delegates rose and yelled.

Tyre Taylor, of Raleigh, N. C., called the convention to order. It was announced after a roll call that 30 States were represented.

Mrs. Ross Appraises Event.

Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, director of the United States Mint, is looked upon as "dean" of the women attending the convention.

"I regard the convention as one of the most significant events in modern Democratic history," Mrs. Ross said. "We seasoned workers in the party have no way of estimating what this powerful young people's organization is going to mean to the future."

Shifting to the recovery program, Mrs. Ross said:

"The NRA has the most stupendous possibilities of human service of anything promoted in this country for years."

Maurice Schwartz Falls Dead in Yard

Maurice Schwartz, 503 Four-and-a-half street southwest, for 31 years a furniture dealer here, died suddenly yesterday from a heart attack while in the rear yard of his home. He was taken to Emergency Hospital in a Fire Rescue Squad ambulance, where he was pronounced dead. He was 58 years old.

Mr. Schwartz Came to Washington from Russia with his wife and entered the furniture business, which he continued until his death.

Funeral services will be held at his home at noon today, and burial will be in the E Street Synagogue Cemetery. Mr. Schwartz leaves three sons, Max, Jacob and Isadore; five daughters, Mrs. Hyman Mirman, Mrs. Moris Ehrlich, Sarah, Lillie and Fannny; his widow, Mrs. Molly Schwartz; and several grandchildren.

"Jimmy" Walker's Baby Hopes Dim

Illness of Wife Reported to Have Frustrated Stork's Visit.

Cannes, France, Aug. 31 (AP).—A close friend of former Mayor James J. Walker said today that, contrary to reports, the Walkers were not expecting a child.

Their hopes, this friend asserted, were frustrated when Mrs. Walker suffered a severe illness recently.

Mrs. Walker, who often expressed a desire to have children, has been despondent since the illness, the friend said.

Bishop J. Dunn Taken by Death

Heart Disease Fatal to Famous Churchman on Vacation.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—The Most Rev. John J. Dunn, auxiliary Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of New York since 1921, died today of heart disease. He would have been 64 tomorrow.

The bishop, termed by associates the "right hand of Cardinal Hayes," became ill yesterday while on a vacation at the Convent of Mount St. Mary, Newburgh, N. Y. A few hours later he was brought to a hospital here.

A native of New York City, he had been a priest since 1896. He organized, in 1904, the diocese's branch of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, a mission organization. For 15 years he was New York director of the society, and was credited with raising more than $2,000,000 for Catholic foreign missions. He was the first New York priest to become a member of the Knights of Columbus.

In 1918, he received a letter from the Pope commending his work for the church.

Miss Colbert, Better, May Play Hawaii Role

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 31 (AP). Claudette Colbert, film star, who underwent an operation for appendicitis last Friday just as she was to embark on a location trip to Hawaii, may play the role after all, her studio announced today.

Making what her physician, Dr. Samuel Hirschfield pronounced "an almost miraculous recovery," Miss Colbert was said to be determined to leave on the Malolo when it sails Saturday.

Roosevelt's Son Sails From Europe for Home

Paris, Aug. 31 (AP).—Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., after a "wonderful time" during his six weks' vacation in Europe, today sailed for home aboard the Manhattan.

He said he particularly enjoyed a visit to Lady Astor's country home in England and bullfights in Spain.

Stolen Gems Recovered.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 31 (AP). A $15,000 pearl necklace and other jewelry stolen from the home of Mrs. John W. Hanes was recovered by officers today.

600,000 Await Hitler Orders At Convention

Nazi Leader Slips Away to Prepare Important Pronouncements.

Nurnberg, Germany, Aug. 31 (AP). Chancellor Hitler, finding the turmoil of this city uncongenial for preparing speeches for the biennial conference of the National Socialist party, today slipped away to Bayreuth. There in solitude he completed the work on two important pronouncements for tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the ancient city was thronged with 600,000 persons, here to pledge again their adherence to the Nazi leader.

Seized Czech Returned.

Berne, Aug. 31 (AP).—A Czech citizen named Weber, arrested by German police 100 yards within the Swiss border Sunday, was returned today to Switzerland by Berlin authorities.

Nurnberg, Germany, Aug. 31 (AP). The newspaper Franckische Tageszeitung said today that President von Hindenburg had appointed Reichsminister Wilhelm Goering a general in the standing army for his services in the liberation of Germany.

Wounded Nazi Better.

Bolzano, Italy, Aug 31 (AP).—Franz Hofer, Austrian Nazi leader who escaped from a pail at Innsbruck yesterday, was recovering today at Bressanone from a bullet wound received as he was fleeing from Austrian gendarmes.

Rome, Aug. 31 (AP).—The foreign office said today there would be no extradition of Franz Hofer, because it is not permitted in cases involving political offenses in which propaganda is not spread.

Oyster Season Opens; 7,000 Men to Get Work

Bivalve, N. J., Aug. 31 (AP).—The "r" in September intensifies the "R" in NRA by sending 7,000 men back to work in the oyster fishing industry of Delaware Bay and nearby waters tomorrow.

Four hundred boats, scraped, painted and with gear in perfect order, will scoop sea food which by the time fishing ends next April is expected to have added some $7,000,000 to southern New Jersey's income.

Bible Class Has Corn Roast.

Waynesboro, Pa., Aug. 31 (Spl.). The Federation of Adult Bible Classes of Waynesboro held a corn and weiner roast tonight at Cold Spring Park. The 500 who attended ate 1,500 ears of corn and 100 pounds of weiners, in addition to large numbers of rolls and bread.

Crowd Flogs Prisoner; Chokes Kentucky Jailer

Smithfield, Ky., Aug. 31 (AP).—A report of the flogging of Louis Skinner, prisoner, who was forcefully removed from the Livingston County Jail, was on its way to Gov. Ruby Laffoon today, dispatched by Circuit Judge Charles H. Wilson after an investigation.

Jailer James Martin said he was awakened late Tuesday night by a crowd of masked men, who choked him and took his keys.

Chicago Jails Gangs, Dooms Three Gunmen

Speeds Death Sentences and Starts Out to Put 50 in Cells.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Three death sentences in a week, a woman and a man to prison under 199-year penalties, 200 new inmates in State prison, forsaking of vacations by judges, renewed harassment of gunmen.

These are some acts in Chicago's crime drive started when John Scheck, bank robber, killed a policeman in a dash to escape from a courtroom where he was to be arraigned for another murder.

Will Die in the Chair.

Today, Scheck was sentenced to die in the electric chair October 13. Morris Cohen, barber turned bandit, must die the same night for killing a policeman in a holdup.

Keeping them company in the death cell will be George Dale, convicted of killing Gustav Hoeh, 71, a clothier.

Two companions, Mrs. Eleanor Jarman, the "blonde tigress," arrested for torturing Hoeh, and Leo Minneci, 28, have received 199 years in prison.

Out to Jail 50 Gunmen.

Another consignment of prisoners leaves tomorrow for the penitentiary to serve stiff sentences. Police went out tonight to jail 50 gunmen.

Among the gangsters already seized are James Belcastro, Sam Battaglia, "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn, Maxie Eisen, and Walter Guida. They must prove themselves "noncriminals of good reputation" or serve 60 days for vagrancy.

Chicago Fair Exhibit Of Brazil Dedicated

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—The official Brazilian exhibit in a Century of Progress International Exposition was dedicated today with a reception.

The exhibit, devoted to displaying the chief products of the country, especially coffee, occupies a central position in the Hall of Nations.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Nelson Thorson, publisher of the Omaha, Neb., Swedish Weekly, was elected president of the American Numismatic Association today.

Other officers: Harvey L. Ha Sen, Piedmont, Calif., first vice president; George H. Blake, Jersey City, treasurer; Charles Foster, Rochester, N. Y., librarian.

Roosevelt Plan Theory Is Told By Cummings

Calls Recovery Program Vindication of U. S. Theory of Rule.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Aug. 31 (U.P.). The Roosevelt recovery program is a vindication, not a violation of the American form of constitutional government and the Constitution is flexible enough to "meet the test and march with the times," Attorney General Homer S. Cummings told the American Bar Association convention here tonight.

The doctrine of despair, that democracy has been a failure and that the foundations of the American Government were breaking, as have those of many other peoples in recent years, was decried by the Attorney General.

Holds Picture Distorted.

"These fears I do not for a moment share," he said. "Nor do I believe that they are entertained by any substantial portion of our people. A well-established democracy is the most stable of governments. Its very structure admits of necessary adjustments in times of stress. The heritage of liberalism stands us in good stead."

The "new deal," Cummings said, offered a somewhat distorted picture because of the American weakness for summing up complicated situations in generalizations and headline terms."

Attorney General Cummings today repudiated a speech by his Assistant Attorney General, Pat Malloy, after the latter had thrown the American Bar Association's annual meeting into a furore of dissent by demanding federalization of all police.

Association Surprised.

Members of the association indicated they were surprised at the lack of accord between chief and assistant, but a pall of mystery which tonight had settled over the Justice Department's delegation to the meeting as a result of the difficulties prohibited a thoroughly acceptable explanation.

Gen. Patrick Quits P. U. C. Post Sept. 30

Chairman, Undecided on Future, to Rest After Four Years.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, yesterday sent his resignation, effective September 30, to President Roosevelt.

Gen. Patrick had served on the commission since May, 1929.

In announcing his resignation, Gen. Patrick said:

"For more than four years I have given all my time and energy in a conscientious effort to serve the best interests of Washington.

"Now, however, I am rather tired, the confinement of this office is irksome, and therefore I have decided to leave it.

"I have no plans for future employment. I am leaving Washington in October for a rest."

The resignation put up to the President selection of another important District official. He has not replaced Commissioners Reichelderfer or Crosby, whose terms expired in April.

One of the achievements of the commission under Gen. Patrick was the securing of congressional action for a merger of the city's two street car companies.

Gen. Patrick during the World War was chief engineer of communication lines for the American forces in France.

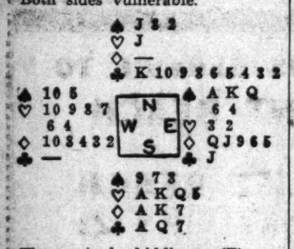
Fortune Frowns.

When the partnership bidding reaches too high a stage, often one partner is inclined to blame the other, while the other player can see quite clearly the "mote in his brother's eye" and feels that the latter was as much or more to blame than he was himself. At other times the partners blame Lady Luck, when that much-abused damsel really had nothing to do with the case.

Mr. C. L. Meyers, of Portland, Oreg., recently submitted to me the hand below, which he named "Fortune Frowns." Actually I do not believe that it was fortune that was frowning, but that both South and North were becoming overly enthusiastic, South because of the possession of honor-tricks and North because distribution seemed to be putting up a strong fight for him.

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



The actual bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
2♡(1)	Pass	2NT(2)	Pass
3NT(3)	Pass	4♣(4)	Pass
5♣(5)	Pass	6♣(6)	Dbl.
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—Not a sound Opening bid of two in a suit. The 3-3-3-4 distribution, the most barren of all distributions at the Bridge table, should suggest caution upon the part of this holder.

2—Of course, the correct response.

3—Here the weakness of the Opening bid becomes at once apparent. South must bid three no-trump, but has absolutely no knowledge as to whether his partner's hand is a Yarborough or whether there is any defense whatever the spade suit in the combined hands.

4—North must make this bid, as to play the hand at no trump with his distribution is unthinkable.

5—Of course, South again raises to game.

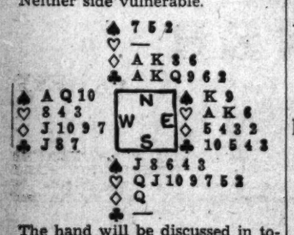
6—While this bid is tempting, it is, in my judgment, unsound. North should pass at five and thus escape at least a penalty double.

The result, of course, is obvious. The spade King was opened and North and South lost 3 tricks, a penalty of 500 points for their amorous overbid. Had the hand been opened with a bid of one heart, no doubt North, with his nine-card club suit, would have bid two clubs, then three and conceivably then four clubs over any other bid that North might make. The hand would be defeated if they went beyond this, but actually it should not reach game unless the players, as in the actual case, overestimated the value of honors and the value of distribution.

Tomorrow's Hand.

If North opens the bidding with one club, what response should South make and what should be the final contract?

North, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.



The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Stormbound Planes Safe.

Mexico City, Aug. 31 (AP).—Six military training planes recently purchased in Buffalo, N. Y., by the Mexican Government were brought down at Valbuena field today. The group had been stormbound en route for five days at San Luis Potosi.

Work Halted as Unions Dispute Right to Operate Crane

Underwood & Underwood.

A dispute between two labor unions over the right to stop and start a small hoisting crane by a wave of the hand has been keeping 200 men idle and wasting a pay roll of $2,600 a day. The crane is shown idle in front of the new Postoffice Building. A workman is shown demonstrating the signal.

Walkout on U.S. Building Costs $500 Each Day

225 Idle Because Stone Men and Iron Workers Fight Over Rights.

Strike of new postoffice building workmen, begun August 21 over employment of derrick signalmen, is costing the Government and contractors $500 daily, it was claimed yesterday.

The estimate was made by Paul H. Beuttas, president of the B-W Construction Co., erecting the building. All work is at a standstill, he said, 225 men forced out in the iron worker-stone setter squabble.

Iron workers and engineers on the job walked out when Ross and Reid, Inc., sub-contractors for stone setting, laid off two iron workers employed as signalmen on derricks at $1.65 an hour. Stone setters insisted that stone men should be employed for the signal work, and the iron workers and engineers quit.

Arthur L. Schoenthal, business agent of the stone setters, said yesterday he had no objection to employment of iron workers as signalmen. He said, however, that the derrick engineer could get along without a signalman, and when he couldn't the stone setter could substitute.

Iron workers, however, claimed the job always has gone to their ranks, and assert settlement of the strike lies with stone setters.

The situation has been referred to the Department of Labor in hope that pressure will bring results. It is the third strike to delay work at the building.

Six Held in Night Flogging of Youth

Laurinburg, N. C., Aug. 31 (AP). Six men charged with the night flogging August 13 of Douglas Monroe were bound over to Superior Court here today on charges of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

Monroe, a laborer, 23, unmarried, was routed from his home, taken to a nearby wood, beaten and left by six men.

At the hearing the defense brought out evidence that Monroe had been abusive to several women of the community.

Dancer Sues Actor On Breach Charge

Los Angeles, Aug. 31 (AP).—Charging Allan Dinehart, motion picture actor and director, broke his promise to marry her, Betty Kaege, former Follies dancer, today filed suit for $250,000 in superior court.

Miss Kaege said she was named corespondent when Dinehart was divorced by his first wife in 1931 in New York.

Dinehart married Mozelle Brittonne, Hollywood actress, last June.

Pollard Urged to Help Storm-Struck Farmers

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 31 (AP).—An "extreme and urgent" need for $500,000 State relief for fishermen and farmers of Tidewater Virginia, left practically destitute by last week's storm, was presented to Gov. Pollard today by the commission he appointed early in the week to study the situation and make recommendations.

The commission held its first meeting this morning.

"R" Month Here, But Oysters Are Not, So Blame Big Storm

Even Roosevelt Can't Eat a Bivalve Now, for He Couldn't Get One.

Last midnight marked the beginning of the annual open season on oysters in Washington. But, there weren't any oysters. Not only that, but it looks doubtful if there will be any oysters in town for a week or more.

"Suppose the President wanted an oyster cocktail for dinner," one dealer was asked.

"He couldn't have it," came the reply. "What do you think I'm doing—hoardin' 'em? Since that storm over on the Eastern Shore all the oysters have shaken hands with each other and turned over in their beds. It will be a long time before the oyster men over there get their boats and rigging together and begin sending 'em in.

"No, sir," he concluded, "not even the President could get an oyster from us now. Huey Long couldn't get 'em without sending down to New Orleans or some place like that. We'd sell him clams up here and hope that he'd follow their example and shut up."

A canvass of the hotels and restaurants famous for sea foods in the city revealed the fact that there were no "oysters on the half shell" available. Oyster shuckers who make their headquarters on the wharves behind Herzog's and along the waterfront have rolled their barrels aside and are waiting the first shipment of bivalves from the Eastern Shore.

Oyster men in Chincoteague say that they are making every effort to get on the beds within the next week or ten days. Warehouses are being repaired and put in shape after the storm. Many boats which were wrecked by the storm have been rebuilt and equipment is being repaired.

At Tilghmans Island oyster and crab boats are still ashore. Many of the warehouses and a large packing plant was demolished by the storm and all hands are rebuilding and reequipping them.

Prof. Moley Enters "First Subscriber"

Ohio Fire Chief Wins Honor by Sending Editor Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Urschel were at the airport to view the prisoner.

Upward Trend Is Revealed in Motor Travel

Long Distance Touring Has Stimulated Sales of New Cars.

(Associated Press.)

Auto tourist travel this summer has joined other business indices in the trend upward.

While the American Automobile Association does not make its estimates of tourist traffic until the end of the season, officials of the organization say that in addition to the heavy travel to the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago, there are definite indications of a general increase in long-distance motoring.

Their opinion is based on observations made by A. A. A. road cars and the large demand of affiliated clubs for more maps, tour books and road logs. Association officials who have visited resort areas report that hotel men, who have been rather hard hit the last few years, are "feeling better" this season.

Depreciated Dollar a Factor.

Since many people hesitate to take long trips in worn-out cars, the sharp rise in the sales of new automobiles in the last four months is regarded as another indicator of increased distance travel. It is pointed out that American resort areas have profited also by the depreciation of the dollar in terms of continental currencies causing the postponement by citizens of this country of tours in Europe.

Moreover, Americans who have been living abroad on independent incomes of moderate size have found that the shrinkage of the dollar has taken some of the luster off residence in foreign lands. The result has been that a considerable number who last year were basking on the Mediterranean are at American resorts this summer.

Also listed as an inducement to motoring is the competition for travel business between various resort regions in this country, resulting in a levelling down of vacation costs.

Compete for American Tourists.

Foreign travel specialists of the A. A. A. say that the keen competition among the various European countries for the American tourist dollar is reflected in greatly improved motoring conditions today from what they were even a few years ago.

Vacationists overseas are encountering better roads, more efficient service, better and more suitable hotel accomodations and less red tape in governmental regulations from year to year.

Aside from the keen competition spurring foreign governments and foreign vacation areas to outdo their neighbors, much of the improvement as regards facility of movement from country to country is ascribed to the untiring efforts of the royal automobile clubs and international touring clubs.

Federal Agents Start Probe Of Dope Peddling at Races

Drugging of Horses Not to Be Concern of Bureau, Chief Points Out.

Two narcotic agents at the Marlboro race track are not there to concentrate on horse-doping practices, Commissioner of Narcotics H. J. Anslinger said yesterday.

The agents are regularly detailed to ferret out drug peddlers who frequent tracks, he said.

There have been cases of doping horses on Maryland tracks, Commissioner Anslinger said, but he does not expect any grand jury action will be taken because of lack of evidence.

The Maryland Racing Commission, he emphasized, has been cooperating with the Narcotic Bureau in stamping out the practice.

District Projects Total $2,350,437 in Year

Twenty-eight District projects, contracts totaling $2,350,437, were completed during the 1932 fiscal year, according to the report of Harold W. Baker, director of construction, filed yesterday.

New contracts awarded during the year totaled $1,843,293, the report said.

Seismograph at G. U. Records Earthquake

(Associated Press.)

An earthquake, centered approximately 1,500 miles from Washington in an unascertained direction, was reported yesterday by the Georgetown University Seismological Observatory.

The movement began at 10:09 p. m., Eastern standard time, Wednesday; reached maximum proportions at 10:13 p. m., and ended at 10:30 p. m. It was thought it might have been centered in the West Indies or Central America.

Woman Leader Is Going on Air In NRA Drive

Mrs. Grattan Kerans Plans WMAL Talk Tonight on Buying Aid.

The campaign to make the District NRA-conscious will be carried forward over the radio, it was announced at local headquarters last night.

Mrs. Grattan Kerans, captain of publicity for the women's division of the NRA, is scheduled to speak over WMAL at 8:30 p. m. tonight on "Putting Women's Buying Power Back of the NRA."

Mrs. Kerans is president of the Women's Democratic Educational Council, director of the Women's City Club and chairman of the department of American citizenship of the District of Columbia Federation of Women's Clubs.

An appeal to colored residents also is planned at 8 p. m. at the Phyllis Wheatley Y. W. C. A., 901 Rhode Island avenue northwest, by Miss Etta Taggart. Others scheduled to speak are Mrs. Harry K. Daugherety, Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan and Mrs. George Cornwell.

Meanwhile campaigners were spurred to new activity by announcement that the apartment house at 1850 Columbia road northwest had been signed up 100 per cent for the NRA by Mrs. Alexander Kaufmann and Mrs. E. N. Potter.

Physician Brands Autos Unhealthful

Attention Has Centered on Mechanical Perfection, Says G. W. U. Man.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Automobiles are virtually perfect mechanically, but are still unhealthful to pedestrians and occupants, a physician today told the International Automobile Engineers Congress.

Automobile engineers have almost reached a point of diminishing returns in speed, safety and durability, declared Dr. F. A. Moss, of George Washington University.

"However," he added, "practically no attention has been given to the effect of riding on health of passengers and drivers, which would include air conditioning, eye strain and posture."

Two Still Missing In Western Wreck

Tucumcari, N. Mex., Aug. 31 (AP). Southern Pacific Railroad officials said today that Savario Anjuli and Giovanni D. Tommaso, passengers on the ill-fated Golden State Limited last Tuesday, are as yet unaccounted for. Officials said they were making every effort to find some trace of the two men.

Eight persons are known to have been killed and 42 injured when the limited, bound from Los Angeles to Chicago, plunged through a weakened bridge over a flooded arroyo 5 miles east of here.

$32,206 Relief Grant Advanced to Wyoming

(Associated Press.)

Wyoming received an additional unemployment relief grant of $32,206 from the Federal Emergency Relief Administration yesterday, bringing the total given to that State to $76,834.

The latest grant was on the basis of one Federal dollar for three spent in the State during the second quarter of this year.

Wallace Asked to Help Virginia Tobacco Price

Richmond, Va., Aug. 31 (AP).—The Virginia General Assembly today passed unanimously a joint resolution memorializing the United States Secretary of Agriculture to apply the domestic farm allotment plan for the benefit of Virginia bright tobacco farmers.

The resolution was introduced by Senator William M. Tuck, of Halifax County, in the heart of the Old Dominion tobacco belt.

President Told District's Need Of Work Funds

Senator King Submits Note on Request for Part of Gasoline Tax.

Chairman King, of the Senate District Committee, said yesterday he had filed with the President a memorandum on the District's need for $1,500,000 from the gasoline tax fund and $635,000 from the water tax fund.

This money, wanted to finance immediate improvements in the District, if released would help to relieve unemployment, Senator King stressed in his note. He said he would bring the matter to the attention of Budget Director Douglas on his return to Washington next week.

The Commissioners have made formal application to Mr. Douglas for approval of the expenditure of these funds, including $575,000 for starting work on the Calvert street span and $502,000 for Water Department work.

No action has been taken by Mr. Douglas. As a result, Senator King noted in his communication to the President, "the Water Department of the District, on July 1 of this year, was forced to drop 456 employes from the pay roll."

"If he should not approve," the senator continued, "these men would be unemployed and they and their families constitute an additional burden on the unemployment fund."

$2,000,000 Given Illinois Idle Fund

State Group Told No More U. S. Aid Available on "Matching Basis."

(Associated Press.)

The relief administration yesterday informed Illinois relief officials $2,000,000 would be provided for the State from the Federal fund on a "matching basis" up to January 1, 1934, but that there would be no further advances from the administration's "discretionary fund."

C. M. Bookman, assistant Federal relief administrator, made the statement at a conference with Wilfred Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Relief Commission; J. J. Rice, a member of the commission, and Dewitt C. Billman, representing Gov. Horner of Illinois.

At the same time Illinois was given an advance of $291,590 for unemployment relief on the basis of one Federal dollar for each three dollars spent locally for relief during the second quarter.

It was explained that U. S. officials felt Illinois should be able to carry its own load with the aid of one Federal dollar for each three spent locally.

Commission Halts Oil and Gas Lease

Promoter Held Failing to Tell All Intentions in Registration.

(Associated Press.)

A stop-order against Clyde H. Creighton, Dallas, Tex., oil and gas promoter, was issued by the Federal Trade Commission yesterday because of failure to disclose all of his intentions in a registration under the Federal securities act.

Creighton sought to register an offering of an interest in a lease in the Zwolle Pool, Sabine Parish, La., the interest to be divided into 1,000 oil and gas assignments.

Montgomery's Teachers Get Assignments

Dr. Broome Says Board Has Been Able to Keep Budget in Balance.

Assignment of teachers for the school year beginning September 13 was announced yesterday by Dr. Edwin W. Broome, Montgomery County, Md., superintendent of schools.

He stated that the board of education has been able to maintain its budget in balance and at the same time cooperate in the county's effort to materially lower the tax rate. This has been accomplished by a 10 per cent salary reduction for teachers and the practice of all possible economies.

The increased enrollment in the schools promises to continue, Dr. Broome said. The increase last year was 690, giving a total enrollment of 11,770 children, the largest in the history of the county.

The following teachers were appointed:

Happily Married 50 Years, Rewed

MR. AND MRS. DELMAR MILSTEAD.

These residents of Four Corners, Montgomery County, Md., recently celebrated their golden wedding, and were remarried by their son-in-law, the Rev. Harry Kelley, of New York. Mrs. Willard Hearn, of Washington, their youngest daughter, was matron of honor, and Lacy Shaw was the best man.

50-Foot Fall Fails to Injure Man Seriously

Roy Freeman in Hospital After Tumbling From Alexandria Home.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Roy Freeman, 35, of Wellington Villa, escaped death in a 50-foot fall from the roof of the old Lee house at 607 Oronoco street yesterday.

Freeman slipped while making repairs to the roof.

Police Sergt. Everly and Patrolman Boley took Freeman to Alexandria Hospital, where attendants pronounced his condition "undetermined." No evidence of bone fractures was found.

75 Seek Beer Permits.

More than 75 persons applied to Revenue Commissioner Charles H. Callahan for beer permits as City Attorney Carl L. Budwesky prepared amendments to make the city beverage ordnance conform with the State 3.2 law effective Monday.

State license forms are expected from Richmond today.

Gun Wounds Jokester.

Alexandria Robert Washington, colored, 30, played with a gun yesterday in his home at 512½ Pitts street here.

He was in Alexandria Hospital last night with a gun wound in his left leg.

Permits in Fairfax On Sale Tomorrow

Temporary Permits to Be Issued in Fairfax for 60-Day Period.

Temporary beer licenses will be issued in Fairfax County tomorrow, Commissioner of Revenue James U. Kincheloe said yesterday, in answer to inquiries of county merchants. These licenses will then be good for 60 days, beginning Monday.

Mr. Kincheloe said that he was awaiting instructions from the State tax commissioner, and had been assured they would reach his office today. The licenses to sell beer will be issued, but will not be good until Monday, when the new State law becomes effective. All persons will be required to state that they intend to qualify to handle beer before the circuit court within the 60-day period granted by the new beer law.

The merchants are being warned that besides the State license of $5.75 they also are compelled to obtain a Federal license from the collector of internal revenue in Alexandria. The local board of supervisors has not acted to require a county license to sell beer. It is expected the question will be considered at its regular monthly meeting Wednesday.

Montgomery NRA Quota Almost Full

Employers Have Signed Nearly 100 Per Cent, Chamber Told.

Montgomery County employers are nearly 100 per cent signed for the National Recovery Administration, State's Attorney Stedman Prescott, general chairman of the county committee, told a special meeting of the Rockville Chamber of Commerce last night.

Col. George Laird, of national headquarters of NRA, explained its meaning and working.

The chamber adopted resolutions approving action of the mayor and council of Rockville in asking Federal funds totaling $5,000 for street and road improvement, the sum to be matched by Federal gift, and asking the county commissioners to improve Monroe street to the end of the pike at Seven Locks road, about three miles.

Bernard T. Brosius, president, introduced the speakers.

Fairfax Democrats to Meet.

The Young Democrats Club of Fairfax County will meet tonight in the Fairfax courthouse to discuss plans for the special election, October 3, when the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and State prohibition act will be voted upon, and in the general election in November when State officials will be elected.

NRA Workers Warned Not to Use Coercion

Prince Georges County NRA committee members last night were warned not to coerce merchants into signing the code. The warning was given by William F. Hamill, interpreter of codes for the Maryland Recovery Board, at a meeting in Hyattsville.

Miss Lavinia Engle, vice chairman of the Montgomery County NRA committee, said failure of the NRA must result in more drastic measures. H. Winship Wheatley, jr., county general chairman, explained the duties of committees.

House Passes 4-County Bill

Virginia Measure Would Bring Road Seceders Back to Fold.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 31 (AP).—The House of Delegates today voted to let the four counties which voted themselves outside the secondary highway system come back in without an election.

The bill, applying to Arlington, Henrico, Nottoway and Warwick Counties, would permit their reentry upon a contract or agreement between the boards of supervisors and the highway commission. It was sponsored by Hugh Reid, of Arlington; C. M. Waldrop, of Nottoway and Amelia, and Charles E. Ford, of Warwick and Newport News.

The bill now goes to the Senate.

The secondary highway system set up in the Byrd road plan of 1932 provided that counties might vote themselves out and continue to receive the gasoline tax allotted by the State. The four above voted themselves out.

Mrs. Emma Lee White, of Gloucester and Mathews, made a brief speech in which she said she wanted to welcome "Arlington County back into the State of Virginia."

$10,000 Insurance Asked in Drowning

Suit Filed on Wife's Policy in Death for Which Mate Was Held.

A suit to obtain $10,000 from the Columbia Casualty Co., for the drowning of Mrs. Elizabeth T. Wimbley, was filed in District Supreme Court yesterday despite the fact Mrs. Wimbley's husband, Harry C. Wimbley, is serving a life sentence for drowning her.

Wimbley and John M. Crowder were convicted of second degree murder in connection with her death in the Chesapeake & Ohio Canal two years ago. The police "lead" in the case was the newly issued insurance policy now in dispute.

Her administrator, Patrick Henry Tench, yesterday filed the suit through Attorneys Dozier DeVane and George D. Horning, jr. They contend because her death was accidental, the $10,000 should be paid to her estate.

Frank Smith Retires As Master Sergeant

Master Sergt. Frank W. Smith, Headquarters Troop, Third Cavalry, Fort Myer, Va., will be retired today. There will be a dismounted review at Fort Myer at 10:45 a. m., in which the Third Cavalry and Sixteenth Field Artillery will participate.

Smith is known as trainer of Tony, a trick horse at Fort Myer, and Boogie, a dog. He was born in Rich Hill, Mo., February 8, 1887.

Storm-Damaged Links To Reopen Tomorrow

The first nine holes of the Anacostia Golf Course, damaged by the storm, will be open for public play tomorrow. The second nine will be ready in about a week, the committee reports.

Senate Passes Road Bill, but House Delays

Definite Movement Starts in Virginia to Insure 8 Months School.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 31 (AP).—The Virginia Assembly today worked cautiously on its problems of school relief and the $16,000,000 road program proposal for unemployed winter relief, leaving its decision on both of these questions until tomorrow.

The road bill was passed by the Senate after unanimous agreement on an amendment allowing the State highway commissioner to allot some of the fund, if a grant is obtained from the Federal Government, to cities for work on streets. The House will act tomorrow.

There was a definite movement for the assurance of an eight-month minimum school term in all Virginia counties, although it was considered possible that legislative action would be deferred until the regular session.

Twin Program Proposed.

There was much talk about a twin program—for the regular session—comprising the emergency question of providing a full eight months' term for the current school year and a permanent arrangement for the same minimum term in the future.

Gov. Pollard is to present to the State Board of Education tomorrow a resolution requesting committals on the program from the governor, the governor-elect and the advisory commission on the budget. A special meeting of the board has been called for 8:30 a. m.

Meanwhile, today, both the House appropriations committee and the Senate finance committee postponed consideration of the governor's proposed amendment to the 1932-34 appropriations act limiting general fund reductions to not more than the 30 per cent already made. It was on this section that the school authorities appealed to the Assembly for relief.

Page Fee Bill Passed.

The Assembly passed the amended Page fee bill, which abolishes all special fees in prohibition cases. The House followed quickly.

The bill was passed by the Senate with an amendment making it effective February 15.

The Page bills repealing the Layman act and setting up a liquor control plan were sent back to the House finance committee from which they never are to return.

Both Houses definitely moved toward a sine die adjournment not later than Saturday.

Cut in Oil Line Rates Proposed in Texas

Austin, Tex., Aug. 31 (AP).—The Texas Railroad Commission today took under advisement a proposed State-wide reduction in oil pipe-line transportation rates.

The rates would reduce existing tariffs 20 to 25 per cent, saving shippers $20,000,000 annually.

Frederic A. Delano Patents "Looking-Out-Only" Windows

Other Capital Inventors' Unusual Schemes Also Licensed by U. S.

There must be "something new under the sun"—at least in Washington. Local inventors were well represented in the number of patents issued last week.

You can see only one way through a window glass patented by Frederic A. Delano, uncle of the president and chairman of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission. With Mr. Delano's invention a person on the inside looking out can see a person on the outside. The person on the outside, however, is unable to see the person on the inside.

Mr. Delano calls his invention a "corrugated transparent material." Objects from one side are distorted beyond recognition. Light, on the other hand, is admitted with no loss of intensity.

A "deflector" was patented by John A. McCrary, of Seminary, Va. The invention will give "a clear and unobstructed vision from the pilot house of a vessel, an airplane, train or motor vehicle."

A high velocity of air is directed across the line of vision in such a manner that rain, hail, snow or sleet will be deflected from their course and not into the observer's face and eyes.

Thompson E. Woodward, of College Park, Md., received a patent for a new kind of calculating machine. It will tell the farmer how much hay and feed to give any particular cow for the maximum quantity of milk.

A "homogenizer" was patented by George J. Musgrave, of Washington. It is known otherwise as a cream smoother. By its use, uniform texture may be had in cream.

A device to "control relative airflow above and beneath airplane wings to increase the lift and reduce the drag on such wings" was patented by Victor Lougheed, of Washington. Leo Dawson, also of Washington, was awarded a patent for an improved type of ultra-violet-ray lamp. By this physicians can give a measured dosage in accordance with recent findings of physicists.

Byrd Protests NRA Oil Code Tax Provisions

Ruination for Independent Gas Stations Foreseen in Nonrebate Plan.

An appeal against tax provisions of the oil code was made to the Department of the Interior yesterday on behalf of nearby Virginia gasoline station owners who claim ruination faces them unless a change is made.

The appeal was presented by Senator Harry Flood Byrd, T. McCall Frazier, Virginia motor vehicle commissioner, and Capt. Crandall Mackey, dealers' counsel. It was aimed against rule 13, section 5 of the code, prohibiting distributors from absorbing any part of the gasoline tax.

1,000 May Lose Jobs.

Senator Byrd and his associates told Solicitor Fahy, J. H. Marshall and Norman Myers, of the department, that the provision would throw 170 independent gas station owners and 1,000 persons out of employment. In the past, they explained, Virginia distributors have been paying 3 cents of the 5-cent State tax for dealers near the District, where only a 2-cent tax is levied.

This has made prices close to the District the same as District prices, they said. Enforcement of the provision would place a 3-cent handicap on nearby distributors and force them out of business, they said.

Serious to Virginia.

Senator Byrd declared the matter was of serious concern from a tax revenue standpoint for Virginia. A joint resolution of the Virginia special session addressed to President Roosevelt asking that Section 5 of the code be so amended as not to destroy retail gasoline business in Northern Virginia was presented.

An amendment to the code requesting annullment of the section where differences in State taxes would work injury to dealers was asked.

The gasoline retailers' group estimated loss to the State of $250,000 in taxes and throwing on the market of $1,000,000 of property if the provision is not changed.

Racket-Political Link War Ordered

New York Takes Steps to End Collusion and Protect Trade.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP). Spurred by reports that racketeers and politicians have been working together in New York City, Attorney General John J. Bennett, jr., tonight planned swift legal moves to end racketeering at the expense of legitimate trade.

Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, who asked the Legislature to give the attorney general his new powers because "interference with legitimate business by professional gang elements has grown to such proportions that drastic measures are needed," declined to comment.

Two years ago, Bennett and his aids drove Jack "Legs" Diamond and his gang from the fortress they had established in the Catskill Mountains and sent several of the Diamond gangsters to prison.

Falls Church Firemen Elect Elliott Head

Benjamin F. Elliott has been elected president of the Volunteer Fire Department of Falls Church, Va., to succeed the late R. E. Kendrick, who had been president of the local fire department since its founding 10 years ago. Other officers elected include J. R. Royston, vice president; Charles A. Seaton, secretary; Jerome Gibson, assistant secretary, and R. W. Howard, treasurer.

O. C. Pearson was selected as chief; Douglas Royston, first assistant chief; G. Weetman, deputy chief; D. N. Edmonds, assistant deputy chief; Moyer G. Copeland, engineer; Joseph Birch, assistant engineer, and J. W. Woody, fire marshal.

Virginia Asked To Help Bridge

Montgomery Group Acts for Aid in Building Great Falls Span.

Efforts to obtain prompt action by the Virginia Legislature in providing funds for joint construction of the proposed bridge over Great Falls of the Potomac will be made by the Montgomery County Civic Federation, it was decided by committees at the National Press Club last night.

Richard F. Akers was appointed to press the matter before the Virginia Legislature. The Maryland Legislature will be asked to aid. Part of the expense would be borne by Federal funds.

Stephen James reported on progress of the program submitted to the Maryland recovery committee and will present a complete report at the federation meeting, September 11. Akers will report at the meeting on Federal funds allotted to the county for roads.

Robert E. Bondy, chairman of the schools committee, was named to receive the cup for outstanding work. William B. Armstrong, secretary, will prepare a resolution regarding the NRA. Frederick P. Lee, president, directed the meeting.

G. U. Dentistry School Given Grade A Rating

Georgetown University School of Dentistry, one of the few Catholic dental schools in the East, has been given a Grade A rating by the Dental Educational Council of America, faculty members revealed yesterday.

An investigation conducted by the council into the physical equipment of the school, its faculty, curriculum and requirements for admission raises the dental school to the same classification which the School of Medicine at Georgetown has had for years.

Chicago Bishop Expects That Sum for Relief in Mite Boxes.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—The right Rev. George C. Stewart, bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Chicago, told upon his arrival from a vacation in Ireland today how, single-handed, he expects to raise $405,000 for welfare relief in Chicago this winter.

The bishop said the plan is his own and that he started work on it before he sailed a month ago.

He expects to distribute a collection box to each of the 40,000 members of his congregation and ask them to give one penny each after every meal as a thanks offering. The total per year from each member thereby will be only $10.95.

Otis Steel Dividend Action Is Deferred

Cleveland, Aug. 31 (AP).—The directors of Otis Steel Co. deferred action today on the payment of interest of bonds accruing September 1 "to conserve operating cash."

The directors explained that conservation was required in view of increased operating costs, both as to raw materials and wages, "which have not yet been reflected in increased selling prices for its product."

Arlington Sets License of $10 For Beer Sales

Water System Contract Let; $18,000 School Loan Approved.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

An ordinance providing a county license of $10 a year for sale of 3.2 beer was adopted by the county board yesterday on motion of Lyman M. Kelley. It becomes effective 12:01 a. m. Monday by State law.

The contract for extensions of the county water system was awarded to Thomas N DeLashmutt, whose bid was $24,711.82. The contract calls for laying 2,650 feet of 20-inch main along the Military road in Cherrydale; 5,434 feet of 12-inch main along Ballston road, and 1,043 feet of 8-inch main on Glebe road.

Appointment of Allen B. McDaniel as sanitary engineer was ratified. He was named by County Manager Roy S. Braden last week.

Installation of a telephone in the Clarendon health clinic was approved upon motion of Mrs. Elizabeth Magruder. The phone was asked by Mrs. Bertha Kelly, Red Cross chapter chairman.

A loan of $18,000 to the school board, bringing borrowings to date to $65,000, was approved at request of John M. Stewart.

Licenses Due Tomorrow.

County Revenue Commissioner Green said last night he hoped to issue beer licenses starting tomorrow. He awaits word from Richmond.

Legion Post Installs.

Arlington Legion Post last night voted to amend by-laws to receive members without paying initiation fee. This amendment will be in effect until November 1.

Officers were installed by District Commander Haggerty, Quantico. Commander Walter Gould told of the Bristol convention and announced a drive for members.

Girl Quits Home; Two Youths Held

Two Washington youths, 21 and 18 years old, were held by police last night for questioning in connection with the absence of Ada Wilson, 15, from her home at 2125 Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

The girl had been missing since Thursday until seen by her father yesterday on a downtown street. When she refused to accompany him home, police were called into the case.

The youths were arrested on information that the girl had been seen riding with two young men Wednesday.

Reserve Banks To Extend Big Credit to Trade

$40,000,000 to Step Up NRA Program Available in Easier Loan Plan.

(United Press.)

The Federal Reserve Banks have made $40,000,000 more credit available to be pumped into the business stream, the weekly reserve's condition statement revealed last night, and at the same time it was learned that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was considering reducing interest on loans to banks from 4½ to 4 per cent.

The R. F. C. plan accorded with a recent statement by Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson that he was seeking means to get banks to ease credit and thus help finance the recovery program.

The swelling of reserve bank outstanding credit came large largely through purchase of $35,000,000 in Government bonds—the same amount acquired the previous week.

No Coercive Force.

Both steps were expected to induce banks to be more liberal with their loans to business men. Although Government officials admit they can exert no coercive force on individual banks, they feel that banks, if provided with large sums of money, will increase their loans to business.

After extended conferences among Government fiscal authorities, including Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Board of the R. F. C.; Dean G. Acheson, Undersecretary of the Treasury, and Eugene Black, the governor of the Federal Reserve Board, it was understood the Government had at last given the word to "go ahead" with its easier credit program.

Reconstruction Finance Corporation officials were reported ready to agree upon a reduction in the interest rate charged banks on the $800,000,000 now loaned to banking institutions and on new loans made by banks.

Reduced Interest Rate.

Recently the Treasury Department reduced the interest rate on money loaned to the R. F. C. from 3½ to 3 per cent. This is expected to enable the R. F. C. now to reduce its rates. No change is contemplated on interest charged by the R. F. C. on loans to railroads and other borrowers.

The R. F. C. found a plan to make loans directly to business would be a violation of the law.

Federal Reserve central banks are expected to increase their rediscounts to member banks. Collateral that can not be rediscounted by the Reserve banks will be taken over by the R. F. C. and loans made on it to banks at the lowered interest rate of 4 per cent.

The Federal Reserve bank operations carried total Reserve bank credit outstanding to $2,298,000,000, only $33,000,000 below a year ago.

Reserve banks lost gold for the first time since the Government began its antigold hoarding campaign last March. Gold holdings declined to $3,587,997,000 from the record high of $3,589,480,000 reached a week ago.

Foreign Markets.

(Associated Press.)

London—A lull occurred in speculation on the stock exchange today and attention was turned more toward gilt-edged securities, which were strong on satisfactory revenue returns and renewed talk regarding the government conversion plan. Kaffirs improved on the higher price of bar gold, but home rails eased owing to profit taking. Oil shares were stronger. The market closed firm.

Paris—Business on the bourse continued quiet with month-end liquidation causing only slight changes in prices. The closing was steady.

Berlin—Trading on the boerse was inactive. Weakness developed in dye trust shares owing to reports that the Soviets were finding difficulties in financing their current obligations. The market closed weaker after some fluctuations.

U. S. Treasury Receipts.

Trade Trends.

(Associated Press.)

Copper—A more active demand is noted in the export market, but domestic conditions continue quiet. Producers here continue to quote 9 cents a pound against a level of approximately 8.22 cents abroad.

Dyestuffs—Rayon colors are in steady demand, according to manufacturers. It is said that efforts are being made to advance the cotton goods printing season, but dye makers are unable as yet to learn what form the demand will assume this year.

Flax—"The world flaxseed situation still continues very bullish," says the Archer-Daniels-Midland Co., "with extremely unfavorable weather conditions in the United States and Argentina. While we have compiled no comparative figures we should say that flax receipts this year are running less than half of what they did last year in Minneapolis and Duluth."

Tin plate—It is reported that makers are considering a 40-cent rise in the price of tin plate. This would bring the price up to $4.65 per box of 100 pounds.

Floor covering—Reports received in primary markets this week indicate that retail business during August far surpassed the figures set in the same month of 1932. Some place the month's volume close to 20 per cent ahead of last year's.

Montgomery Ward Shake-Up Looming

Chicago, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Formation of a stockholders' association purposing to "revise management policies" of Montgomery Ward & Co. was announced today with the granting of a charter at Springfield. President of the group is Joseph Zook, San Francisco, former treasurer and director of the mail order concern until he broke with the management in 1920.

Mr. Zook said the association would take immediate steps to place on the Montgomery Ward directorate men of its own choosing, "qualified by actual experience in mail order retail merchandising and manufacturing lines." He attacked the present executives as "investment bankers and others unversed in the mail order field."

Sewell Avery is president and chairman of Montgomery Ward, as well as president of the U. S. Gypsum Co., while Silas Strawn is chairman of the executive committee.

Doremus Co. Picks New High Officers

New York, Aug. 31 (Spl.).—E. T. Tomlinson, jr., who has been president of Doremus & Co. since the death of the late C. W. Barron, has resigned.

William H. Long, jr., who has been with Doremus & Co. since July, 1919, and for many years has been vice president, was elected chairman of the board. Mr. Tomlinson will be succeeded by G. Munro Hubbard, who will become president as of September 1.

Walter H. Burnham, who for some time has been secretary of Doremus & Co., will become vice president, and R. E. Williams will continue as treasurer. No other changes in officers or branch managers have been made or are contemplated.

Doremus & Co., an international advertising agency, has branch offices in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles and London and representatives in the important cities of continental Europe.

Dullest Sales For 4 Months Features Bonds

American Telephone Rises One Point as Sales Sink to $7,876,000.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The bond market shuffled through one of the dullest sessions of the year today and prices generally finished about where they started.

Sales totaled only $7,876,000, par value, the lowest aggregate for a full day's session since March 20 last. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans was unchanged.

Fluctuations in Fractions.

There were few news developments of interest to the market and many traders absented themselves for an early start on the protracted week-end holiday. Most groups were sluggish throughout and, except in a few instances, fluctuations were confined to unimportant fractions.

British government registered 5½s were heavily traded for cash for a loss of more than a point. This was the last day on which holders of this issue could take advantage of the United Kingdom's offer to exchange these dollar bonds for new ones of lower coupon rating and higher face value in pounds. A small lot of the 5½s were sold for future delivery—and apparently will not be eligible for conversion—at a loss of 5⅛ points.

Other Foreign Loans Quiet.

Other foreign loans were irregular and quiet.

In the domestic section there were a few gainers of a point or more. Among these were American Telephone collateral 5s, Lackawanna Steel 5s and Morris & Co. 4½s. A number of the secondary rails were moderately lower.

United States Treasury obligations were firm, but dull, and Liberty loans were slightly lower.

Drug Sales Rising; Outlook Brighter

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Drug manufacturers, badly hit during the days when consumers had to think hard before using a bottle of lotion, find sales running ahead of last year and the outlook encouraging for the balance of the year.

As purchasing power continues to respond to the recovery campaign, retail drug outlets report that merchandise is moving in larger volume. A projection of this trend leads to the estimate that drug producers should show an increase of from 10 to 15 per cent in volume during the last six months of 1933 as compared with the same period a year ago.

Executives in the drug trade, however, point out that the earnings curve is difficult to compute because the industry did not shift prices during the depression period in the sharp degree followed generally by business.

This means, it is explained, that drugs will not participate in the present advancing trend of commodity prices to the same degree as otherwise would be expected. Thus, expansion in profits of most companies, say specialists in this field, will be in more or less direct relationship with the gain in sales volume.

Rediscount Rate Unchanged.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The New York Federal Reserve Bank today announced no change in its 2½ per cent rediscount rate.

Lifeless Stock Sales Marked by Indecision

Code Progress Pushes Oils Up as Repeal Harbingers Send Alcohol Issues Ahead in Preholiday Sales of 1,141,426 Shares.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Stocks closed out August with indecisive fluctuations today. Trading assumed the characteristics that usually go with the market just before a holiday-Declining volume and narrow, irregular changes. Wheat was unsettled.

Oil and alcohol issues got fairly well away from the crowd in the sluggish stock dealings, the former by virtue of code developments, the latter on the strength of reports that distilleries might be permitted to operate at full blast in view of the repeal trend. Other groups did little or nothing. Sales dwindled to 1,141,420 shares.

The even distribution of buying and selling on the stock exchange was indicated by the Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite, which showed no variation from yesterday. Traders evinced little or no inclination to "discount" Post-Labor Day happenings.

U. S. Steel Loses.

At the finish U. S. Steel, General Electric American Telephone, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Harvester, Woolworth, North American, New York Central, and Chesapeake & Ohio were slightly off. Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, General Motors, Case, Pennsylvania, Santa Fe, Standard Brands, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Celanese, and National Distillers were steady to firm. In oils, Amerada and California Standard rose a point. Several others improved fractionally.

The passing month has witnessed a let-down in industrial activity and in speculative operations, but the stock average, which stood at 79 on July 31, closed August at 88.1.

Although this advance represented partly a natural recovery from the late July collapse, it appeared also to reflect hopes that autumn would see a free rise in business indices. In only two days of the month did stock exchange volume exceed 3,000,000 shares, so the price improvement was accomplished on moderate activity.

Money Markets Look Easy.

Money markets looked as easy as ever. Expectations that the New York Reserve Bank might take the lead in discount rate cutting went unfilled, for the local institution's 2½ per cent charge held over for another week. Those who had looked for a cut thought such action would be in line with current credit expansion and easy money policies, bringing the central bank's rate more nearly in line with the open market.

The Reserve System's purchases of Government securities in the week ended August 30 totaled $34,758,000, virtually the same as a week ago. Whether this is to be the pace of the present expansion revival was not indicated, but is was recently explained that buying would be governed by the needs of the situation. Total Reserve Bank credit was up $40,000,000, brining it to within $33,000,000 of a year ago. Market purchases of bills by the 12 banks declined slightly.

Loans and investments of New York City member banks expanded $41,000,000. Their security loans accounted for $37,000,000 of this net gain, other loans being up $2,000,000. The investment account also increased $2,000,000. Net demand deposits jumped $58,000,000.

U. S. Gold Output Shows Large Gain

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The American Bureau of Metal Statistics reported today that world gold production in July amounted to 1,962,000 fine ounces, as compared with 1,914,000 ounces in the preceding month and 1,977,000 ounces in May.

Production in the United States during July totaled 176,000 fine ounces, as against 143,000 ounces in June and 187,000 ounces in May.

Canadian production in July was 243,000 fine ounces, as compared with 240,000 and 238,000 respectively for the two preceding months. Output in South Africa was 924,000 fine ounces in July as compared with 919,000 and 944,000 for the two previous months.

Capital Bank Clearings Drop to $45,405,937

Local bank clearings for August totaled $45,405,937.77, the Washington Clearing House Association reported yesterday. This compares with a total of $68,830,619.60 for August, 1932, and $51,328,196 in July, 1933.

For the first eight months of the current year local clearings amount to $389,859,969.91, in comparison with $664,352,854.70 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Stocks.

Lifeless, preholiday stock sales were featured by indecisive trends. NRA code progress pushed oils up. Repeal harbingers, indicating that alcohol and whisky manufacturers would be allowed to operate at full blast, stimulated shares in those companies. Prices in general were stalemated, ending the day at Wednesday's composite price. The turnover dropped to 1,141,420 shares.

Bonds.

Bonds experienced the dullest sales in four months, dropping to $7,876,000. An American Telephone share rose 1 point, while British Government registered 5½'s lost the same. The average price remained the same, 80.

Curb.

The curb's petroleum group also was stimulated by code developments and rose slightly. In general, the market was a lifeless affair throughout. Sales dropped to 210,000 shares.

Wheat.

A nervous trend caused grains to dip. Wheat sold ¼ to 1 cent lower. September wheat sold at 90, May at 94½.

Cotton.

Cotton was barely steady in late rallies. Southern and foreign selling pushed initial prices down 7 to 10 points. December sold at 9.58; October at 9.39.

Rubber.

Crude rubber futures closed quiet. September sold at 7.28; December, at 7.71@7.72.

Sugar.

Raw and refined sugar were unchanged at 3.60 and 4.70, respectively.

Coffee.

Demand for spot coffee was better. Rio No. 7 sold at 7½; Santos No. 4, at 8¾.

Silver.

Bar silver in New York was steady and unchanged, selling at 36⅝.

Gold.

Bar gold sold in the United States at $20.67 per ounce; in London, at 129 shillings and 7 pence.

Dollar.

The United States dollar gained on the English pound while losing on other foreign exchanges. It stood in New York, with reference to other currencies, $4.51½ to the English pound; 5.57½ cents to the French franc, and 33.90 cents to the German mark.

Bank at Annapolis Pays 55 Per Cent

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 31 (Spl.). The Annapolis Banking & Trust Co., which had been operating on a 2 per cent restricted withdrawal basis since the banking holiday was lifted, today began functioning under a reorganization plan approved by State Bank Commissioner Ghinger, and the R. F. C., the latter having provided a loan of $500,000 through a subsidiary, the Annapolis Mortgage Co.

Depositors are receiving 55 per cent of all funds of record prior to the holiday last February, 39 per cent in certificates of beneficial interest, and 6 per cent is covered by stock at $10 par value.

Insurance Firm Here Moves to Bigger Office

Sportsman's Assurance Co. to Occupy Building on K Street Northwest.

Increased business for Sportsman's Mutual Assurance Co. has necessitated moving of its home office from a suite in the Shoreham Building to larger quarters at 1430 K street northwest, where it will occupy the entire building erected originally for the Harry Wardman interests.

The first floor consists of main office space, with additional private offices, file room and vault room. This floor will provide space for the underwriting, claims and accounts departments. The second floor consists of a conference room for trustees' and policyholders' meetings and private offices.

This company was incorporated August 16, 1932, under the District of Columbia insurance laws to write accident insurance of all kinds. The formation of the company was the outgrowth of the agitation of the subject of insuring sportsmen and sportswomen throughout the country. Owing to their inability to obtain adequate coverage, the company was organized by a prominent group of sportsmen and sportswomen for the purpose of catering to the requirements of sports lovers in general.

Risk of Sportsmen.

Company officials remind that American athletics have always implied a certain risk is assumed whenever a person of either sex or of any age participates in any form of recognized sport or athletic activity. Public educators, physicians and coaches and other officials, they say, have long recognized the need both of accident prevention and of remedy for financial loss through accidental injury sustained in participation in athletics.

This need has resulted in the formation of an insurance company which includes professional insurance men, who are sportsmen as well. Their plan includes both sexes and all ages, even below the customary limit of 16 or 18 years. The former handicap of having to be a wage earner in order to obtain accident insurance also has been removed.

Trustees, officers and advisory board of the company have many connections in Washington and vicinity, both financially and socially. On the advisory board are Frank A. Bonsal, jr., master of fox hounds at Green Spring Valley, Md.; Prof. Jay B. Nash, Ph. D., on leave of absence from New York University for six months, cooperating with Secretary of the Interior Ickes, in charge of reforestation in the western half of the country.

Other Officials Listed.

Crawford Burton, twice winner of the Maryland Hunt Cup; Stephen Budd, Litchfield County Hunt, Conn.; Langhorne Gibson, Goldens Bridge Hounds; W. V. S. Ruxton, Fairfield and Westchester Hounds, Conn.; Dr. Eugene C. Alder, head master, Blake School, Minneapolis.

Frank S. Lloyd, Ph. D., director of National Study of Accident Statistics in Schools and Colleges; Ed Thorn, assistant to the president of A. G. Spalding & Co., and Prof. Charles C. Tillinghast, Ed D., head master, Horace Mann School.

The president is Charles Miner, of Washington, closely identified in the insurance business for many years, and the vice president is Raymond B. Hotchkiss, formerly of the Ocean Accident & Guarantee Co., and the Globe Indemnity Co. The secretary is Reginald C. M. Peirce, a former captain in the Marine Corps, for many years associated with John Hays Hammond. The treasurer is Capt. Carl B. Searing, U. S. A., retired, of Chevy Chase, who has been stationed several times in Washington on the staff of the inspector general of the Army, and who was formerly with the actuarial department of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., and statistician and comptroller of the Lloyds Group.

Revenue Taxes In Richmond at New High Mark

Richmond, Va., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Officials of the Federal Bureau of Internal Revenue here announced today that August receipts of $11,054,125.18 had broken all records for the month.

The previous August high was $9,343,663.50 in 1930.

The announcement came on the heels of the report of W. Gay Smith that customs receipts at Richmond during the month were the largest for any August in the port's history. They totaled in excess of $444,000.

Increases in the tax paid by Virginia manufacturers of tobacco and tobacco products and unusually large imports were the principal factors, officials said, in the record internal revenue collections.

Receipts from the stamp tax on tobacco last month aggregated $10,379,897.53 as compared with approximately $8,000,000 in August, 1932, and about the same for August, 1931.

Loans to Brokers Rise $28,000,000

(Associated Press.)

Loans to brokers and dealers by reporting New York City member banks during the week ended August 30 were reported by the Federal Reserve Board as $881,000,000 representing an increase of $28,000,000 for the week.

The loans for the week ended August 31, 1932, were $345,000,000.

The board's detailed distribution of the loans over the three weeks dealt with follows:

	Aug. 30.	Aug. 23.	Aug. 31, 1932.
For own account:	$759,000,000	$726,000,000	$318,000,000
For account of out-of-town banks:	114,000,000	119,000,000	19,000,000
For acount of others:	8,000,000	8,000,000	8,000,000

Business Notes.

Pontiac, Mich., Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Two shoe manufacturing companies—the Pontiac and Fashion-Built firms—today began operating their plants on an 8-hour day, 5-day-week plan under the NRA. Officials of the concerns said "equitable" adjustment of wages had been made.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., today reported that bank clearings for all of the country's leading cities totaled $7,909,370,000 last week, an increase of 5.6 per cent over the $7,788,080,000 shown for the corresponding period last year.

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—National Cash Register Co. announced today its August sales amounted to $1,612,350, the largest for any month since October, 1931. The volume represented sales to small businesses rather than a few large orders, the company said.

Cheerful Business News

(United Press.)

Wall Street Journal says U. S. administration is urging distillers to run at peak of production of "medicinal liquor" to meet heavy demand expected after repeal, now virtually certain.

Retail shoe prices September 1 to be advanced 50 cents to $1 a pair.

July sales of chain and department stores in the New York district were the best since 1930-31, and wholesale business was 81 per cent over year ago, according to New York Federal Reserve Bank.

Curb Ends Day With Firm Tone In Idle Market

Advances Give Strength to Oil List as Sales Drop to 210,000 Shares.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—The curb market idled today in characteristic preholiday style. The close was steady; earlier movements were marked by moderate demand for oils and alcohols, while utilities maintained a steady pace.

Trading which dwindled to approximately 210,000 shares, compared with 320,000 for Wednesday, was largely professional.

Price advances were the stimulating factor in the firmness of petroleum shares. Humble Oil closed with a gain of 2 points, while Gulf and Standard Oil of Indiana each finished around a point higher.

Among alcohols and utilities fractional advances were recorded by Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric, Hiram Walker, and Distillers Corporation-Seagrams. Roan Antelope rose more than a point, while other mining issues were narrow. General Tire & Rubber was reactionary, dropping 2 points.

Canning Under Way In Mt. Airy Plants

Mount Airy, Md., Aug. 31 (Spl.). Corn canning operations, held up by the rains of last week, were resumed on Monday by the Mount Airy Canning Co. The yield, cannery officials said, will be approximately two-thirds normal.

Tomato packing was begun today at the Watersville plant of A. B. Sellman & Bro., while the corn canning plant at Woodbine is now operating on a full-time basis. Like the Mount Airy concern, the plant at Watersville is being operated on the NRA basis, Mr. Sellman, the proprietor, said.

Several hundred persons, it is estimated, will be given employment at the three county plants in lower Carroll County during the canning season.

Martinsburg Cannery Hires 200 Employes

Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 31 (Spl.).—A force of 200 employes was put to work on two shifts at the C. H. Musselman fruit canning plant at Inwood, near here, yesterday, for an indefinite time, to take care of as much as possible of the fruit blown to the ground in the orchards by the storm of a week ago in this section.

The plant is canning only apple sauce at present. At capacity the plant employs about 400.

Nervous Trend Causes Grains To Dip Slightly

Wheat Closes ¼ to 1 Cent Off While Corn Also Moves Lower.

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Grains hopped around nervously today and managed to finish with moderate losses. The market was decidedly erratic and studded with sharp bulges and breaks over a range of a little more than 2 cents a bushel in wheat. The course of wheat was closely followed by other grains. Prices worked irregularly higher after the opening downturn, only to ease again at the finish.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¼ to 1 cent below yesterday's close; corn easy and ⅝ to 1⅛ off; oats, ¼ to ¾ down; rye, ⅜ to ¾ higher, and provisions mixed, 8 cents lower to 10 cents advanced.

Trade Extremely Dull.

Trade was extremely dull much of the time because of evening up transactions for the approaching three-day holiday. Road maps were more in evidence than orders to buy or sell in the pits.

Profit taking by traders, who thought yesterday's 6-cent advance was too abrupt, brought reactions at the start, which were helped along by failure of Liverpool to reflect yesterday's gains in Chicago. The market rallied almost as quickly as it fell and then flopped around nervously. A late bulge swept prices almost a cent a bushel above the previous close, but this was eradicated before the session ended.

Little was heard regarding inflation, but there was some comment made on Washington reports over financial wires that the Government planned to permit distilleries to operate more freely in view of the prospects of prohibition repeal becoming a fact in a few weeks.

Argentina Drought Severe.

A private estimate that the wheat crop in the three Canadian prairie provinces would be 268,000,000 bushels, or 140,000,000 bushels less than in 1932 had little effect. Rains were reported in Australia, where badly needed. But Argentina received no moisture, with the crop situation in the northern provinces reported nearing an acute stage.

A bullish report on corn, issued by a private crop observer a day in advance of the others, had no apparent effect on prices. The first of the private reports—others are expected Friday—estimated a reduction in the corn crop of 203,000,000 bushels during August, with the estimated harvest now at 2,160,000,000 bushels. The official estimate a month ago was 2,273,000,000 bushels.

Oats followed wheat up and down. Rye found independent strength in the Washington news that distilling restrictions would be liberalized.

Provisions were mixed in tone, following grain on the upward swings, but reacting slowly. Most of the business was transferring of September contracts to later months.

Wall Street Briefs.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—Adrian D. Joyce, president of the Glidden Co., reports that sales for the first half of August aggregated $1,110,674, compared with $771,529 in the same period of August, 1932. Due to a transmission error in these dispatches on August 29, it was incorrectly stated that the company had losses of the above amounts.

The New York Life Insurance Co. announced today that its home office would maintain a five-day weekly schedule by closing Saturdays "in order to conform with the spirit of the national industrial recovery act." This will continue the summer schedule and will mean some increase in the number of employes.

L. R. Close has been elected president of the Lehigh Valley Coal Corporation, succeeding R. F. Grant, who has resigned.

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP).—L. B. Manning, vice president of the Cord Corporation, headed by E. L. Cord, today announced that the company had purchased the capital stock of the Smith Engineering Co., of Cleveland. The Smith company holds the exclusive license to manufacture, use and sell the Smith controlable pitch propeller for airplanes.

New officials of the Smith company were elected with W. H. Beal as president, P. G. Kemp, vice president, and Raymond S. Pruitt, general counsel and secretary. Manning, Cord, Beal, Pruitt, and R. A. Hock were chosen for the board of directors.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—August sales of National Cash Register Co., placed at $1,612,350, are the largest for any month since October, 1931. The company says the volume represents sales of small businesses rather than a few large orders.

The survey of freight car conditions, ordered by Joseph B. Eastman, Federal coordinator of transportation, has caused some banking specialists in equipment trust financing to anticipate early borrowing for equipment purchases by Class I railroads.

Life Insurance Prize Is Won by Frank D. Roach

First prize in the midsummer campaign of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co.'s local agency has been won by Frank D. Roach, chartered life underwriter, it was announced yesterday by H. Lawrence Choate, general agent of the local organization. Mr. Roach won with the highest total of premiums collected on new insurance.

He is one of the best-known life insurance men in Washington and is completing his twentieth year with the Mutual Benefit organization.

The campaign and a new policy were factors in giving the Choate agency of the Mutual Benefit the biggest August business in its entire history, and the biggest month's business so far this year, registering a total of 46 lives for $275,000.

The way in which the old-time life insurance companies have met the terrific financial test of recent months is evidenced by the Mutual Benefit's half-yearly statement, showing cash and Government securities on hand as of August 23, 1933, to be $16,000,000, as compared with $8,500,000 on last December 31.

More than $1,500,000 of policy loans have been repaid by policyholders in cash during the first half of 1933. The total amount paid out in cash to policyholders and beneficiaries under claims of all kinds and loans during the same six months exceeded $25,000,000.

Wool Market.

Boston, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—(U. S. Department of Agriculture).—Trade in wool continues quite heavy. Medium wools show marked strength with sales of strictly combing Ohio and similar fleeces in sizable quantities at 37@38 cents in the grease for 56s, ⅜ blood and at 36@37 cents for 48s, 50s, ¼ blood. Strictly combing 56s in territory lines bring 73@75 cents scoured basis, while 48s, 50s sell at 67@70 cents. Good French combing 64s and finer territory wools in original bags are selling at 77@78 cents scoured basis.

"Revolutionary" NRA Changes Seen as Logical, Permanent

New York, Aug. 31 (Spl.).—Revolutionary though the changes being brought about by the NRA in labor conditions and increased control of the Government over business may appear, nevertheless, they seem to fit logically into a longer trend of economic and social evolution, Moody's Investors Service declares in its monthly survey of business conditions issued today.

Average weekly hours of labor have declined from about 49 in 1913 to 45 in 1929 and to 35 to 40 at the present time under the codes. The average was in excess of 50 hours at the beginning of this century.

The analysis points out that the laissez-faire system in its pure form disappeared in this country toward the end of the past century and that it is only logical that further inroads into this system should have been made following a decade when it enjoyed relative renaissance with apparently deplorable results. Furthermore, the United States has been one of the few countries left in the world without an elaborate system of state socialism in one form or another.

So far as hours of work are concerned, the trend has been unmistakably downward for many years, in reflection of rising productivity of labor and machinery. NRA is merely accelerating this trend.

"Thus NRA has already 'succeeded' in one very important respect," Moody's declares. "It has given labor a shorter work period for the same, or higher pay. And modern history does not know a single example of labor as a whole being deliberately and permanently 'robbed' of the gains it had previously achieved; nor does it know one typical example of such gains being given up voluntarily."

Dried Fruits Steady.

New York, Aug. 31 (A.P.).—Dried fruits steady, unchanged.

Wholesale Prices for Farm And Food Products Advance

(Associated Press.)

After weeks of steady decline, an upswing in the wholesale prices on farm and food products for the week ended August 26 paved the way yesterday for an increase in the general wholesale price level for the week.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor yesterday placed the index of the general level of wholesale prices for the period at 69.6, as compared with 69.3 for the preceding week.

The figures are based on average prices for the year 1926 as 100.

Farm products, after declining from 59.6 to 57.5 during the four preceding weeks, stepped back to a 58.2 level.

Wholesale food prices had experienced a similar dip, going from 66.1 on July 29 to 64.4 August 19. For the most recently recorded week, however, they swung back to 65.0.

The general increase in wholesale prices was shared by all major groups except building materials, chemicals and drugs, and certain miscellaneous products. Hides and leather commodities led in the price upswing with an increase of 2 per cent. The index numbers compiled by the bureau were derived from price quotations on 784 commodities.

Business Seen Solidly Behind NRA Program

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—Business interests apparently are showing an "excellent" response to the NRA program, and "in spite of the complexities and irregularities of the situation, the impression is given that we are moving ahead and that real progress toward recovery is being made," says the current review of the Guaranty Trust Co.

"Whether under the stimulus of the recovery program or through the operation of normal recuperative forces," asserted the review, "the upward trend in business activity has continued, although a slight tapering off in some directions has been noted in the last few weeks.

"Most of the basic industries reported further sharp increases in output during July, and the expansion of industrial operations was accompanied by further gains in employment and some signs of improvement in retail trade. Among the important lines in which continued recovery was noted last month were steel output, bituminous coal production, railway freight traffic, bank debits, electric power production and foreign trade."

Crops in Anne Arundel Damaged by $200,000

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 31 (Spl.).—Damages to crops on Anne Arundel County farms by the recent storm amounted to over $200,000, according to estimates compiled today by Stanley E. Day, county agent.

Tobacco growers suffered the heaviest loss, damages aggregating over $100,000. Cantaloupes were next, $32,000; tomatoes, $28,000; corn, $22,000; late beans, $14,000 and late peaches, $10,000. The early peach crop was also heavily hit.

U. S. Dollar Heavy On Foreign Marts

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—The American dollar was a trifle heavy in terms of European gold exchanges today, but was fairly steady against the British pound sterling. The pound, at $4.52½ for cables, was up ¾ of a cent, however, and there was an unconfirmed report that the Bank of England had resumed its support of this currency.

French francs were firm all day and finished with a gain of .03 of a cent at 5.57½ cents. Dutch guilders were up ¼ of a cent at 57¼ cents, Swiss francs gained .13 of a cent at 27.46 cents and Belgian belgas advanced .09 of a cent to 19.86 cents.

German marks and the Scandinavians were moderately firm. Canadian dollars and Japanese yen were unchanged.

Output of Bituminous Coal Gains During Week

The National Coal Association, from incomplete car-loading reports from the railroads, estimates bituminous coal production in the United States for the week ended August 26 as about 7,675,000 net tons. Production for the corresponding week: 1932, 5,320,000 tons; 1931, 7,574,000 tons.

The report of the Bureau of Mines shows production of 7,375,000 tons for the week ended August 12 and 7,595,000 for the week ended August 19, 1933.

Large Steel Order Placed With U. S. by Argentina

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 31 (AP).—United States firms will be awarded contracts for 7,000,000 of 20,000,000 meters of sheet iron locust barriers which the Argentine government will order for October delivery, it was said in semiofficial quarters in the ministry of agriculture today.

British firms will supply the balance. The contracts will aggregate about $5,000,000.

Cotton Market Barely Steady In Late Sales

Southern, Foreign Selling Push Prices Down While Dec. Brings 9.58.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—Trading in cotton was quiet today, with the price movement irregular within a range of 8 or 10 points. An early decline was followed by rallies, but after selling up from 9.59 to 9.66 for December contracts prices eased again, with that delivery closing at 9.58. The final tone of the market was barely steady, at net declines of 6 to 11 points.

Initial prices were 7 to 10 points lower under some Southern and foreign selling, but offerings were light and the market steadied up shortly after the call. Houses with continental and Bombay connections were credited with selling at the start, but Liverpool seemed to be a moderate buyer.

The rally from the opening decline carried prices back within a few points of yesterday's closing quotations and later fluctuations were irregular, with prices sagging off during the last hour under a little Southern selling and liquidation. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the lowest on most positions.

Weevils Reported Busy.

Reports to the trade from the Memphis district covering western Tennessee, Arkansas, northern Louisiana, northern Mississippi and northern Alabama, complained of increased weevil activities. There were also reports of deterioration in portions of Georgia.

Local spot men reported a slow demand with the basis slightly lower, which, they say, is usual at this time of the year. Liverpool cables reported a featureless market there with hedging absorbed by limited buying and traders awaiting fresh developments.

Exports today, 36,866, making 533,291 so far this season. Port receipts, 28,637. U. S. port stocks, 2,963,715.

Cottonseed Oil.

New York, Aug. 31 (AP).—Bleachable cottonseed oil was dull and prices a shade easier today under liquidation and scattered local selling, promoted by the easiness of crude oil and the reaction in cotton and lard. Closing prices were 3 to 5 points lower, with sales of only six lots. Bleachable spot closed 4.75; September, 4.85; December, 5.12; January, 5.18, and March, 5.32.

World Buying Of U. S. Cotton Rises in Volume

43.7 Per Cent of Foreign Consumption Comes From America.

New York, Aug. 31 (Spl.).—One of the encouraging features of the world cotton situation from the standpoint of the cotton trade of this country is the fact that foreign countries have materially increased their consumption of American cotton, not only absolutely, but relatively to their use of foreign growths, during the past two seasons.

American cotton constituted 43.7 per cent of the total foreign consumption of all growths in the 1932-33 season, according to data compiled by the New York Cotton Exchange Service, compared with only 42.8 per cent in the 1931-32 season and only 35.3 per cent in the 1930-31 season. From 1930-31 to 1932-33, foreign consumption of American cotton increased 2,099,000 bales while consumption of foreign growths declined 576,000 bales.

The trend to a larger use of American and a smaller use of foreign cotton during the last two years is found in the returns from Great Britain, the Continent of Europe, and the Orient and minor consuming countries. From 1930-31 to 1932-33, Great Britain increased its consumption of American cotton by 431,000 bales, but decreased its consumption of foreign growths by 20,000 bales.

Gain on Continent.

The continent increased its use of American cotton by 370,000 bales, but reduced its consumption of foreign cotton by 88,000 bales. The Orient and minor consuming countries increased their spinning of American cotton by the extraordinary amount of 1,298,000 and decreased their spinning of foreign cottons by 468,000 bales.

It will be noted that the increase in the use of American cotton was greater than the decrease in the use of foreign growths. The net result was an increase of 1,523,000 bales in total consumption of all kinds of cotton abroad, according to the exchange figures. Total consumption of all growths has increased materially during the past two seasons in all foreign divisions of the world spinning industry. This improvement in foreign mill activity has accrued entirely to the benefit of American cotton. In only three previous seasons since the World War was foreign consumption of American cotton larger than last season.

The increase in the relative use of American cotton last season and the season before last represents a reverse swinging by foreign spinners to American cotton from foreign growths, after they had swung heavily from American cotton to foreign growths in the previous two years. As a result of the counter movement toward American cotton the American staple last season constituted nearly as large a percentage of the total consumption abroad as on an average in the previous decade.

Unusually Heavy Supplies.

The larger relative use of American cotton in the last two seasons has been owing in the main to the fact that during this period the supplies of American cotton have been unusually heavy, while the supplies of foreign growth have been moderate, resulting in American cotton selling at attractive levels relative to foreign cottons. When the world business depression began in 1929-30, the world had a large supply of foreign cottons and a moderate supply of the American staple, which depressed the relative prices of foreign growths, thereby increasing the consumption of them at the expense of American cotton.

This trend to foreign cottons was accentuated by the policy pursued by the American Government of withholding American cotton from the market in an effort to stem the price decline. The resultant curtailment in the consumption of American cotton, together with the abnormally large American crop and the small production abroad in 1931, reversed the supply situation and led to the accumulation of large supplies of the domestic staple. This caused a relative depression in the price of American cotton and this, in turn, resulted in larger consumption of the American fiber.

With American cotton production being sharply reduced under the Government's acreage control program, and with foreign production again moving upward, the relative price movements of American and foreign cottons will be watched with interest by the trade during the coming year. In consequence of the large carryover of American cotton from last season, the supply of American cotton for this season will be large relative to the supply of foreign cotton, notwithstanding the moderate size of the current American crop, and it is believed that this will keep the price of American cotton on a relatively attractive basis for some months, at least.

Cotton Moving at High Rate.

American cotton is moving from farms to markets and from markets to domestic and foreign mills at a materially higher rate than at this time last year and at a much higher rate than two years ago, according to the Cotton Exchange Service.

During the first three weeks of the new season since August 1 the movement of American cotton into sight, i. e., the movement from farms and smaller towns of the South to the larger markets or direct to domestic mills, has totaled 532,000 bales, compared with 400,000 in the same period last season, and 287,000 two seasons ago. The larger movement this season reflects the broader demand and heavier buying which has accompanied the increase in world consumption. The balance available for movement into sight later is estimated at 14,-237,000 bales, compared with 16,-2,000 a year ago and 18,382,000 two ars ago.

Montgomery in "Moulin Rouge"—World Premiere Tonight

Player Loaned For Lead With Feminine Star

Connie Bennett in Johnson Play; Warner Party; New Orchestra.

Darryl Zanuck, vice president in charge of production of Twentieth Century Pictures, the comparatively new company releasing through United Artists, is apparently one of the most ardent supporters the proposed code of fair competition of the motion picture industry can boast.

There is a provision in the code, as filed with Deputy Administrator Sol A. Rosenblatt, of the National Recovery Administration, which urges the utmost freedom in borrowing and loaning stars among the major producers of the industry. It is this portion of the code to which Mr. Zanuck seems especially devoted.

That is to say, it is to the borrowing portion of the clause that Mr. Zanuck seems primarily to have pinned his allegiance.

Having borrowed Wallace Beery from M-G-M for his production of "The Bowery," and Jackie Cooper from the same company for a kid part in the same picture, and George Raft from Paramount for still another assignment in the Chuck Connors-Steve Brodie classic, and Peggy Hopkins Joyce and Lilyan Tashman from other interests for five minutes each in "Broadway Through a Keyhole," one might suppose that Mr. Zanuck's enthusiasm for this particular article of the code might have waned.

Such, however, seems not to be the case. Mr. Zanuck goes right on borrowing stars, for the greater glory of the code, of course, without ever once having loaned anybody to anyone in return.

His latest foray was a highly successful one. Mr. Zanuck now announces that Robert Montgomery will be Constance Bennett's leading man in her first picture for Twentieth Century.

Bob Co-Star With Connie.

Mr. Montgomery, as a matter of fact, will costar with Miss Bennett in "Moulin Rouge," described as a lavish musical extravaganza, scheduled to go into production today.

One of the screen's most popular young men, Montgomery recently broke house records during a personal appearance engagement at the Capitol Theater, New York, and has appeared in such outstanding photoplay hits as "The Big House," "Hell Below," "The Divorcee," "Private Lives," "Letty Lynton," "Faithless," "Blondie of the Follies," "Made on Broadway," "When Ladies Meet" and numerous others.

Twentieth Century borrowed Montgomery from M-G-M, seemingly the major object of its interest as a contributory factor in observing both the spirit and the letter of the code, to augment a cast to which Tulio Carminati, late star of the stage hit, "Music in the Air," also recently has been added. Mr. Carminati will be remembered by veteran filmgoers, perhaps, as a handsome leading man who made his screen debut back in the old days of the silent pictures opposite Norma Talmadge.

Nunnally Johnson Script.

"Moulin Rouge" will be directed by Sidney Lanfield from a script by Nunnally Johnson, who recently scored so emphatically with the infectious humor of his "Mama Loves Papa," a delightfully droll starring vehicle for Mary Boland and Charlie Ruggles.

Now if the most tempermental of the Bennett girls can only recapture something of the naturalness and pep she displayed in "Bed of Roses," with Bob Montgomery as her foil, Mr. Johnson as her "feeder" and Al Dubin and Harry Warren to supply the songs and dance numbers for a company that will include 75 cavorting coryphees, this adaptation of the French play by Lajon de Bri ought to turn out to be something considerably better than debris!

Quite a gathering of talent at the Warner Brothers good-bye-again party to Maxine Doyle, and hello party to Gracie Barrie, in the Warner clubrooms in the Earle Theater Building yesterday afternoon. In addition to the temporarily retiring mistress of ceremonies and the young songstress who will take her place for the next six weeks, the ladies and gentlemen (sic) of the local dramatic desks and a flock of motion picture executives, there were present Hal LeRoy, Dorothy Dare, Sylvia Froos, Herman Timberg, jr., Mrs. Rogers, who is by way of being Gracie Barrie's mother, and practically all of Hollywood, thanks to the descriptive powers of Eddie Melcher, just back from there.

Show Business!

This "Broadway to Hollywood" film opening at the Palace today bids fair to take its place among the memorable monuments to the romance, the heartache and the glory of the theater and its people.

Not having been privileged to preview the picture—nobody was, so persnickety were Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer about insuring a strictly audience reaction to what they look upon as one of their prize achievements—this column is compelled to base its anticipatory appraisal upon the earest encomiums heaped upon the opus by that eminent showman, Mr. Norman Pyle, who is sure that "Broadway to Hollywood" will take its rightful place as the greatest recreation of the true spirit and history of show business that has ever found its way before a great and gaping public.

Having been since childhood engaged in one form or another of theatrical activity, Mr. Pyle has some slight notion of what the game is all about and his estimate of the degree to which its workings have been caught in the present production are worth something—not much, perhaps, since he is avowedly hired to sit on the corners of dramatic desks and pour out his sentimentally tear-drenched appreciations of a magnificent work magnificently done, but something.

Through Three Generations.

It is Mr. Pyle's evidently honest conviction—he couldn't be THAT good an actor!—that here is the one great picture to date detailing the actual life of the theater through three generations of an acting family.

That would be from the days of Tony Pastor, the daddy of vaudeville, down to the present era of the perfected talking picture.

Since it was written by Willard Mack, whose span of activity in the theater just about encompasses the period and events of his play, Mr. Pyle is probably right.

At any rate, it will only be a few hours now and we'll find out for ourselves!

Tonight's 9 o'clock performance at Loew's Palace, by the way, will mark one of a score or more official "world premieres" of "Broadway to Hollywood" being celebrated throughout the length and breadth of the land. For this occasion, City Manager Carter Barron has invited as guests of the management a distinguished representation of social, diplomatic and political Washington. There will be touches of Hollywood in the air and altogether the event is expected to be not only gay, but no less than gala!

"Bitter Sweet" a Hit.

According to a cable received by United Artists, the screen version of Noel Coward's "Bitter Sweet," opened to tremendous business at the Carleton Theater in London. Newspaper reviews are reported to have been unanimously enthusiastic.

This is the operetta that served to introduce the beautiful and blonde Evelyn Laye to American audiences on the stage, and in its picturized form is the third offering announced by RKO-Keith's for its "greatest show season," now being sensationally inaugurated by Katharine Hepburn in "Morning Glory," which enters its second week today.

It is interesting that the screen version of "Bitter Sweet" had its first British showing only a stone's throw from His Majesty's theater, where the original Charles B. Cochran stage production delighted audiences for nearly two years.

"Bitter Sweet" has just been accorded its American premiere at the Rivoli Theater in New York, where it was widely acclaimed.

When "Good-Bye Again" opens at the Earle today it will be interesting to note to what extent Joan Blondell's vivacious beauty has been enhanced by improved camera treatment. "Good-Bye Again," in which she is featured with Warren William, was photographed by George Barnes. George Barnes, in case you had forgotten, is by way of being Miss Blondell's husband.

Sir Nigel Signed.

Sir Nigel Playfair, English actor-manager, who has written as well as produced for the stage, according to cable advices from London, was engaged this week for a prominent role in "The Lady Is Willing," which Columbia Pictures is making in England under the personal supervision of Harry Cohn, president of the company.

Leslie Howard and Binnie Barnes are carrying the principal roles and Cedric Hardwicke and Nigel Bruce have already been signed for feature parts in this important production, which is being brought to the screen under the direction of Gilbert Miller.

Managed Theater.

As an actor, Sir Nigel Playfair had appeared with every well-known English actor and actress in every conceivable kind of role, until in 1918 he assumed actor-managership of a theater in London, where he produced several successful plays, the most notable of which were "Abraham Lincoln" and "The Beggar's Opera."

He made his initial bow in pictures in one of the first films ever produced in England. It was entitled "Princess Clementina." His next appearance was in "The Perfect Understanding," with Gloria Swanson.

In the supporting cast with Corinne Griffith in the revival of Noel Coward's "Design for Living," with which the National Theater will open its season a week from Monday night, September 11, will be another former screen luminary of repute in the person of John Litel. Mr. Litel should not be confused with Bert Lytell, another cinema notable, coming along a little later in "Criminal At Large," at the same theater.

New Davis Orchestra.

A crack Meyer Davis orchestra, under the conductorship of Harry Albert, will open at the Club Michel tonight as the chief musical attraction of the fall and winter season at the popular Walter von Herbulis resort.

Dance music presented by this new Davis unit will be the same in general character as that sponsored by Harry Albert on the roof of the Army and Navy Country Club, where he has been directing throughout the summer.

Mr. Albert, although just "a young fella," is highly experienced in this type of work. He was a former director at the Club Chantecler, most fashionable of the Capital's night spots, and later was sent abroad to conduct for Meyer Davis. He introduced the "American idea" in dance rhythms at the Lido, near Venice, in Cannes and other fashionable points along the French and Italian Riviera.

A crack personnel is said to have been worked out for this new Club Michel band, including a number of Washington's younger musicians noted for their ability in handling "hot" numbers.

His many local friends will be happy to know that another member of the cast supporting Corinne Griffith in "Design for Living," opening week at the National, will be Freddie Sherman. Freddie Sherman is a pretty good actor.

Don't begin to sift the ashes in those white flannels yet. It will turn hot again, don't worry!

A Little Hollywood Gossip Over the Teacups!

"The picture is a symposium of masterpieces. Every one who had a hand in the making of it seems to have surpassed himself or herself, beginning with that pair of incomparable troupers, Alice Brady and Frank Morgan, neither of whom have ever excelled their portrayals of the two Hacketts, from their first appearance at Tony Pastor's to Morgan's passing, on the sound stage in a Hollywood studio.
"Pages of enthusiastic commendation could be written about a hundred features of the picture and its individual situations and performances. "Broadway to Hollywood" is literally ablaze with talent, and the shrewdness of both the casting and the direction is shown in the fact that no player fails to score. All contribute just what was needed to round out a distinguished and powerful drama."

Red Sox Down Yanks, 15-2, Boosting Idle Nats' Lead to 8 1-2 Games

Cooke Stars With Four Safeties

Leads 18-Hit Attack on Former Mates; Gets Homer, Triple.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP).—The New York Yankees returned home from their disastrous Western invasion today to run into a barrage of hits and Dusty Rhodes' effective pitching as the Boston Red Sox won, 15 to 2.

Three former Yankees were largely responsible for the champions' defeat, which left them eight and one-half games back of the Washington Nationals, who were idle. Rhodes held his former teammates to six scattered hits. Allen (Dusty) Cooke led the Sox's 18-hit offensive with four hits, including a double and a triple, while Bill Werber drove in five runs with a double and a triple.

Smead Jolley accounted for three of Boston's runs with a pair of singles and a home run, the only circuit blow of the game.

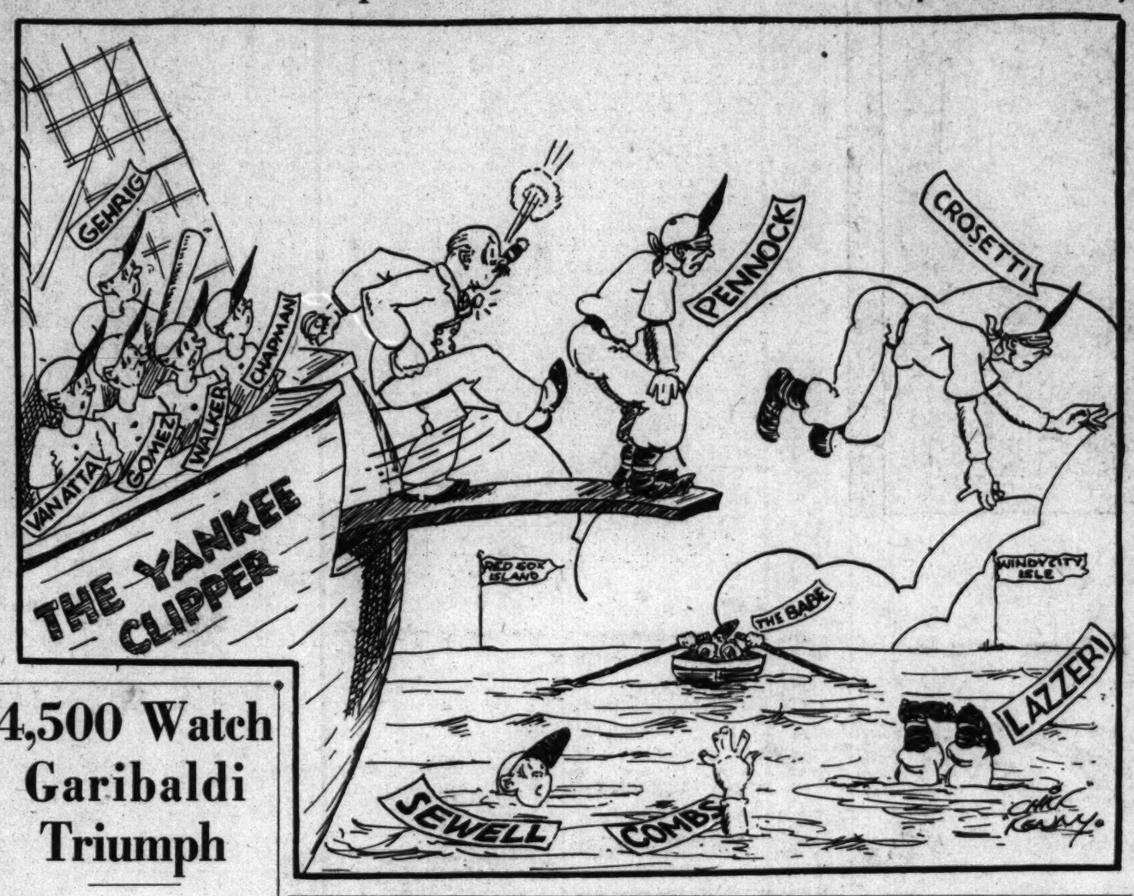
Exit From the Good Ship Yankee —By Chick Kenny



4,500 Watch Garibaldi Triumph

Zaharias Loses Decision on Short Count; Steele and Sarpolis Draw.

WASHINGTON rassle addicts have seen many a long count while the referee was giving a man time to climb back into the ring after having been tossed out, but Bennie Bortnick last night set a world's record for a short one. Almost immediately after George Zaharias' shoulders touched the mat in the feature fracas, he gave Gino Garibaldi the decision.

Bortnick, no doubt, had a reason for his action; in fact, he had two of 'em. One was that Zaharias "forgot" instructions given him to perform according to Hoyle and got away with murder—or close to it—and the other was that it was Zaharias who tossed Bortnick head first out of the ring while rassling Ray Steele last week. Either reason probably justified the referee's action as he hung up his new record for speedy counting.

4,500 Fans Attend.

The show was a benefit for the District Firemen's Labor Day parade and it gave the 4,500 crowd plenty of action from start to finish. Promoter Joe Turner's warning that the boys must rassle cleanly was observed until they shook hands upon entering the ring. Then it was a rough-house affair and, if it wasn't a grudge affair, it was a mighty good imitation. Garibaldi was anything but gentle, but he hewed pretty close to the line of what might be called fair play in this peculiar type of sport.

But Zaharias kneed and slugged and kicked so frequently that Bortnick hardly can be blamed for getting under the circumstances was to tell him to keep away. If any club wants to make a deal for Earnshaw during the winter months they will find me in a receptive mood, as I don't think he'll ever wear an Athletic uniform again.

"Earnshaw will get his check just the same on the first and fifteenth of the month, but I do not want to see him around the park any more and notified him to that effect."

Max Baer and Wife In Difficulties Again

Hollywood, Aug. 31 (AP).—Max Baer and his wife, the former Dorothy Dunbar, of films, apparently have fallen into domestic difficulties again.

The boxer indicated as much today at a film studio, where he is making a picture.

"My wife and I see very little of each other these days," Baer said. "She wants to go back into the movies and I don't want my wife working. She is still living at the house but I expect something definite to happen by Saturday."

Indignant Ruth Denies He's Through

States He Hopes to Play in '34, But Won't Know Until Spring.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31 (AP).—Babe Ruth was so indignant tonight about a published story that he was "through" and had about decided to "hang up his spikes" that he called up the sports editor of the Associated Press to make a sweeping denial and dictate a formal statement.

"Say, where do those fellows get that stuff about me being all washed up?" demanded the Yankee slugger. "When I am ready to quit for good, everybody will know it. What's more, I'm going to make a statement now and make it stick. Take this down."

Won't Know 'Till Spring.

Whereupon the Babe dictated the following:

"So much has been written about my plans for next year that I wish to make myself clear on this matter. I will make no decision about retiring from baseball until I am convinced I can no longer play. I will not know about 1934 until I have had some spring training. I hope to play next year. I believe I will be able to, so, for the present at least, I am not retiring from baseball."

This sounded more in the spirit of hope than conviction from the veteran, now nearing 40, who has been playing only part-time with the Yankees for the past few weeks, and manifesting visible signs of

Braves Trim Giant Lead; Win, 7-3

Five Runs in Eighth Rout Parmalee; Cantwell Scores His 19th.

BOSTON, Aug. 31 (AP).—Wally Berger's twenty-fifth homer today started the Boston Braves on a rampage that enabled them to open their crucial six-game series with a 7-3 victory over the league-leading New York Giants, which reduces their lead to five games and provided Right-hander Ben Cantwell with his nineteenth successful start of the season.

A ladies' day crowd of 35,000 pennant-mad fans gloated over the downfall of Roy Parmalee, who performed in acceptable fashion until the angry Tribesmen swarmed all over him in the eighth for a 5-run rally by batting around.

Parmalee Knocked Out.

After three singles and two errors pushed over three runs, Manager Bill Terry yanked his star right-hander and called upon Herman Bell to take up the burden with men on first and third and none out. Two more tallies were pushed over before Bill Urbanski, the ninth Brave to come up in the session, retired the side by grounding out to Shortstop "Blondy" Ryan.

Vergez, of Giants, Through for 1933

Boston, Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Johnny Vergez, New York Giants third baseman, was operated on tonight at St. Elizabeth's Hospital for acute appendicitis.

He will be unable to play for the remainder of the season, the doctor said.

Moore Also Is Out.

Boston, Aug. 31 (AP).—Randy Moore, the Braves' versatile utility man, who has been playing right field since the club started its winning streak, was on tonight's patient list at St. Elizabeth's Hospital here.

He was hit on the hand by a ball pitched in today's Braves-Giants game by Roy Parmelee and the X-ray prints revealed a fracture. Hospital authorities said he would be unable to play again this season.

Miss Van Wie, Enid Wilson To Battle

Win Over Mrs. Cheney and Miss Glutting, Respectively.

EXMOOR COUNTRY CLUB, Highland Park, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP).—Exmoor's fairways, battle ground of the thirty-seventh American women's golf crown, were cleared tonight for the long-awaited international duel of champions.

Survivors of a day's shelling that shattered par on every salient, Miss Enid Wilson, three times winner of the English championship, and Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, America's reigning queen of golf, marched into the semifinals for a struggle that promises to be a classic of the years if they play as they did today in par or better.

With them came two of the world's greatest figures of golf, Helen Hicks, of New York, 1931 American champion, and Maureen Orcutt, of Haworth, N. J., who shot

This Morning

With Shirley L. Povich.

THE American League's vital statistics make very good reading this morning for the pennant-conscious public hereabouts.

A glance at the standings of the clubs reveal that the 8½-game lead of the Nats over the Yankees is no myth, and as I have said on previous occasions, a lead like that at this stage of the race is the next thing to a written guarantee that the Nats are "in."

Just supposin,' for example, that the Nats do a bit better than break even in those 29 games they have left to play, winning 15 and losing 14, which isn't asking much; then the Yankees would have to win 24 out of their remaining 30 games to create a tie for the pennant. In other words, New York would have to win four out of every five. Which is asking too much.

Babe Still a Player.

The active baseball career of Babe Ruth, which has been given a decent interment by the scriveners on odd occasions ever since the Babe came North with his celebrated tummy-ache in 1925, has not yet breathed its last, according to that indisputable authority, the Babe himself.

The Great Man, who read yesterday's papers, fought his way to a telephone immediately and announced to the world that he was still a ball player and as far as 1934 was concerned, 1934 would take care of itself. The Babe isn't through.

Babe Ruth must be in the line-up every day to earn that $52,000 per annum that he draws down with the Yankees, and in 1934 those spindly legs that are tottering under his massive frame will be no younger. He's staring a salary cut for 1934 in the face.

Manager's Pay Lower.

Ruth must make his pile as a ball player. As a manager, barring phenomenal success, he can't earn $50,000 a year. If he is fairly successful, he may draw a $25,000 stipend. But Ruth as a manager,

Mack Says He'll Consider Bids for George Earnshaw

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31 (U.P.). George Earnshaw, the big right-hander whose fireball helped the Philadelphia Athletics to win two world championships, probably never will appear in the uniform of that team, Manager Connie Mack said today.

In a statement from Syracuse, Mack said Earnshaw took his personal belongings from Shibe Park yesterday and retired for the season, at his request.

"Earnshaw has pleased me at no time this season," Mack said, "and I took this action because I did not want to bother with him any more. He didn't mean anything to us at any time this year, so there is no reason to have him around. To tell the truth I was tired looking at him and things are more congenial without him.

"As I never intend to pitch him any more, I thought the best thing

Suit of Seribe Costs Chisox-Bucs $1,000

Amarillo, Tex., Aug. 31 (AP). Jerry Malin, Amarillo sports editor, won a verdict of $1,000 today in his suit against the Chicago White Sox and the Pittsburgh Pirates for their failure to play an exhibition baseball game here last April.

Malin, who promoted plans for the game had sued for $1,300. Officials of the teams cited weather conditions in announcing it had been called off.

Persian Star, Paying $10.70, Is Surprise Victor in Feature on Marlboro Card

Mare Length Victor Over Sambo G.

Winner Second for Day for Jockey Cruz; Rides Four to Place.

PERSIAN STAR, an old mare who earns her oats running on Maryland's half-mile ovals, and Harold Cruz, the Washington boy who can ride horses on any man's race track, combined to account for the feature race at Marlboro yesterday. The contest, witnessed by Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore for whom it was named, drew the limit field of eight. Trailing the Albright-owned mare at the finish were Sambo G. and Saucy Victor.

Some 4,000 turf fans, the majority from the Capital, saw the race. For most of the 6½ furlongs, it appeared to be a two-horse proposition, with Mordrom and Sambo G. battling for the lead. Persian Star was nowhere in particular until the turn for the stretch. By this time Mordrom had faded from the picture. Cruz went to work hard on his mount when straightened out and the margin between him and Sambo G. closed like a vise. When the judges had their say, Persian Star was the winner by a length, to pay a $10.70 mutuel.

In Money Six Times.

This victory was the high point of another busy day for young Cruz. After being out of the money in the first, he collected two wins and four seconds.

The favorite players were off to a good start. Biff, under a terrific whipping by R. Merritt, was up in the final strides to take the opener from Nay Nay and Princess Wrack. Plain Ace, at mountainous odds, wilted after setting the pace to the far turn.

It took a rough start to end Cruz's winning streak at six. He had the mount on Carvel Hall in the second. At the break, Hinight swung to the rail and bumped the Labrot gelding, with the result that Cruz had to battle to get his charge in the running.

Helen's Alibi provided a substantial $14.10 mutuel in winning the third race, which marked the defeat of the heavily played Bohemian Grove, with Cruz up.

Grace Bunting Repeats.

Grace Bunitng made it two victories in as many days in the secondary feature—the District of Columbia. Cruz had the mount, which was backed into favoritism. He had to ride his best race, however, to stave off the closing drives of Black Dreams and Handley. The winner was the favorite.

Redcliffe, with the dusky C. Jackson aboard, made a show of his field in the sixth, leading all the way. En Passant was second and Fusco third. Madge's Fellow took the final. Gunther was a half length away, with Kingbird third.

Strange as It Seems —By John Hix

For further proof address the author, inclosing a stamped envelope for reply. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

THE American Bank Note Co., which prints money for foreign nations and securities for American firms, always has—of all things—a counterfeiter on its staff. He must be a good counterfeiter, but an honest one.

He is provided with all the gadgets and facilities that any counterfeiter could hope to use, and a laboratory in which to work. His only duty is to attempt to copy bank notes made by the company so cleverly that they might pass as genuine. When he turns out a piece of counterfeiting too realistic the bank note company makes its product a little more difficult.

The company acts on the theory that if their own experts can not counterfeit their notes and securities, nobody can.

Known to most people are two kinds of alcohol—grain and wood. Grain is the kind that is used in liquors, extracts, cosmetics and other products. Wood is the deadly poison, used as a fuel and antifreeze compound. There are, however, scores more which have never been used commercially to any great extent.

In the methyl series, of which both grain and wood alcohol are members, about 60 different kinds have been produced in the chemical laboratory. Many more, chemists say, could be made. In other distinct groups still others could be made.

Strange as it seems, some of the higher alcohols are waxy in nature and, being neither intoxicating nor poisonous, are just like so much beeswax.

Marlboro Race Track.

Dear Al:

Why don't you try to put over a place parlay today on Cruz's seven mounts to place? They all figure pretty close, and those that don't figure will figure with this boy in the saddle. Young Harold, his mother calls him, is much improved over his form of last spring. He had the rough edges worn off of his riding in New York this summer and seems destined to give some of the star jockeys a fit when the major meets start hereabouts later in the month. Of course, he has little opposition here. But he is getting them away faster, rating them better, and has learned to swing a furious whip when the occasion arises. And, what's more, he's a little gentleman.

BILL.

First race—Karonite ran two fair races at Cumberland and will have the alert Cruz aboard today. The jump-up in riders may make this one win. Tody West was scratched yesterday with this in view. Scotty Don has a good post, but lots of weight.

Second race—Bokie B., another Cruz mount, is far too good for this field. Shipped to Maryland at tops and is ready for a purse. Noajoyce should go well after those conditioners. Rock Sun for the rest.

Third race—Transgressor needs one scratch to get into this field and may provide the biggest mutuel of the meeting. However, this one must draw at least a fair rider. That last race was better than the charts show. Ruth Tidings picks up 8 pounds and gets second call. Cruz will ride. Dunora for the rest.

Fourth race—Flaming Mamie likes distance but can sprint well enough to take care of this crew. I understand that Cruz will not have the mount. He is booked to pilot Saucy Victor, which moves this cheap one up. However, I prefer the sharp Flageolet for the place.

Fifth race—Golden Princess ran all over the track in that last race. Was taken behind horses and bumped, but still had enough to win. I'm taking this one to upset Cruz and Aella, the combination that walked away with a purse here. Starry to show.

Sixth race—This looks like the race they have picked out for Noisy Miss. Hired Cruz to do the riding. That combination will have Sand Bell to beat. However, Rod Rack and Sand Bell are likely to run each other into the ground.

Seventh race—Miss Catalan, Cruz up, to take the final. Light Breeze figures to make it a close finish. The sleeper here may be Ricks. Reported in fair form.

Miller, of D. C., Enters Horses in Keller Fair

Keller, Va., Aug. 31 (Spl.).—According to present plans, W. E. Miller, of Washington, will have some horses racing at the fair here on Friday and Saturday. H. M. Simpson, of Washington, has two runners entered for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

PLAIN ACE	112	8	8	1½	1½	1½x	7½	Brooks	76.50
LAMARIA	107	1	7	7½	7½½	8	8	Cruz	8.35

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BIFF, $4.40, $3.10, $2.30; NAY NAY, $3.80, $2.60; PRINCESS WRACK, $4.90.

BIFF, blocked leaving the stall, carried wide at the first turn and stumbling at the turn for home, was still good enough to come on and win. NAY NAY, well up throughout, had no excuses. PRINCESS WRACK, used up chasing PLAIN ACE, the early pacemaker, had nothing left.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $300. The Laurel. For all ages. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:45. Off at 2:47. Winner, P. A. Bonsal's (Jr.) ch. g. (2), by American Flag—Mervinia. Trained by A. Hutchins. Value to winner, $200; second, $60; third, $30; fourth, $10. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:51 2-5, 1:11 2-5.

Horses	Wgt.	Post	St.	¼	½	Str.	Fin.	Jockeys	Straight

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AS ALWAYS, $8.00, $2.80, $2.50; CARVEL HALL, $2.40, $2.40; HINIGHT, $3.20.

AS ALWAYS, off slowly, was kept out of trouble, but was lucky to win. CARVEL HALL, much the best, was blocked leaving the stalls and didn't get clear sailing until well into the stretch and just missed. HINIGHT set a fast early pace, but had no excuses. The others were outmatched.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $300; claiming. The Potomac. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:19. Off at 3:22. Winner, J. D. Baker's blk. g. (3), by Alibi—Helen Adkin. Trained by E. Brining. Value to winner, $200; second, $60; third, $30; fourth, $10. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:50, 1:09 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HELEN'S ALIBI, $14.10, $4.40, $3.30; BOHEMIAN GROVE, $2.80, $2.40; CLEAR KNIGHT, $2.90.

HELEN'S ALIBI, a rated off the pace for a half, came very fast when given her head to win easily. BOHEMIAN GROVE cut out the early running, but was no match for the winner. CLEAR KNIGHT, running in improved form, had no excuses. WING SHOT showed early foot and should improve.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $300; claiming. The District of Columbia. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:50. Off at 3:51. Winner, H. C. Vaughn's ch. f. (3), by Bunting—Gracenote. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $200; second, $60; third, $30; fourth, $10. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:09 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GRACE BUNTING, $4.40, $3.10, $2.30; BLACK DREAMS, $4.50, $2.90; HANDLEY, $2.60.

GRACE BUNTING led throughout to win handily. BLACK DREAMS ran an even race. HANDLEY closed very fast from a slow beginning. SMALL CHANGE was used up chasing the winner.

FIFTH RACE—Six and one-half furlongs. Purse, $300; claiming. The Mayor Howard W. Jackson Purse. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:27. Off at 4:28. Claude Rippy Winner Over Connelly, 1 Up, in Uptown Golfers' Tournament

4-Hole Lead Is Futile to Medalist

Former N. C. Ace Evens Match on 18th to Draw Away.

Connelly's Rally Ends in Hooked Drive as Tie Match Looms.

CLAUDE RIPPY, former Shelby, N. C., shotmaker, yesterday won his first championship here since coming to Washington a year ago.

Rippy defeated John Connelly, medalist, in the finals of the "Uptown" tournament at Rock Creek, by 1 up. Connelly was in rare form at the start, winning the first four holes to reach the seventh hole, all even with Old Man Par. At the turn, Rippy was three down, with Connelly having a 35 to his foe's 39. Rippy made a comeback on the stretch, rifling a birdie 3 on the eighteenth to square the match.

Rippy Sinks 8-Footer.

Rippy grew stronger in the afternoon round, and plunked in a nifty 8-footer for a birdie 3 on the ninth, to go to the tweny-eighth with a 2-up advantage. Connelly won the twenty-eighth with a par 4 to Rippy's 6, and made a brilliant chip over a dead stymie from 2 feet to gain a half and save himself a hole on the thirty-second.

With Rippy leading, 1 up, Connelly hooked his drive into the woods on the thiry-fourth, failed to ge out, and picked up. Dormie two, Rippy lost the short thirty-fifth by three-putting the green, but clinched the match by gaining a half in 4 on the home green.

Betty Garber, the lone girl golfer left in the tournament, reached the finals of the fifth flight by beating John L. Malone, 7 and 6. She shot a 40 for the first 9. She meets E. A. Carlin, conqueror of David McGlosson, 4 and 3.

Sol Amanuel advanced to the third round of the fourth flight by defeating Mrs. T. M. Wilkinson, 6 and 5.

Wilson, Van Wie, In Golf Semifinal

76, 3 under par today, to equal the medal record set by Miss Wilson in the qualifying round.

Every one of the four survivors shot spectacular golf to turn back spirited challenges today. The tall, blonde English girl from the Nottingham hills, was 3 under par as she defeated Charlotte Glutting, of West Orange, N. J., her conqueror in last year's quarter finals, 2 and 1.

Miss Orcutt, coming from behind with a great 36 that tied men's par on the second nine, broke perfect figures by three shots and scored seven birdies to best Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, by only 1 up, one stroke and two birdies.

Miss Hicks was 1 under par as she won by the decisive margin of 4 and 3 over Lucile Robinson, of Des Moines, Western champion.

Miss Van Wie shot perfect golf and matched a birdie on the final green, to survive after a stirring battle with Mrs. Leona Cheney, of San Gabriel, Calif., 1 up.

Garibaldi Winner As 4,500 Watch

ting disgusted with him, and, after tolerating the murderous tactics for 26 minutes, awarec victory to his foe via the short count route. The end came rather suddenly. Zaharias was punishing his foe with a series of crotch-holds and body slams when suddenly Garibaldi collected with one of his famed back-kicks, Zaharias hit the floor, and within the space of less than a second was counted out. He moaned, cried and threatened, but Bortnick quickly left the ring and police escorted the loser to the showers.

Dr. Karl Sarpolis made himself many friend: and was promoted several notches in the rankings when he held Ray Steels to a 45-minute draw in the semifinal. For 20 minutes it was a clean, genteel bout. Then the Doctor did a little painful muscle manipulating, Steele lost his temper and started slugging—and then the fun began. But Sarpolis gave just about as much as he had to take and both were going strong at the finish.

Son Jennings and Abie Coleman fought to no decision in one of the preliminaries, while the other two ended in short order. In one, Cliff (Swede) Olsen downed Tony Felice as the result of a couple of combination arm stretches, shoulder jolts and flying tackles in 7 minutes, while it took Pat O'Shocker but 6½ minutes to dispose of Hans Bauer.

With Hook And Sinker . . .

By Jean Monk.

MY good friend, Capt. I. Mishtowt, for a number of years popular manager of the Point Lookout Hotel, writes under date of August 26 to let readers of this column know that trout and bluefish are putting on all sorts of acrobatics right up close to the hotel these days.

Cornfield Harbor, just around the bend in the mouth of the Potomac, is filled with these fish and many good catches are being made.

He says Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Berger, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunter and William Cravens, all of Washington, made recent good catches near the hotel.

"You may be interested," Capt. Mishtowt continues, "to know that during the storm the hotel suffered no damage. Everything here is in good shape and we are taking care of business as usual."

Trout, Bluefish Season.

Trout and bluefish reports are now the order of the day, for we are now in the trout and bluefish season. Capt. Warren Denton, Brooms Island, writes August 28:

"You may state in your column that trout and blues are being caught here now, some parties catching as high as 60 to the boat yesterday (last Monday), some of them weighing 3 pounds and over. And they caught as high as 12 bluefish to the boat."

Capt. Warren drops this good thought: "The storm seems to have driven the trout and blues into the river, and I think fishing here over the week-end will be good."

And from Piney Point comes a good report, handed in by a 12-year-old fisherman, Robert Kirtland, who lives at 3409 Patterson street northwest. Last Monday, Robert and his two friends, Richard Barringer, 12, and Victor Barringer, 11, got up a fishing party, and they took along with them Lieut. Comdr. F. B. Kirtland and Mrs. Kirtland.

Robert says they intended to fish from an outboard motor boat, but the motor was missing or unruly or something, so they just rowed out. They were out for about an hour and caught 12 nice trout and some pan-size hardhead. These Waltonians are going again soon, and I think they are out after this column's gold shark tooth prize for the biggest fish caught.

Shady Side comes in quietly. Frank Del Vecchio, Mr. Simms and son and Mr. Loffler tried their luck at this place Tuesday from 4 till 9 a. m., in one of Capt. R. E. Lee's boats. They landed a fair catch of hardhead and trout, but no bluefish. Three of the trout, however, and one of the croakers were 3-pounders.

The big ballroom, the popular dining room, and those attractive cottages over the water's edge at Whitestone Beach were all swept away in the recent storm. This is the Culver Beach on the outskirts of Irvington, Va.

Clem C. Spinks, of Washington, has just returned from this place. He says the steamboat landing, the ferry landing and the fishing boat piers at Irvington were all destroyed. But the fish—they were not harmed. Bluefish and croakers.

Exceptional Catches.

He says the big menhaden boats, of Reedville, were bringing in exceptional catches. And he got a kick out of a visit to one of the factories where 50,000 tons of these bunkers every summer are turned into oil and fertilizer.

A. H. G. Mears, Wachapreague, writes, August 29: "Many boats and guides O. K. for fishing. Catches since storm have been on inside only, consisting of perch, hog fish, croakers and a few trout. If weather continues favorable, fishing should be good on ocean by Saturday, September 2."

Quite a number of local anglers are waiting for the fish to start biting again. They are under the impression that, following a severe storm, fish stop feeding for a few days. This is an error. After a severe electrical storm fish stop feeding for three or four days. But a wind storm, such as the recent hurricane, merely blows them toward the shore, in line with the course of the wind.

A severe wind storm, however, sends crabs scudding to the bottom, where they remain for about 48 hours.

Babe Ruth Spikes Retirement Tale

failure to stand the day-by-day grind.

The Babe said he had not yet had any conversation with Col. Jacob Ruppert, Yankee owner, as to signing a 1934 contract, or as to any other angle of his future. The former home run king's salary was reduced from $75,000 to $52,000 this year.

Asked about the speculation he might manage the Boston Red Sox or Chicago White Sox next year, if he finds he can not play regularly again, Ruth said he hadn't talked with anyone and didn't know of any offer or action on that subject.

"Just make it clear to the boys I'm not quitting now, or next year, if I can help it," concluded the Babe.

"Thanks, kid."

Canzoneri Offers To Instruct Long

Pompton Lake, N. J., Aug. 31 (U.P.).—Tony Canzoneri, who was born in New Orleans, tonight wired Senator Huey Long an invitation to visit his training camp here and obtain instructions in fisticuffs.

The former lightweight champion's message read:

"Don't be discouraged. Iots of fellows have found themselves overnight. Come on up here and become one of my sparring partners. After all, I'm an old Louisiana boy myself, as I was born in New Orleans, and I still feel a certain loyalty to the old home State.

"If you will place yourself under my tutelage, I'm pretty sure I can guarantee you a few wins."

West Winner; Vines Beats Allison

Californians Nose Out East, Stoefen and Tidball Clinching Series.

ORANGE LAWN TENNIS CLUB, Orange, N. J., Aug. 31 (AP).—California's supremacy in tennis asserted itself once more today as the West defeated the East, 5 matches to 4, in the fifteenth annual renewal of the intersectional series.

Ellsworth Vines, captain of the Western team that was composed entirely of Californians, staged an impressive exhibition of court tactics to overpower his Davis Cup teammate, Wilmer Allison, 6—3, 6—2, in the final singles encounter of the nine-match tourney.

Finally, with the match at a 4-all deadlock, it remained for Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles giant who helped George Lott win the national doubles crown yesterday, and Jack Tidball, also of Los Angeles, to clinch the series for the West.

Are Victors, 14—12, 6—2.

Playing Frankie Parker, runner-up with Frank Shields to the Stoefen-Lott combination, and Gregory Mangin, the Pacific Coast pair scored a 14—12, 6—2, triumph in a sensational struggle.

The day started with the East leading, 3—1.

In the other matches today, Parker won by default over Gene Mako, 4—6, 3—1, love-15, when the University of Southern California freshman sprained his ankle; Stoefen had an easy time in breezing through John Van Ryn, 6—3, 7—5, and Joseph Coughlin and Henry Culley, of the West, outplayed J. Gilbert Hall and Manuel Alonso, 6—3, 6—1.

Is Highly Improved.

There was no question but that the elongated Vines, who first won the National singles title in 1931 and repeated last year, was a highly improved player today over the Vines who failed in the Davis Cup singles with the British this year. As a matter of fact, he was far superior to Vines, who only yesterday teamed with Keith Gledhill, and lost to Allison and Van Ryn in straight sets.

Only once did Vines' powerhouse service fall down, Allison breaking through in the initial game of the match. Vines came back in the next game to knot the score by breaking through Allison and never again was in danger.

Nats and Macks To Battle Today of 13 straight," said Joe, whose average slumped from a brilliant .345 to a sickly .309 after leaving the East.

Cronin has Earl Whitehill, the league's leading pitcher, dusted off and ready to fling at the A's in the game tomorrow, to be followed by a double-header on Saturday. Whitehill will be seeking his ninth straight win and his nineteenth of the season, compared to only 6 defeats.

Indications are that the Nats will meet up with Lefty Grove tomorrow, for the smoke-ball king of the A's has had nearly a full week's rest. He is one of the few pitchers to beat the Nats three times this season and certainly will get into the series before it is over if he doesn't pitch tomorrow.

Absent From Drill.

Buddy Myer, Sam Rice and Joe Kuhel were absent from the workout at Griffith Stadium, when Cronin ordered further rest for the trio. Myer and Rice are recovering from mild attacks of grippe and Kuhel turned up yesterday with a huge boil. All three will be available for the game tomorrow, however.

The Nats will be joined in Philadelphia tomorrow by Owner Clark Griffith, who considers himself a lucky omen for the team in view of the 13-game winning streak the club enjoyed in the West while he was traveling with it.

Jones Battles Johnson at Twin City

Leading Negro Heavies to Feature Program for Next Wednesday.

TWO of the world's greatest Negro battlers, Billy Jones and Larry Johnson, next Wednesday night are to flash on Twin City Arena's weekly boxing card. Claimant of the world's colored heavyweight title following his graduation from the light-heavies, Jones defends his championship claim against Johnson over a ten-round route.

A cofeature and interesting shorts are to round out the show.

Defeated Rosenbloom.

Twice conqueror of Maxie Rosenbloom and master of virtually the entire light-heavyweight fistic field during his sojourn in that division, Jones has advanced a peg higher in the hope of landing opposition denied him in the 175-pound class.

"Billy realizes that he'll never be given the chance to get anywhere in the light-heavyweight field," Manager Jimmy Erwin announces, "therefore he's decided to tackle the heavies under my management."

Interleague Net Play To Start Tomorrow

Play in the interleague tennis championships will commence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bureau of Standards courts, with the Bureau of Standards, suburban champions, meeting Monument, Public Parks titleholders.

In the lower bracket, Veterans, Capital City League champions, will draw the Treasury team, Departmental League champions, with the match scheduled at a future date possibly at Wardman Park.

Dodgers Bow Twice To Cards, 10-3, 10-4

Brooklyn, Aug. 31 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals pounded out two victories over the Brooklyn Dodgers today, winning the second game, 10 to 4, behind Jess Haines' steady pitching after taking the opening contest, 10 to 3.

Jim Collins scored two of the runs in the nightcap with a homer in the first inning.

unless he buys an interest in the club, does not rate half the wage he earns as a player.

The Babe is said to be flirting with offers to manage either the Red Sox or the White Sox. But he would have to be a playing-manager to exercise his drawing power at the gate. Walter Johnson, always a powerful drawing card when he was pitching for Washington, was never an attraction when he managed the Washington Club from the bench.

The passing of Ruth, whenever it occurs, will be a blow to high salaries in the big league. Ruth's rich contract, despite the fact that it was based on his drawing power at the gate, gave ball players of other clubs powerful wedges in their annual salary arguments with club owners.

Ambassador's Swimmers Nip 4 Records

Rawls, Goldberg, Rait and Four-Boy Relay Team Break Marks.

FOUR pool records went by the boards in the Ambasador Swimming Club's intrateam competition meet in their home pool last night. Three of the records were broken by their previous holders and one was shattered by a relay team.

Bob Rawls swam the 50-yard free style for boys in 24 2-5 seconds, clipping 1-5 of a second from his own record. Morris Goldberg bettered his time of 34 1-5 seconds to click off the 50-yard breaststroke for boys in a flat 33 seconds. John Rait won the 50-yard backstroke swim for boys in 31 2-5 seconds to eclipse his own record of 33 1-5 seconds.

50-yard free style for boys—Won by Bob Rawls, 24 2-5 seconds.

50-yard breaststroke for boys—Won by Morris Goldberg, 33 seconds.

50-yard backstroke for boys—Won by John Rait, 31 2-5 seconds.

150-yard medley for girls—Helen Richardson, swimming against a relay team, in 2 minutes 42-5 seconds. The team, Marjorie Chapman (backstroke), Marian Mansfield (breaststroke), Ada Dineen (free style), in 1 minute 57 3-5 seconds.

200-yard free style relay, boys' team vs. men's team—Won by the boys' team of Robert Jordan, Johnny Rait, Curtis Porterfield and Bob Rawls in 1 minute 41 2-5 seconds.

220-yard breaststroke exhibition swim—Margaret Hoffman, in 3 minutes 23 4-5 seconds; 11 seconds over her own record time.

Fancy diving—Norman Smith, Emory Wilson and Marian Mansfield.

Indians Bunch Hits To Defeat Chisox

Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP).—Bunching seven of their 12 hits in the sixth and seventh innings, the Cleveland Indians took the opening game of the series from the White Sox, 4 to 1, today.

The Sox hit safely in every inning but the ninth for a total of eight singles and a double, but couldn't get to Mel Harder with men on base.

A quartet of singles by Averill, Hale, Kamm and Boss gave the Indians two runs in the sixth, while they picked up their other pair in the seventh, when Evar Swanson, in right field, lost Joe Vosmik's fly in the sun and it fell for a triple, scoring Porter and Cissell, who had singled.

Walt Mason, Himself

Richelieu.

THE greatness of some famous men has been admitted for an age; but modern searchers take the pen, and in analysis engage; the psycho-analysts camp down like buzzards on a lifeless sheep; and when they're done with his renown, they make the great look pretty cheap I've always thought that Richelieu was truly great in every sense; his record was a thing to view with wholesome awe and reverence; with iron hands he governed France, and made the monarch stand aside; he made the haughty nobles dance and flattened out their empty pride. That he would need a super-brain, the thoughtful citizens would swear; but Richelieu was half insane the psycho-analysts declare. Of course he often made a hit, but, quite as often, we are told, he threw an epileptic fit, his antics painful to behold. His acts, which no one can indorse, would indicate some brain disease; he often thought he was a horse, and jogged about on hands and knees. His head was aching from his birth, which indicated other things; and yet this man of little worth could govern realms and boss their kings. He had no principle at all, he was a miser and a leech; he was composed of bile and gall, and yet men think he was a peach. How thankful, truly we should be, for analysts who come our way, explaining everything we see, and showing us the feet of clay.

New Yorker Today

By Mark Barron.

New York.—If ever a place was appropriately named, it is Manhattan Island. The Indians called it Manna-Hatin, meaning island of the whirlpool. Far-seeing boys, those braves.

Hell Gate Bridge wasn't named for what you probably think, either. It was originally Hellegat, or Hori Gat, which also, for some reason I couldn't discover, means whirlpool.

Getting on with our history class, in case the pupils haven't already fled to the nearest biergarten, I'm told that the first of New York's city slickers were the Carnarsie Indians. They sold Manhattan to Peter Minuit for $24. Just a bunch of short-change artists, however, because they didn't own the island at all. The Dutch had to buy it all over again from another tribe.

Coney Island brought a much cheaper price — a pound of shot. Name means rabbit island, but you won't find any out there now.

If you happen to be one of those who feel sorry because the Indians were paid such low prices for their lands hereabout, you needn't weep overly much. Those Indians could teach the early settlers plenty about gold brick salesmanship. They sold them Staten Island six different times before the rightful owners ever turned over the title.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. W. A. Evans.

LAST week an article on the depression as a cause of insanity was written. It was claimed that the financial strain of the last 3½ years had not materially increased the prevalence of insanity. There had been an increase in the population in State institutions for the mentally deranged, it is true, but this is not a good criterion.

There is, year by year, an increase in this population, and there has been for more than half a century, and the increase within the recent period is not materially greater than could have been prophesied four years ago without having a prospective period of depression in mind. The increase is further falsified by the increase of the number of mentally disturbed transferred from private sanitaria and private homes because of financial considerations. When the situation is critically analyzed it is found that the financial worries of the depression have not greatly increased the insanity rate.

A parallel proposition is the small effect of the economic situation on the suicide rate. Suicides have tended to be more dramatic, but they have not increased as much as most people accept as being the case. From this deduction was drawn that the worries and anxieties of the more recent period have not been harder on the mind than were the thrills, excitement, covetousness, ambitions and strivings for the unattainable of the preceding period.

When this article was written it was shown to a friend, a business man, for his comment. He did not know as to the facts, but he disagreed with the conclusion drawn from them. All of us look at questions through our own experiences. While he has not "broken" and will not (for he has a philosophy of life that buoys him and a past from which he can draw for the satisfaction needed to buoy him across the present troubles), he knew that the crises of the recent period had caused him anxious nights and days. In spite of the opinion of this friend, the writer clings to his.

It is often possible to divide a group of men into those with difficult personalities and those who are otherwise. Let us consider some of the difficult personalities in relation to the effects of the depression.

We think at once of the circular personality. It is quite possible that financial strain increases the depression phase of this man's cycle. But, on the other hand, the experiences of the jazz years were hard on the exultation phase. And who can say which was worse? The man's mind moves in cycles. The higher the peaks, the lower the valleys. One way to make the valleys low is to build the peaks high.

Economists are agreed that for the permanent welfare of a nation booms are worse than panics. The legislation we need, but which can not be had except under a dictatorship, is that to prevent booms because they cause panics.

Cystitis.

M. A. G. writes: 1. Is cystitis curable?

2. What causes it?

3. Is there a special diet for overcoming this ailment?

4. Would infra lamp rays be beneficial?

Reply.

1. Yes. It does not follow that a certain case will get well.

2. Infection, as a rule. Bladder stone may be a cause or an effect. Venereal infection is the most frequent cause, although other infections are not rare.

3. Diet is of secondary importance in most cases. A milk-vegetarian-fruit diet is best. In colon infection a fat-protein-bread-and-cereal diet is advocated by many.

4. It may help somewhat. Is it possible to get at and treat the basic cause?

Two Wives, Aged 11, 15, Held in Man's Death

Pauls Valley, Okla., Aug. 31 (AP). Two girl wives, 11 and 15 years old, were held in jail here today for questioning in the death of J. T. Taylor, 50, husband of the older girl.

Taylor, a cotton picker, was found dying last Sunday on banks of the Washita River near Anadarko. An analysis is being made to determine if poison caused his death.

150 Killed in Fighting Of Indian Tribesmen

Simla, India, Aug. 31 (AP).—One hundred and fifty persons were killed today in heavy fighting between Tungans and Kirghiz tribes in Eastern Turkestan.

The Kirghiz captured the old city of Kashgar from the Tungans, and most of the inhabitants fled, taking refuge in the new city of Kashgar, five miles southwest. Reports indicated that there was a looting and massacre in the old city.

Peasant Work Ordered.

Archangel, Soviet Russia, Aug. 31 (AP).—A mass mobilization of peasants for work in Northern forests has been ordered for the second time this year by the Communist party because of the "catastrophic condition" of the timber transport.

Rail Increase Alarms British Bus Operators

London, Aug. 31 (AP).—Motor bus operators, disturbed by recent decreases in traffic, are applying for permission to introduce their low winter fare schedules earlier than usual.

Meanwhile railroad stocks are rising, the explanation being that more people are traveling by rail than formerly.

Supreme Court Asked to Block Crawford Case

Ruling Sought to Prevent Return to Virginia in Ilsley Murder.

A second attempt to prevent the return of George Crawford, colored, to Loudoun County, Va., where he was indicted for murder of Mrs. Agnes Illsley and her maid, Mina Buckner, was made yesterday by his attorneys in a petition filed with the United States Supreme Court.

The petition asked the court to set aside an order of the First Circuit Court of Appeals requiring Crawford to be held at Boston for extradition and trial.

Crawford's counsel, J. Weston Allen and Butler R. Wilson, asked the court to determine if Virginia's practice of excluding Negroes from grand juries warranted refusal to extradite him. United States District Judge James A. Lowell, of Boston, so ruled when Crawford's attorneys first attempted to prevent his return for trial.

Judge Lowell's decision resulted in a congressional investigation being ordered on motion of Representative Howard Smith (Democrat), Virginia.

RichmondArea Shows General Trade Upswing

NRA Program Credited as Important Factor by Reserve Bank.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 31 (AP). Basic business conditions in the Fifth Federal Reserve District, the Richmond Reserve Bank reported today, apparently are better than in the past several years.

Credit, business and agriculture were all seen to have benefited from a sharp upswing in business conditions, with employment gains and wage boosts noted.

The NRA program was credited as a strong contributing factor in the upswing.

The district covered in the survey includes Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, the District of Columbia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

More Sales to Farmers.

"Crops this year were made cheaply," the bank's survey revealed, "and on the whole agriculture appears to be better situated than for several years, a condition which is already showing itself concretely by increased sales of many manufactured products to farmers."

The report on business failures showed insolvencies during July were 41 per cent less and aggregate liabilities 72 per cent less than for July last year.

Although textile activity in July was less than for the two previous months, the report said it was above the level of any other recent months and "more than double that of July last year."

Retail trade in most sections swung upward while the wholesale trade was in much larger volume. Dry goods sales tripled, shoe sales doubled and hardware sales increased 80 per cent.

Coal production in July was shown to be seasonally high. West Virginia mines were second in production nationally, the report said.

Of banking generally, the report said:

"The Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond's rediscounts for member banks declined slightly last month, contrary to seasonal trend, at a time when early marketing of agricultural products normally requires country banks to borrow.

Member Loans Fall.

"Federal Reserve note circulation rose less than usually just prior to the opening of South Carolina tobacco markets, but it is probable that the return of funds from hoarding supplied the banks in tobacco sections with part of the additional currency they required.

"Member banks reported a small decrease in their loans, with an accompanying shrinkage in demand deposits, but time deposits rose, and recent advances in stock and bond prices materially strengthened many banks by reducing book losses in their investment accounts. Debits to individual accounts figures in the banks of leading cities showed a smaller decline than occurs in most years in the four weeks ended August 9 in comparison with the preceding four weeks, and figures for the 1933 four weeks were larger than figures for the corresponding four weeks last year in 16 of 23 reporting cities."

Eviction Faces 5,000 In Swedish Rent Row

Stockholm, Aug. 31 (AP).—As a result of a dispute between tenants and landlords over rents, 5,000 persons in 1,500 families may be homeless in Gothenburg October 1.

City officials are attempting mediation to prevent the tenants, mostly working men and their families, from becoming a burden to the city, but are helpless under existing laws to stop mass evictions.

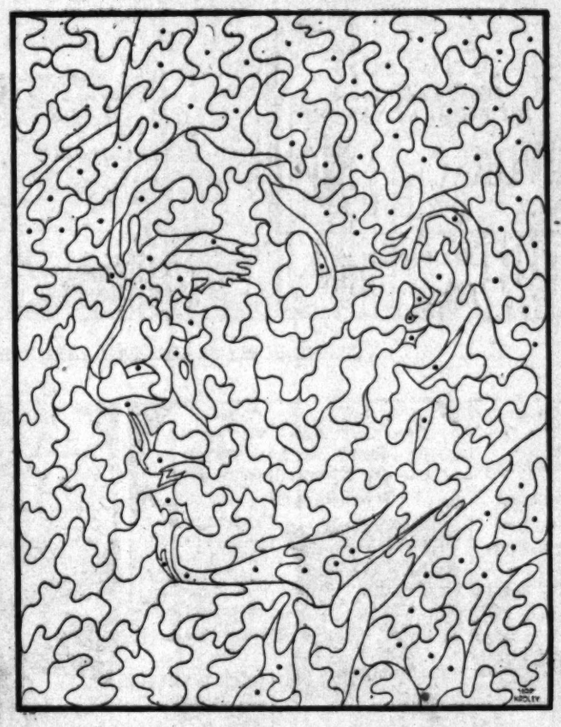
The Last Jigaloo



Has appeared as leading man in practically all of the Constance Bennett pictures.

RKO GREATER SHOW SEASON STAR NO. 10

This is .....

Your Name .....

Address .....

$30.00 in Cash Prizes and Tickets to RKO Keith's Theater

Better than a Jig-Saw puzzle! You don't have to cut these tiny pieces apart. Just take your pencil or crayon and fill in the little sections in which you see the dots. When you have filled in all the portions containing the dots, you will have a picture of an RKO GREATER SHOW SEASON STAR, who will appear at the RKO Keith's Theater in Washington during their GREATER SHOW SEASON.

Identify the Star and Write His or Her Name in the Space Above.

Save all the Jigaloos until you have a complete set of ten, which appear every day for ten days except Sunday from August 22.

Then, CLIP what you believe to be THE BEST CLASSIFIED AD from any issue of THE WASHINGTON POST while this series of Jigaloos appear. Inclose the ad you select with your Jigaloos, giving the date when it appeared, with a statement of not more than 50 words telling why you think it is the BEST CLASSIFIED AD in that issue of THE WASHINGTON POST.

The Jigaloo Editor's decision will be final in selecting the winners. Employes of The Washington Post, of RKO Keith's, or members of their families are not eligible to enter this contest.

1st Prize—8 Tickets and $25 Cash.
2nd Prize—6 Tickets and $15 Cash.
3rd Prize—4 Tickets and $10 Cash.
Next 12 Winners—4 Guest Tickets.
Next 10 Winners—2 Guest Tickets.

This Completes the Series of Jigaloos and is the last One to Appear.

Winners will be announced Thursday, September 7, following the close of the contest. Checks and tickets will be mailed on the same date.

Dry Agent Held After Row With Traffic Police

Patrolman's Arm Hurt, Pinned, It Is Charged, in Car Window.

An encounter between a Federal prohibition agent and a downtown crossing policeman drew hundreds of shoppers along F street yesterday to see the agent arrested and the policeman sent to Emergency Hospital with an injured arm.

Karl O. Spiess, the agent and former Washington policeman, is alleged to have twice violated traffic regulations within a few minutes. The second incident involved Policeman Edward G. Comingore, stationed at Twelfth and F streets.

Late traffic congestion made left-hand turns difficult. Comingore ordered Spiess to stop when he attempted to make one. An argument ensued and the agent is alleged to have told the policeman he "refused to be arrested."

Policeman's Arm Pinned.

Whereupon, Comingore said, he tried to enter Spiess' car and drive to the station. Spiess resented the policeman's action and slammed the door. Comingore said he then leaned against the driver's window. Hardly had he done so when Spiess quickly raised it, pinning the policeman's arm at the top.

Comingore, apparently in pain, shouted for him to lower the window. Spiess refused. The policeman whipped out his blackjack, smashed the glass and freed his arm. He pulled Spiess from the machine and sent him to the First Precinct Station in a patrol wagon.

A taxi took Comingore to Emergency Hospital, where he was treated for severe abrasions, lacerations and bruises to his arm.

Spiess Accuses Comingore.

Spiess, who said he resigned from the Metropolitan Police Department two years ago to be a prohibition agent, was charged with assault, disobeying an officer's signal and disobeying an official sign.

A few minutes before the incident with Comingore he was given a traffic ticket by Patrolman F. V. Kirchman at Eleventh and F streets.

Spiess declared Comingore struck him and refused to say why he was being arrested. He pinned the policeman's arm in the window to prevent being struck again, Spiess said.

Festival Honors Y.M.C.A. Campers

Bruce Etchison Given Cup for Best Activities; Others Feted.

Bruce Etchison, 14-year-old senior at Paul Junior High School, won the title of "best all-season camper" yesterday, as final festivities marked the closing of Camp Letts, Y. M. C. A. summer resort on the Rhodes River.

Bruce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Page McK. Etchison, 213 Sheridan street northwest. He was awarded a silver cup donated by the Washington Lions Club. Three successive winnings will make him the permanent owner.

The cup is awarded under the camp's four-fold program of "skilled strength, nature lore, practically applied Christianity and service to others." Bruce captured a number of camp swimming honors and broke the camp record in cross-country running.

Other trophies were awarded to Dowd Rozzelle, jr., 15, of Alta Vista, Md.; Emory Prince, 14, of 3720 T street northwest, and Jack Dean, 14, of 3391 Stephenson place northwest.

Night Boat Pageant Planned on Sept. 29

Event Would Be Feature of President's Cup Regatta Program.

Gaily decorated boats will parade in a night pageant if plans of the President's Cup Regatta committee materialize.

The pageant and marine parade has been set for September 29, second regatta day. Owners of yachts, motorboats, canoes and other craft are invited.

Tentative plans are to route the parade down the Georgetown Channel side of Potomac Park to Hains Point, up the Washington Channel and back along the Army War College grounds shoreline. A queen will head the procession.

Treasury Sees Hamilton Bank Opening Soon

E. L. Norris Is Appointed as Eighth and Last Branch Manager.

Opening of Hamilton National Bank within two weeks was forecast yesterday at the Treasury Department. Bank officials were unable to announce the exact date of opening. Litigation might result in further delay, it was said.

The Treasury Department is expected to present to the District Supreme Court within two days contracts between conservators of eight restricted banks forming the Hamilton and the bank itself.

Warren Forster, R. F. C. official attached to Hamilton Bank since its inception, departed last night for Richmond to arrange a $5,455,000 refunding loan of the corporation to conservators of component banks so they can settle these banks' obligations and release assets.

Edwin C. Graham, president of Hamilton, announced E. L. Norris as its eighth and last branch manager. Norris was vice president and cashier and more recently conservator of Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank, one of eight merging banks. He will manage the bank at 2027 Rhode Island avenue northeast.

Norris has been with Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial Bank 11 years, going to it as vice president and cashier from the former Continental Trust Co., where he was treasurer 9 years. He began his career as bank runner at Kensington, Md. He is 38 years old and a member of Manor Country Club. Woodridge-Langdon Savings & Commercial was established in 1921. It joined the Hamilton plan May 19.

Ducks Bullets

Ike Avers the Wife, Clara, Was Fast, But He Had Speed, Too.

Washington has a champion bullet dodger, Isaac Williams, of the 100 block of Four-and-a-half street southwest.

Isaac earned his title when "ducking" bullets from his estranged wife, Clara. According to Ike's story in Police Court yesterday, his wife "emptied that gun as fast as she could pull the trigger" —and he kept "ducking plenty fast."

Judge Ralph Given held the wife for grand jury action under $1,000 bond.

Hi-Jack Charge Holds Suspect

Man Accused of Taking Liquor Seized by Dry Agents in Raid.

United States Commissioner N. C. Turnage yesterday ordered James W. Gilbert held under $3,000 bond in removal proceedings designed to return him to Baltimore on a charge of hi-jacking Federal prohibition agents.

He is charged in an indictment with being a member of the group that stopped Federal agents and took from them 153 cases of liquor seized near Solomons Island. He was ordered to appear in Baltimore Federal Court, September 5, to answer the indictment.

Pi Phi Delegates Will Depart Today

Five members of the Washington Chapter of the Pi Phi Fraternity have been selected as delegates to the fifty-fifth annual convention of the fraternity at Syracuse, N. Y.

Ashton H. Scharr, president of the local chapter, will leave today with a committee composed of Richard Schaffer, Harold Dotterer, Thomas Burnett and George Scharr, who will attend the four-day convention at Syracuse. The Washington chapter was founded in 1907.

Limited Wreck On Anacostia Is Laid to Flood

Coroner Jury Gets Evidence Kenilworth Bridge Was Undermined.

The swollen Anacostia River was blamed yesterday for the wreck of the Crescent Limited near Kenilworth, which took the lives of two trainmen and injured 13 passengers.

This was the verdict of a coroner's jury after 15 witnesses had testified.

A. R. Wilson, engineer of bridges for the Eastern region of the Pennsylvania Railroad, testified that the swift current had undermined the piers, causing collapse of the trestle in the early morning of August 24.

When the bridge was inspected the night before "everything looked in good shape," John S. Reile, a track foreman, of Landover, Md., testified.

T. L. Grady, passenger trainmaster at Baltimore, said the train had received "slow or restricted" orders when it left that city.

Members of the crew testified the train was traveling at greatly reduced speed when it started across the bridge, due, in part, to low water in the tender. They testified that they believed the engine was "coasting" to conserve water when it reached the bridge.

Edward R. White, District bridge engineer, testified he had no authority to inspect a private structure until after an accident.

Officials of the railroad said their monthly inspection of the condition of the bridge covered only that part above water.

Wilson said the bridge was constructed in 1904 with a concrete base resting on a 5-foot layer of gravel. He said dredging operations in 1932 above and below the bridge has increased the velocity of the current.

Shortage of Workers In Asbestos Reported

While there is unemployment among other crafts, there is a shortage of asbestos workers, Lewis F. Strieter, president of the Southern Asbestos Co., told members of the Cosmopolitan Club yesterday, discussing effects of NRA.

Strieter said the asbestos industry is ready to reduce working hours as fast as competent workers can be obtained. Edmond O. Carl said adoption of the NRA code had enabled his auto repair company to employ 14 more men.

Emory Galliher and William L. King have been appointed to canvass the membership of the Cosmopolitan Club to obtain NRA pledges.

Driver Faces 8 Counts For Violating Traffic

Jerry Miles, colored, 1418 Eleventh street northwest, knows what it means to have police "throw the book."

Miles was arrested at Seventh and Q streets northwest for traffic violations. He was charged with having no District driver's permit on two counts, two counts of speeding, two of failing to stop when emerging from an alley, failing to exhibit registration card and leaving an automobile unattended.

Uniform Taxi Rate Proposal Approved

P. U. C. Scores Conditions and Urges Support for Trade Board.

Efforts of the Taxicab Board of Trade to establish uniform taxi rates was approved yesterday by the Public Utilities Commission.

Present conditions are deplorable and intolerable, the commission said, and encouragement should be given steps taken to improve the situation.

The commission stated: "It is believed that a carefully planned zone system would correct some of the evils of the present situation and as a temporary expedient, pending granting of authority by Congress for the use of meters and the charging of meter rates, would be desirable."

Pharmaceutical Group To Meet in Washington

The annual convention of the American Pharmaceutical Association will be held in Washington next year, it was learned yesterday by the Greater National Capital Committee.

More than 500 delegates are expected. Dr. S. L. Hilton and Dr. W. B. Briggs, dean of the college of pharmacy of George Washington University, attended the meeting in Madison, Wis.

Parked Auto Seized; Alleged Liquor Found

Dry squad members yesterday seized an automobile parked at Fifth and Quincy streets northwest.

They found 38 5-gallon cans of alleged whisky. Police are checking on the ownership.

Historic Tools Disappear

Implement With Which Capital Carpenter Won Italian King's Favor Stolen; How 3,000 Men Became Bald in One Day.

If King Victor Emmanuel of Italy ever hears about this it will be just too bad.

Away back in 1909, King Emmanuel decorated Howard L. Freet, a Washington carpenter, who had gone over to Italy after the Mount Etna eruption to help the nation rebuild.

The tools that Mr. Freet used at that time became very precious to him, a sentimental value attached to them. So he took mighty good care of his hammer, his saw, the spirit level and all the rest. In the parlor of his home, 2434 Wisconsin avenue northwest Mr. Freet has the engraved orders given him by the King of Italy, and a medal besides, for constructing 3,200 portable houses at Messina and Reggio.

Where They Vanished.

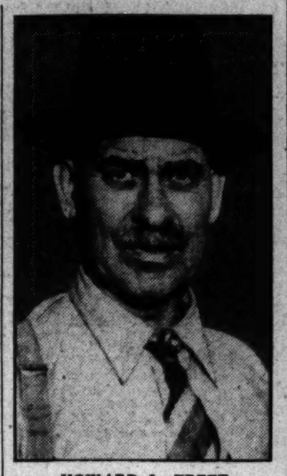
Now, somebody has stolen these valuable tools. It happened like this: Mr. Freet met a man over at Carpenters' Hall. The man told him to bring his tools to a certain place and prepare to go to work the next morning. Mr. Free put the tools at the designated spot. When he went for the job next morning the tools were gone.

These are the same tools that won the eternal gratitude of the King of Italy—and Mr. Freet wants them back.

Nor was Italy the only place these tools saw service. As to that venture, they are mentioned in a book written by Commander Reginald Rowan Belknap, U. S. N., a former attache at Rome. But these tools saw service, too, in Panama—at the building of the canal.

Presto, They Are Bald!

In connection with that job, Mr. Freet relates an amusing incident. He helped to install the first shower bath system for the American workmen in Panama. Everybody wanted to get under the showers as soon as they finished. One of the first to enjoy a shower bath was the late Gen. Goethals, builder of the canal. The water in the shower baths came from jungle-land and contained some foreign element. Consequently, every man who got under the showers came out bald-headed.



HOWARD L. FREET.

Rubbing his own bald spot, Mr. Freet smiles when he recalls the experience:

"It was a funny sight," he said, "to see all those men rubbing the hair off their heads—about 3,000 of 'em made bald-headed in a day."

Soon as Mr. Freet gets his tools back he has hopes of a job. This is the first time he has been out of work since he learned his trade, in Pennsylvania, along in the nineties.

Sewer Work Begins at Once

$1,759,500 Fund Viewed as Outright Grant for Improvement.

District Commissioners yesterday received official notification from the Public Works Administration of the allotment of $1,759,500 for sewer improvement. They said work would start at once.

The allotment was first announced August 22 by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, in a press release saying:

"Congress will determine the division of this fund as to the revenues of the District and the Federal Government."

However, in the letter to the Commissioners yesterday there was no reference to such a statement.

Commissioner Reichelderfer said the board had taken the letter at "face value" and would get the work under way.

This means the fund will be considered as an outright grant and no provision made to pay any of it back to the Federal Treasury.

Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, said that within four months contracts for all projects affected would be let.

This grant may pave the way for the end of Potomac pollution. It provides $40,000 for the design of a sewage disposal plant.

Other projects covered in the grant are Northeast boundary sewer, $853,000; Piney Branch relief sewer, $400,000; outfall sewer extension, $220,500; upper Potomac interceptor, $15,000, and Anacostia interceptor and pumping station, $231,000.

Revolver and Cartridges Loot.

A revolver and several boxes of cartridges were stolen yesterday from Abraham Markowitz's store at 914 Four-and-a-half street southwest, it was reported to police.

Judge Gives Youth Start Toward Home He Begged to See.

The tale of a youth who was begging alms in the downtown section yesterday to reach his home in Atlanta, won the sympathy of Police Court Judge Isaac R. Hitt.

The boy, Harry Minor, stood before the judge.

"How long will it take you to get out of town?" the judge asked.

"About 30 minutes."

"Here take this," said Hitt, handing him a car token.

"It'll help you as far as the District line. I'll take your personal bond."

Navy Five-Day Dispute Taken To President

Roosevelt Asked to Settle Row as Factionists Fail to Agree.

The five-day week dispute between navy yard workers and the Navy Department is before President Roosevelt for decision, it was learned last night.

The White House will mediate because of the apparent impossibility of accord, following conferences by Secretary of the Navy Swanson, Col. Louis Howe, White House secretary, and John P. Frey, representative of the Metal Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor.

Frey predicted speedy settlement.

At the Navy Department the opinion prevailed that it will be impossible to give the navy yard employes the 5½-day week and 6-day pay they ask.

Two Inquiries On Bread Price Rise Under Way

U. S. Consumer's Counsel and Lynch to Act Together in Probe.

Momentum was added to the corporation counsel's investigation of the bread price increase here yesterday when Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, planned a separate investigation.

Robert E. Lynch, assistant corporation counsel, assigned the task for Senator King, chairman of the Senate District Committee, said that his investigation would "dovetail and cooperate" with that of Dr. Howe.

Dr. Howe's decision to try to determine whether the recent rise of 1 cent per pound loaf was justified came after he had received a telegram from Henry Stude, president of the American Bakers Association.

Higher Wages Blamed.

The message was in answer to Dr. Howe's question why Washington, since 1931, had paid more for bread than the average price paid in 51 cities. Mr. Stude's answer read:

"Washington bread prices have been higher than the average throughout the country for several years due to higher wage contracts which reflect higher costs both in production and distribution.

"A rise in prices at this time of 1 cent is more than fair because of processing tax and higher commodity prices which justify at least 1½ cents increase per pound."

Production Costs Studied.

Mr. Lynch spent the day in assembling cost figures to determine how important the price of flour and other materials is to production costs.

When the wheat processing tax was put into effect the Agricultural Adjustment Administration was assured by the American Bakers Association that prices would be increased only to cover production costs rises.

The Department of Justice is investigating increases in 31 cities for Dr. Howe, and probably will take over his probe here.
